

Even as You and I—His Lordship, the Marquess of Milford Haven and his fiancée, Mrs. Romaine Simpson, just like any other travelers, sit on their baggage on pier as they await customs inspection following their arrival on the liner Queen Elizabeth at New York. The Marquess, second cousin of King George VI, said he and the slender, dark-haired American divorcee would be married in Washington, D. C., "late in November." (AP Wirephoto)

MARQUESS AND DIVORCEE

David Mountbatten, Fiancee Arrive in U. S.; to Wed in Nov.

New York, Oct. 21 (AP)—A hazel-eyed American divorcee whose ancestors captured the Northwest Territory from King George III, returned giggling from England Thursday with her fiance, a London laundryman who is George III's great-great-great-grandson.

Mrs. Romaine Dahlgren Pierce Simpson, 26, of Boston, New York, and Washington, and David Michael Mountbatten, 30, the Marquess of Milford Haven, arrived on the Queen Elizabeth and said they hoped to be married in Washington "about the end of November."

The Marquess, who is between 30th and 40th in line for the British throne has been considered Britain's most eligible bachelor.

The Marquess shooed reporters away from his bride-to-be as they posed together for newspaper and newsreel photographers in the chill wind. Mrs. Simpson, smiling shyly, displayed an engagement ring consisting of a huge ruby encircled by 20 diamonds.

The Marquess said he would stay in New York with friends for about a month. He said Mrs. Simpson would stay in her Park Avenue apartment, going ahead with her piano studies.

The Queen Elizabeth was almost 24 hours late after one of its roughest crossings. Her 2,217 passengers weathered almost six days of high seas whipped up by 75-mile-per-hour winds that at one time slowed the world's largest liner to less than half her normal speed.
