NOTHING BUT FANCY LAYOUTS

No Hollywood House Shortage—Just Shortage of Millionaires

By VIRGINIA MacPHERSON

Hollywood, Calif., Oct. 26 (U.P.)—You don't go house-hunting in Hollywood, a movie newcomer found out today, unless you've got enough cash in your nylon to buy MGM outright.

There's no housing shortage in this town, says blonde Sybil Merritt. There's just a shortage of multi-millionaires.

"Honestly it was awful!" she groaned. "All I wanted was a little old house with a couple of bedrooms and maybe a den. So what do the gents show me? Mansions, villas, mountain estates, castles!"

Now, Miss Merritt's just a brand-new movie star. She just got her first leading role in "The Vicious Years." And she's not used to the way merchants around these parts up the ante the minute you put on dark glasses.

She found out. The first dealer said he had "exactly" what she was looking for and rushed her out to a lavish San Fernando valley estate, complete with swimming pool, tennis courts, guest house, and servant's quarters.

"What would I do with all this space?" Sybil protested. "There's just me and I don't take up much room."

"You'll need it all to accommodate the friends who'll be using the pool and the courts," the agent purred. "You'll never be lonely here."

"I'll never be here, period," Sybil cracked.

She phoned another realtor. He had an even fancier lay-out. This one had the standard pool plus an electrically controlled wall and a complicated burglar alarm system that'd turn Mickey Cohen green with jealousy.

Mike's Ex-Wife Garnishees Pay

Portland, Ore., Oct. 26 (U.P.)—About $500 which recalled Sheriff Mike Elliott was to receive for the past month's work has been garnished by a former wife, Jimmie Elliott, who lives in Detroit, Mich.

Attorney Walter Evans, representing the former Mrs. Elliott, said she is seeking approximately $1760 for child support payments. She divorced Elliott in April, 1945, charging cruel and inhuman treatment.

A writ of execution was issued and served on the county auditor late Monday to tie up the county check for Elliott.

Independence Youth Back Home with Calf

Dallas—Roland Rogers of Independence is the proud owner of a 320 pound Hereford steer, according to Stanley B. Fansher, county extension agent. He caught the steer in the calf scramble at the Pacific International Livestock exposition in Portland. Six young calves were turned loose into the arena with 12 boys trying to catch them. Each steer had to be caught, haltered, and led from the arena by the fortunate six.

The answers to everyday insurance problems! By SID BOISE

QUESTION: I have just gotten a new fur coat which, while not in the $10,000 class, still represents a sizeable investment for me. The furrier says I should have it insured against theft and I'd like to know how I can have it included in my regular theft policy.

ANSWER: It would be much better to have your coat insured under a special type of coverage called a Fur Floater rather than under your regular theft policy. The Fur Floater can protect you from loss due to accidental damage to the coat as well as loss due to theft. Your insurance agent can give you the full picture of how the policy can be adapted to your particular needs.

If you'll address your own insurance questions to this office, we'll try to give you the correct answer and there will be no charge or obligation of any kind.

Group of Business Men to Study 'Climate' of Business

By SAM DAWSON

New York (U.P.)—There's a group of men meeting down in West Virginia today who have a greater influence on your daily lives than you may suspect—on the goods you buy, the prices you pay, the laws you are governed by, and, sometimes, on the conditions under which you work.

They are the executives of 1164 trade associations. The members of their various associations range all the way from grocers to giant industrial corporations. Trade associations are, or should be, groups of natural competitors seeking to better their own industry—without limiting competition, or harming the public interests.

These men meet today in White Sulphur Springs, for the 30th annual gathering of the American Trade Association executives, are busy studying the climate—the climate of business.

Their president, T. E. Velfort, manager of the Copper & Brass Research Association, New York, tells them:

"Trade associations must be quick to sense changes in the climate in which business must ment, labor and the public. And a growing interest since the war in examining the functions and operations of trade associations themselves.

Trade associations have grown rapidly. They have been widely acclaimed, not only for their work in the last two wars, but also for the peace time some of them in jobs of improving business conditions and policing the practices of their own members. In 1900 there were about 100 national and interstate trade associations.

Now the department of commerce lists 4,400 national and interstate groups as trade, professional and service associations, with a membership totaling two million firms.

Cary Grant, all done up in false hair as a disguise, gets advice from Ann Sheridan on how to act as a "bride" in this scene from the hilarious comedy "I Was a Male War Bride" starting today at Warners Capitol theater. The two, who co-star in this picture directed by Howard Hawks, wage a hectic romance from one end of Germany to the other, where most of the picture was filmed on location.
