Now you Know!

The answers to everyday insurance problems—
By SID BOISE

QUESTION: A young friend of my son's drove up into the hills on a fishing trip a couple of weeks ago. He left a valuable rifle and some expensive fishing gear in his parked car while he fished along the banks of a stream. When he returned, he found the car had been broken into and the rifle, fishing gear and some other items stolen. He was not insured so he had to stand the loss. However, I have a theft policy and I'd like to know if it would protect me in a similar situation.

ANSWER: Your insurance man can interpret your particular policy but as a general rule, most Resident Theft policies written during the past several years would protect you fully under the circumstances described, if the "theft away from the premises" clause is included.

★ If you'll address your own insurance questions to this office, we'll try to give you the correct answers and there will be no charge or obligation of any kind.
