Detroit Voters Up to Board

When residents of the area in which an election is to be held Thursday to vote on the question of incorporating it as the city of Detroit cast their ballots on the question it will be up to the election board there to determine who are qualified voters and who are not.

County Clerk Harlan Judd states that when the poll books for the election were made up they included the names of all the registered voters in all of the Breitenbush precinct.

While the proposed new city limits of Detroit all lie in the Breitenbush precinct, they do not cover the entire boundaries of that precinct. However, the county clerk had no way of knowing just which voters in the Breitenbush precinct live in the limits of the proposed city and which live outside of it. As a result in making up the poll books all his force could do was to list all of the voters in the precinct and let the election board determine who is qualified by residence to vote on the question of incorporation. Any member of the election board or any bystander can challenge a voter at the polls as to his right to vote and the board then can pass on the qualifications.

Duncan Upholds Phone Case

Circuit Judge George R. Duncan has handed down his decree in the case of Pacific Telephone & Telegraph company vs. George H. Flagg upholding order of the defendant utilities commissioner as to services performed by the American Telephone and Telegraph company for the plaintiff.

The decree upholds such orders with one modification, however, that any services performed by the American Telephone & Telegraph company for the plaintiff shall be only upon orders or requisitions placed by the plaintiff with the American company.

The case involved provisions in a contract between the two phone organizations under which the American company was paid a definite fee for services and the commission ruled that such services should be paid for only on the basis of service rendered and not on a flat contractual basis.

Miss Fidler, Mr. Hosey Engaged

Announced in Eugene last evening was the engagement of Miss Jean Fidler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Fidler of Salem, to James Hosey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Hosey of Oak Grove, Ore.

The wedding is planned for the Christmas season, December 27.

The announcement last evening was made at the sorority of the bride-elect, Delta Delta Delta, on the University of Oregon campus. At dessert during the dinner hour the sorority girls found miniature red triangles with the names of the couple and date for the wedding, the triangle being a symbol of the draftsmen, both Miss Fidler and Mr. Hosey being students in architecture.

Miss Fidler was graduated from the University of Oregon in June and is now employed in Eugene. Mr. Hosey, who served in the marines during the war, is now a student in the school of architecture and allied arts at the university.

Guided Missiles

Sides concluded: "With AA (anti-aircraft) guided missiles approaching operational use, it is folly for any country to stake its future to any great extent on the big bomber and atom bomb."

"Professional gamblers have always held to the theory that one should never gamble for more than he can afford to lose. "In the light of developments which I have been describing, it would appear that when we gamble predominantly on the atomic blitz concept of war it is the life of our nation which may be at stake."

Before hearing sides, the committee had brief new discussion with Cmdr. Eugene Tatom about how deadly is the A-bomb. Tatom cited medical reports on the Hiroshima blast to back up his contention that it is not as deadly as the public thinks.

But under questioning, Tatom agreed that all available statistics do not jibe. And he said that anyway he isn't an atomic expert.

Tatom is the navy man who surprised the committee yesterday by saying a man could stand at one end of the Washington national airport and come unscathed through an atomic blast (about one mile and a third) runway.

His testimony was part of the navy's general attack on the military policy of putting so large an investment into the air force B-36 bomber—a plane designed to fly from one continent to another and carry an A-bomb.

Stopping in Salem Tuesday morning en route to Long Beach, Calif., to attend a meeting of Air Force Reserve wing commanders and base commanders was Brig. Gen. Chester McCarty, commander of 403rd wing of the reserves.

While in Salem the general attended a meeting of the state board of aeronautics.

Making the trip to California in the C-46 with McCarty will be Lt. Col. Jackson Lewis, commander of the 2343rd training base at Portland. The meeting, which opens Wednesday, will be attended by a number of high ranking officers, including the commanding general of the Continental Air command, Lt. Gen. Ennis Whitehead, who has his headquarters at Mitchell field, N. Y.

Also held in Long Beach this week will be the national convention of the Air Reserve association of which Gen. McCarty is the president. This meeting opens Thursday. The general plans to return to Portland Monday.

Drainage

Franzen, in reply to a question, said sewer rental money can be used for drainage work. That is a provision of the act, he said.

Franzen and City Engineer Davis said new equipment needed to keep down surface water this spring is four pumps and a sewer cleaning machine, costing a total of about $6600. The purchase was authorized on motion of Alderman O'Hara.

Davis said, however, that in the east Englewood and Lone Oak districts absolute clearance of flood water will be impossible because of the high water level and lack of sewer systems.

Alderman Gille made the motion that the action of two weeks ago be rescinded. Alderman Maple moved and the council voted that the manager and attorney go ahead with completion of easements regardless of the action taken.

In South Salem drainage operations that have been in progress for several weeks are almost finished. The work has been mainly the clearing of ditches.

Ching Trying

The government will be working against time in its effort to get the steel strike settled. Contracts of a half-million steelworkers in fabricating plants—where steel is the basic product for hundreds of articles—began expiring Saturday. They'll continue to run out through mid-December.

And Murray says the union will call a strike in each case where the fabricators won't provide free pensions and insurance.

A total of 10 small firms has agreed to pay workers a 10-cent pension and insurance package without employee contributions. That is the exact recommendation of the presidential fact finding board which tried unsuccessfully to head off the walkout.

The latest firms to give in to Murray are Kelsey-Hayes wheel company, near Pittsburgh, and the Massey-Harris company at Batavia, N. Y. The latter is a steel fabricating firm with 2,000 employes. Kelsey-Hayes has 650 workers.

Brutality Denied

Ryan said that Irwin Wakefield, a patient, was killed on April 11, 1944, after he and two other criminally insane patients had attacked three attendants. Wakefield slugged an attendant with an iron bar and was killed in the struggle. A coroner's jury exonerated the attendants, the report said.

Ryan declared that the feeding standards have been improved during the past three years. He said a typical noon meal consists of beef stew, corn on the cob, boiled potatoes, chocolate pudding, two fresh pears, bread and butter and coffee.

Plenty of blankets are furnished the patients and all sleep in steam heated rooms, Ryan reported. He also said that better-trained doctors were now on the staff, together with more competent nurses and attendants.

The committee appearing last week claimed that "people are railroaded" into the hospital without advising relatives and without proper court hearings. Ryan said this is impossible under the law.

Gov. McKay said that he favored further improvement on food served at the hospital, declaring that the state wards were entitled to the best food that the state could afford to furnish.

A low bid of $315,677 for a new 40-cell block at the state penitentiary submitted by Deatur Iron and Steel company was referred to Warden George Alexander and other prison officials for recommendation.
