Movie Director Gets Contract Rights to Boss His Wife

By VIRGINIA MacPHERSON

Hollywood, Calif., Oct. 29 (AP)—A movie director who drew the ticklish job of telling his wife how to act in her next picture made her sign a legal contract today proclaiming him absolute boss from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m.

What happens after that, said Nicholas Ray, is something strictly between him and the missus, blonde Gloria Grahame.

"I'll probably wind up taking orders—as usual," he sighed meekly.

But on the job he can be a roaring lion. Miss Grahame will leap to obey his slightest command. He's got that down in writing.

And if she doesn't like his or-

Does Princess Smoke Fags?

London, Oct. 29 (AP)—The Daily Express deduced today from a photograph that Princess Elizabeth sometimes smokes in private although she never has been seen to smoke in public.

The deduction was made from the first photographs of the interior of Clarence House, London home of the princess and the Duke of Edinburgh.

The photographs were published in all morning papers but the Express used a closeup of Elizabeth's cluttered desk showing what appeared plainly enough to be a wooden cigarette box, a match-filled glass jar and a silver ash tray.

The Express pointed out these items and said: "These three things seen on Princess Elizabeth's desk will settle for many people the question does the princess smoke or not."

3 Children Burned To Death in Crash

Spokane, Oct. 29 (AP)—Three small children were burned to death early today in a flaming traffic accident on the Fancher overpass.

State Patrolman William Todd said a logging truck and a private car collided but no other details were immediately available.

The three victims were the children of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Martin of Deer Park, Wash. The Martins suffered only slight burns and bruises.

Heaviest player on the University of Arizona football team is tackle Larry Howard, a 225-pounder.

And Miss Grahame admitted she fought like heck. It smacked of "slave labor" to her, she said, and she wasn't having any.

But producer Robert Lord is an old married man himself. Twenty-five years wed, he is. He insisted.

He also said he'd seen too many director-husbands try to tell their actress-wives how to emote. He said they usually wound up getting the scenery heaved at 'em.

"I told him I'd already made one picture with Nick," Miss Grahame said. "And we didn't have any trouble. Of course, that was BEFORE we got married."

Lord said how a man acts when he's a-courtin' and how he acts after he's caught were two different things and that was precisely why he wanted Miss Grahame's signature on that contract.

"So I signed it," she said. "But you should read it!"

"I hereby agree," the contract goes, "that my husband shall be entitled to direct, control, advise, instruct, and even command my actions during the hours from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. every day except Sunday during the filming of the production in which I co-star with Humphrey Bogart."

"I acknowledge that in every conceivable situation his will and judgment shall be considered superior to mine and shall prevail."

And on Sundays... ah, that's a different story. All bets are off on Sunday. And we'd give anything to see Director Ray toeing the line on his day off.

Physician Testifies He Was Kicked Out of Medical Group

Portland, Oct. 29 (AP)—The government's anti-trust suit went into week-end recess today, after another physician and an Oregon mayor testified that the State Medical Society had frowned on prepaid medical plans.

Dr. Wilford H. Belknap, Portland, was the second physician to testify that he was forced to resign from the Multnomah County Medical Society because of his association with a prepaid medical group.

The government accuses the State Medical Society of attempting to monopolize prepaid medicine with its own organization, Oregon Physicians Service. Belknap said the County Medical Society threatened him with expulsion unless he gave up his contract practice with National Hospital Association patients. He resigned in 1940.

Later, he told the court, he applied for reinstatement, and was asked by a society official if "I had learned my lesson."

Belknap replied, "I had no lesson to learn." He was not readmitted, he said.

Mayor Albert Flegel of Roseburg testified that the 13 employees of his transfer and storage company subscribed to the Industrial Hospital Association, but could not get doctors to take the association's tickets.

Flegel said he consequently paid the doctors out of his own pocket, and was reimbursed by the hospital association.

At the Source of the news...

See for yourself, hear for yourself. These are axioms of action with United Press reporters. Whatever the story they are covering—a diplomatic statement or a street shooting, a scientific discovery or a baseball deal—they go to the source of the news. That's one reason why more and more readers find U. P. dispatches of first interest. U. P. gets its facts at first hand.
