Justice Douglas 'Much Improved'

Yakima, Wash., Oct. 4 (AP)—Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas was reported "much improved," today from injuries suffered when his horse threw him down a hillside. Special nurses assigned to the 50-year-old jurist said he was "resting much better" although still in pain. Douglas' wife arrived here last night after flying from Washington, D. C., to take up a bedside vigil by her husband. His daughter, Mildred, left to return to school at Walla Walla, Wash. She had been with her father since late Sunday night. Douglas received 13 broken ribs and a deflated right lung in the mishap Sunday.

Horse Meat Basis Of Cafe Man's Suit

Portland, Ore., Oct. 4 (AP)—Robert Conlee, Portland restaurant operator, today had sued a butcher for $15,000 on grounds he was sold horse meat represented as hamburger. Conlee named Henry Knosalla, meat market operator, as defendant. Conlee asked $15,000 punitive damages, including $30 to compensate him for time lost when he was under arrest for serving "horseburgers."

Prune Growers to Be Aided By Government Subsidies

Washington, Oct. 4 (AP)—The agriculture department today announced a 3-point program of government subsidies to help California, Oregon and Washington growers dispose of surplus dried prunes.

The department said it would subsidize prune exports to Marshall plan countries and would subsidize manufacture of large quantities of prune juice and other diversionary uses of the surplus prunes.

It also said it will purchase 3800 tons of surplus dried prunes during the next three months for school lunch and institutional feeding programs.

The surplus disposal aids on dried prunes will supplement a federal marketing program which began operating recently. The marketing program is designed to support producer prices by holding surpluses off normal commercial markets.

The export subsidies will range from 25 to 40 per cent of the gross sale price, depending on prune size and packaging. The payments will be made on shipments to all countries eligible for foreign aid assistance except Greece and Turkey.

The subsidy payment on prunes diverted into uses other than normal markets will be 4.25 cents per pound. The subsidies on manufacture of prune juice will apply to as much as 20,000 tons of surplus California dried prunes and will be made at a lower rate. The rates will range from one to three cents a pound on unprocessed prunes and 1.5 to 3.5 cents on processed prunes, depending on prune size.

The department said the industry committee handling the prune marketing regulations will receive three cents per pound from the government as an "advance" on the total 4.25 cent diversionary subsidy. The committee will distribute this amount to producers delivering dried prunes to the industry's "surplus foods."

West Salem Sewer Line Considered

Feasibility of extending the present West Salem sewer line from Seventh to Ninth streets and then possibly west to Patterson avenue for future use when the proposed new junior high school is authorized, is being considered by the city council. The extension would be around 800 feet.

If the plan is approved, a special committee will call for bids with membership designated W. C. Keise, chairman, A. N. Copenhagen and C. A. Rust.

The city council Monday night approved a change of ownership of the West Salem Sanitary service, under 20-year contract to Walter H. Arndt, who has sold his interest to Martin E. Willets, his partner; ordered a stop sign at Third and Patterson and approved fencing around the Saffron junkyard at Patterson and the railroad track.

Apple Growers Urge Government Buying

U.S.D.A. Marketing Official said the government hadn't decided the size of its buying program. He said $2 a box would be the maximum price.
