

Lifetime Savings Lost by Broker

Linden, Calif., Oct. 21 (AP)—A refugee pearl broker from Shanghai was robbed yesterday of his lifetime savings in rare oriental pearls and diamonds.

The broker, Leopold Stein has been operating a small merchandise store here since he fled from Shanghai in 1946. The pearls, which he valued at $10,000 and the diamonds at $5,000 were in a steel locked box in his small safe. Taken also was $600 in cash.

Before dawn burglars smashed up a truck to the store, smashed an entrance, and hauled away the safe. They broke open the safe about a mile from town and abandoned it.

Stein, who used to be Shanghai broker for the famous Japanese pearl merchant, Baron Mikimoto, brought the pearls with him in a suitcase when he entered this country. He said he didn't think anyone would bother him in this small town of 100 persons.

Nine Korean Students Sentenced for Murder

Seoul, Korea, Oct. 21 (AP)—Nine Korean students convicted of murder last May of Mrs. Ethel Underwood, 60-year-old Methodist missionary, were sentenced today to terms ranging from two years' imprisonment to death.

All the students were in their early twenties.

Mrs. Underwood, wife of Dr. Horace H. Underwood, president emeritus of Chosun Christian college, was killed during a faculty meeting at her home by masked students who were caught a week later.

In the trial, they confessed it was an underground plot to assassinate Miss Ho Yung-suk, United Nations liaison officer for Korean President Syngman Rhee.

Miss Ho, who now is at Lake Success as a Korean observer, was marked for death because she had been making anti-communist speeches.

Good Reason For 'Mugging'

Philadelphia, Oct. 21 (AP)—When Press Agent Allen Sommers appeared on a local television show, he kept "mugging" into the camera.

Later he offered an explanation:

Hurrying back to Philadelphia from Atlantic City, N.J., to make the show Saturday night, he was stopped by a New Jersey patrolman.

Sommers told the trooper his reason for haste and gave him the name of the show, the time and station.

"All right," said the trooper. "Go ahead. But I'm going to watch that show tonight and if you're not on it, it will be just too bad for you."

Ignition Clinic Here Tuesday

A clinic on all phases and problems of auto ignition will be held for mechanics on Tuesday, October 25 at 7:30 p.m. in Chamber of Commerce hall, 147 North Liberty, according to announcement from F. D. Ward, Salem Auto Parts president.

The educational session is being sponsored by this firm in cooperation with Standard Motor Products, Inc., of Long Island City, New York, manufacturers of automotive electrical parts. All auto mechanics who are interested are invited to attend.

Carroll Canning, field engineer of Standard Motor Products will conduct the meeting. His lecture, which will be illustrated by a film in color, will deal with the "Whys and Hows of Voltage Regulators"—their building, how to test regulators and generators, and how to adjust after testing; how coils are built and why; how condensers are built and why—their operation and testing; and too, an analysis of the ignition distributor, and how points should be installed and adjusted according to cam angle. After the lecture a roundtable will be devoted to questions and answers, and to any special problems the mechanics may have.

Door prizes will be awarded. Refreshments will be served.

Lebanon Cifering Classes for Adults

Lebanon—The local high school will offer adult education classes this fall in woodworking, typing and shorthand.

If at least ten people are interested in any other field, classes on that subject may also be offered.

The adult sewing classes recently initiated, have exceeded expectations making it necessary to form two groups, held weekly. These classes include instruction in both sewing and tailoring.

Court Decree Favors Schmitz

Circuit Judge George R. Duncan, in a decision in the case of Charles E. Schmitz, manager of Credit Bureaus, Inc., vs. state industrial accident commission, holds that Schmitz was injured during the course of his employment in a feed store while trying to sell the services of his company to the store proprietor. The accident occurred December 22, 1948, in Valley Farm store on Silverton road near Lancaster drive. Schmitz was discussing with the store owner the matter of credit service while the owner was occupied in unloading some produce. Part of the produce fell and struck Schmitz causing him serious injuries.

The commission refused to grant compensation alleging the injuries were not sustained during the course of his employment. After Schmitz was again refused at a rehearing he appealed to circuit court.

Bradley, 'Fancy Dans' Trade Cold Stares

Washington, Oct. 21 (AP)—Gen. Omar N. Bradley stepped off an elevator in the house of office building Thursday and confronted Adms. Arthur W. Radford and William H. P. Blandy. The admirals are two of the "fancy dans" Bradley accused of being unwilling to play on the defense team unless they can call the signals.

There were no words, smiles or nods of acknowledgement. Bradley executed a sharp right flank movement and marched into the office of Rep. Carl Vinson, D. Ga.

The admirals gave a view of the stern.

At this point, Gen. Mark Clark moved into position. Blandy shook hands with Clark. Radford started away, recovered, and also shook hands with Clark.

Miss America Gets Caught in Falsie Battle

Opelousas, La., Oct. 21 (AP)—Jacque Mercer of Phoenix, Ariz., Miss America of 1949 came here to crown a sweet potato queen and immediately found herself in the midst of Louisiana's controversy over "falsies."

Although she appeared embarrassed to talk about it, Miss Mercer said that she herself definitely doesn't make use of a false front. She is a natural 34, she said, and doesn't need any padding.

Furthermore, she said, she is sure none of the other girls in the Miss America contest were falsies. "It's against the rules," she explained.

Louisiana became the battlefield in a false quarrel when a contestant for the "Miss New Orleans" title charged that half her opponents "came to the beach with their chests in their purses."

Democratic Session Is Scheduled Sunday

Lebanon—Linn county democrats will meet Sunday at the Crowfoot Grange hall to outline party plans for the coming year. The meeting opens at 1:30 o'clock according to Earl Mason, chairman of the Linn county central committee.

"In accordance with the traditions of the party, we are going to the people to find their wants and thereby build our program from the grass roots," Mason said.

The Grange hall is located south of the Cascades Plywood plant near the Crowfoot school.
