

Fear of Police Leads to Suicide

Cheyenne, Wyo., Oct. 12 (AP)—An 18-year-old air force soldier from Ashland, Ore., whose apartment was filled with robbery loot, shot himself yesterday because he feared police were closing in. Police Chief Fred Schmoker said.

Schmoker identified the soldier as Pfc. Robert Eugene Bunch, who enlisted last December and was to have been graduated from base training school next week.

The police chief said Bunch's 19-year-old wife told him they started long evening walks after she became pregnant and on them they began a series of house burglaries.

"Since I was always hungry, I usually went to the kitchen and got into the icebox and ate and then I'd help Gene carry the stuff home," Schmoker quoted her as saying.

Police said they found in the apartment loot from 10 Cheyenne residences including six rifles, several revolvers, clothing, costume jewelry and an $800 diamond ring.

Fish vs. Dams Fight Renewed

Astoria, Ore., Oct. 12 (AP)—The Columbia basin inter-agency committee opened a Columbus day hearing today, meeting for the first time in the capital of the fish-versus-dams dispute.

Chairman Herbert M. Peet and representatives of the Oregon fish commission, the Washington department of fisheries and the U.S. fish and wildlife service would present plans for fish conservation on the lower Columbia river.

A discussion of corps of engineers' plans for the passing of salmon through the McNary dam site with two cofferdams in place was also scheduled.

The fishermen's assaults on high dams planned for the lower Columbia river were launched at a Walla Walla meeting of the committee in June 1947.

Then, James Loder of Salem, president of the Oregon Wildlife federation, said that his 20,000 members now wanted delays on the construction of dams that would damage fish runs. Don McKernan, Oregon fish commission biologist,

Barris and Riedel, who held the record with 1008 hours, said they would not attempt to beat their long-time friends' record. (Acme Telephoto) said the Bonneville dam fish count was inaccurate.

The fish groups at that meeting suggested a 10-year moratorium on dam building and the power-reclamation adherents countered with a proposed 10-year moratorium on commercial fishing. Both moratoriums were tabled.

March 4, 1893, in Salem, he was married to Lulu F. Long of Salem, who preceded him in death. Ingram received his education at Wilburn college, which was located in southern Oregon. Surviving are three children, Mrs. Kate E. Sutton of Portland, Mrs. Rose Marie Wesolowski of Eugene and James M. Ingram of Turner; eight grandchildren and 13 great grandchildren.
