Indians Hold Spot as Top PCC Offense Team

Los Angeles, Oct. 5 (AP)—Despite a 27-7 loss to the mighty men of Michigan, Stanford maintained its position as the leading offensive team in the Pacific Coast conference, according to statistics released by the PCC commissioner's office.

And the leading defensive team after the third week of competition is California, which leads in every defensive department.

The Indians have averaged 393 yards per game in three starts from rushing and passing. In rushing they have gained 159.3 yards per game. They share the lead in passes completed with Montana, who has 29 completions in 70 tries. Stanford has 29 for 67.

Ranked on the basis of passing percentages, Southern California has the best record in its two games this season. The Trojans have hit 22 for 37 and an average of .594.

California indicates by its defensive record that it will not be an easy opponent this season. In combined rushing and passing the defending PCC champions have allowed three opponents an average of 173 yards per game.

Oregon rated fourth on total defense.

Aiken Moves to Strengthen Line

Eugene, Oct. 5 (AP)—Big Sam Nevins, 235 pounds, will be used at tackle on defensive and offensive squads in Oregon's move to strengthen the line for this week's game with Washington State. He has been used on offense only.

Coach Jim Aiken said another shift was Chuck Missfeldt, back, to defensive end.

FIVE HUSKIES STILL ON INJURY LISTS

Seattle, Oct. 5 (AP)—Five University of Washington gridgers were still on the injury list today following Saturday's Notre Dame game, and at least one of the players will not see action this Saturday against Oregon State.

Marion B League Leaders to Play At Aumsville

This week's competition in the Marion County B league will find the two leaders—St. Paul and Aumsville—playing on the Aumsville field at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon. Jefferson will be at Mill City, Sublimity at Chemawa and Gervais at Turner.

At the close of the second week of competition St. Paul and Aumsville had each won two games, thereby remaining undefeated.

Mill City had not lost an encounter but had to settle for a tie while playing the strong Sublimity squad last Friday.

The smallest team in the league, with but 14 boys on the squad, St. Paul had again become a definite threat to the larger schools and will no doubt give the balance of their opponents tough competition. The Bucks had just 14 boys in suit last season when they won the league championship as well as the district title.

OCE Coach Works Frash to Rest Varsity Gridmen

OREGON COLLEGE OF EDUCATION, Monmouth — Bill McArthur's freshmen footballers have been getting most of the attention in practice drills thus far in the week.

Expecting somewhat of a breather in the George Fox college encounter, the OCE mentor is giving his varsity crew a rest from heavy workouts until next week when the Wolves begin girthing for the Vanport Extension center Vikings.

McArthur indicates he may open with an all freshmen lineup when the Wolves and Quakers tangle at Fairgrounds stadium in Monmouth Saturday night.

The Quakers, perennial weak-sisters, are reported to have one of their strongest teams in years—evidence of which is their 38-2 trouncing of Reed college on October 1. Veteran McArthur plans on taking his entire squad to Newberg, and the nature of the game will determine the amount of action his varsity members will see.

Mulligan Says He'll Come to Salem to Talk

Bill Mulligan, business manager of the Portland Beavers, will make a visit to Salem some day this week when he will confer with Harry V. Collins, chairman of the committee negotiating for the purchase of the Salem Senators.

Collins was long distance telephone late Tuesday and the latter agreed to inform Collins concerning the date he would be in Salem.

Writers Find Irish Just Average on Illegal Play

Chicago, Oct. 5 (AP)—A dozen Chicago sports writers agreed today, from what they could see in the motion pictures of last Saturday's Washington-Notre Dame game, that the Irish were no more guilty of illegal play than most teams on an average week-end.

Athletic Director Ed "Moose" Krause of Notre Dame yesterday showed pictures of the game to Chicago football writers to explain the Irish viewpoint.

The chief complaint of Coach Frank Leahy were that the officials of the game were shown movies of the 1948 Irish-Washington contest previous to Saturday's game, and that the officials called too closely Notre Dame's line blocking.

New York, Oct. 5 (AP)—The 14,000 bleacher seats to the opening World Series game were earned today by bleary-eyed men, women and children who stood in a chilly all-night vigil outside Yankee stadium.

First man ready to plunk down his $1 admission price to the bleacher seats was Joseph Gablonitz, a 26-year-old Dodger fan from Newark, N. J. He set up camp at the ticket window at 6 p. m. Monday but was chased away by policemen who ushered him to the head of the line at 1 p. m. yesterday when police restrictions were removed and the rush was on.

Behind him fellow Dodger and Yankee rooters stretched for bleachers in a three-abreast queue that grew throughout the misty foggy night and numbered more than 3,000 by dawn.

"I took my vacation so I could be first in line," said Gablonitz, a textile worker. "I like to be first at these things and I'm going to head up the line at Ebbets Field, too."

Beverly Braffman, 19, a Yankee fan, was next in line.

She curled up on the sidewalk and slept all night.

The all-night crowd was congenial and orderly. About equally divided in Yankee-Dodger partisanship most spent the night in never-ending arguments about their favorite teams. The ones who came with blankets and pillows tried to make themselves comfortable and sleep through the worst of it. Others risked aches by stretching out on the pavement or dozed backed up against the stadium wall.

Coffee vendors cashed in. They were busy all night passing out 10-cent cups of weak brew laded from hot dogs and prepared sandwiches.

About a third of those in line were women, who accompanied their husbands or arrived in small groups for the back-breaking stand.

Twelve-year-old Dickie Kearny, New Haven, Conn., joined the line about 3 a. m. and told a nearby policeman who eyed him suspiciously that "I'm not playing hooky."

He and his father John came to New York early yesterday seeking reserved seats but couldn't find any.

No Sir! Those Huskies Might Snag Their Nylons

Orange, Tex., Oct. 5 (AP)—The University of Washington football team has been invited to play a post-season bowl game against Texas Christian—but no one expects the invitation to be accepted.

The bid was extended by the Orange Screwball Club yesterday. They want the Huskies and the TCU Frogs to play in the Luce bowl.

A club spokesman said the game was suggested inasmuch as "TUCS is claiming that Arkansas played too rough last week and the University of Washington is howling over the fact that Notre Dame was overly rugged."

"Suitable lace-trimmed uniforms will be provided if we can arrange the game and tea will be served at each time out. . . attendance will be limited to ladies."

Italian Boxer Critical After Brain Operation

Buffalo, N. Y., Oct. 5 (AP)—Heavyweight boxer Enrico Bertola, who collapsed in his dressing room after dropping a 10-round decision to Lee Oma, was reported in critical condition today.

Emil Nanny, manager of the 25-year-old Chicago fighter, said Bertola underwent an operation early today for removal of a blood clot from his brain. Nanny quoted the doctor as saying that the boxer, a former resident of Italy, had "a very good chance" of recovering despite his critical condition.

Nanny said Bertola had been in his dressing room about 15 minutes last night when he complained of feeling sick to his stomach.

Oma, weighing 196½, seemed on the verge of scoring a knockout in the final round, but had to settle for a unanimous decision before 7861 fans at Memorial auditorium. Bertola weighed 194.

Oma pummeled his opponent with both hands from the start, but never succeeded in knocking him down.

San Diego, Cal., Oct. 5 (AP)—The San Diego Padres had little trouble last night in defeating the Hollywood Stars, 6 to 1, in the first game of the 1949 Pacific Coast league Governor's Cup playoff.

San Diego Pitcher Lyman Linde yielded only four hits as his teammates collected 11 from three Star hurlers. Gordon Maltzberger, who was relieved in the second, was credited with the loss.

In the second inning, Maltzberger was touched for three runs off five hits.

In the fifth, big Max West doubled and scored on Harvey Steubert's single and a Hollywood error.

The Padres added their final runs in the seventh when West homered, bringing in Buster Adams, who had walked.

Herb Goman hit for the circuit in the second inning with no one on base for the Stars' lone tally.

In tonight's game, Hollywood will use George Woods (24-12) on the mound. Jess Flores (22-10) will pitch for San Diego. (Pitching totals include preliminary playoff games).
