She carried a bouquet of baby orchids placed on a white Bible.

Campus Clippings

WILLAMETTE UNIVERSITY
By GERI BOWLES

Willamette students have a busy week-end schedule to look forward to, beginning this evening at 6:30 o'clock with a pregame rally in preparation for the Bearcats' first home football game with Chico State, Saturday afternoon.

Yell king, Bud Corner, and his new rally squad consisting of Bo Brooks, Pat Click, Jack Kieckel and Bob Hinkel, have planned a big parade and serpentine to get the celebration underway, beginning at Lausanne hall and winding its way up and down streets, encompassing the sorority houses and Baxter hall, until it finally comes to an end at Bush Pasture where the freshmen members of the Campus YMCA will have prepared a gigantic bonfire. In addition to the traditional yells and cheers, the program will include comments by President G. Herbert Smith and Coach Chester R. Stackhouse.

red and yellow ribbons and black and gold pins were awarded Prudence Craig, Clarabelle Easton, Barbara Kemmerick, Doris McCain, Jo Oliver and Rose Marie Wilhoit. Afterwards, all the Beta Alpha Gammias got together over tall sodas for a "soda sip" and talkfest.

Chi Os and Phi Deltas inaugurated the round of social firesides and exchange dinners Wednesday with their theme "Roarin' Twenties." The girls transformed the men's house into scenes of jazz bands, autos and men with handlebar mustaches, while the Phi entertained with their version of a barbershop quartet, Bill Bisset's takeoff on "Dance of the Hours" and George Buland's interpretation of "Lucky Ol' Sun."

In anticipation of victory, the ASWU has scheduled an all-school hayride and barn dance, complete with apple cider and doughnuts, for Saturday night. With a little help from the weatherman, the chairman, Sherm Bliss, hopes that this first student-body date affair will be a huge success. Among other clever entertainment numbers, a "trained" horse (alias two Willamette men) is booked for a feature appearance amid a setting of hay, cornstalks and pumpkins.

This past week also has been one of organization. The freshmen got together and selected Ralph Bolliger temporary class president; however, this action spelled doom for poor Ralph who immediately received the traditional dunking in the mill-stream. Other classes have been active, too, with all nominations for class officers for the coming year completed Wednesday afternoon.

Election date has been set for October 11th—ah, politics is in the air!

Engagement Told
Mr. and Mrs. Howard Smith are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Miss Lula Mae Smith, to Vernon Haugen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hjalmer Haugen, all of Salem.

No date is set for the wedding.

SALEM BETHEL, No. 35, will assist the grand council in instituting the newly organized Salem bethel this coming Saturday evening, October 1, at 7:30 o'clock in the Masonic temple. The bethel will initiate members for the new bethel.

STAYTON—In celebration of their golden wedding, Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Kirkland of Mehama will be guests of honor at an open house at the Mehama Women's club house next Sunday, October 2, between 2 and 5 o'clock. All friends of the couple are invited to attend. Mrs. J. L. Hudgens of Stayton is a daughter of the couple.

McCammon of 737 West Main street are announcing the marriage of their daughter, Miss Hazel McCammon, who exchanged marriage vows in a home ceremony September 23, with Raymond Gotchell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Gotchell of Salem. Rev. Gordon T. Bratvold read the lines before an improvised altar banked with late summer flowers. Attendants were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bert.

A reception was held at the home for the friends and members of the families attending the ceremony.

The bridegroom is a student at Willamette university. Mrs. Gotchell is employed here. The couple will make their home in Silverton.

Going East
Mrs. Neil Brown and daughter, Sharon, are leaving Saturday for Washington, D.C., to spend a month. They will visit at the home of Mrs. Brown's brother, Alfred Andrews. They will go the northern route and will return west through New Orleans and California, planning to visit relatives in Palo Alto.
