

Color Sparks Career

New York—An ordinary window pane is color, says industrial designer Henry Dreyfuss. Now 46 years old and recognized tops in his field, Dreyfuss' brain children are hard to escape in everyday living. He has had a hand in designing and coloring typewriters, vacuum cleaners, refrigerators, cameras, alarm clocks, 105-millimeter ack-ack guns and fly swatters. Dreyfuss also helped design today's telephone.

Henry Dreyfuss

Dreyfuss thinks that the secret of good color is using monochromes for the most part with one or perhaps two other colors to "spark" the area.

"For instance," Dreyfuss says, "most persons make a mistake in their dining rooms. They think the walls have to be bright, never giving a thought to the fact that the tablecloth, napkins, silverware and tumblers all serve as light reflectors. As a result, you have too much light."

Taking a piece of fabric, he can demonstrate how various light combinations could change the original color. "That's why in designing the 20th Century Limited that went into service a few months ago we used only three basic colors," Dreyfuss said, "grey, soft green and rust. In this case, rust is the 'spark'."

Dreyfuss does much work on trains, ships and other transport. In trains he must deal with varied light as the time of day and the train's location change. In ships he must find colors that passengers will like on long voyages. And all these colors must be easy to maintain.

Women, he says, are more sensitive to color than men. They go places with colors that compliment their clothes.

Dreyfuss started designing when he was 17 years old—on stage scenery.

'Big-Spending' Target of Solons

Two of Oregon's republican congressional delegation today had launched their 1950 re-election campaigns, assailing "big spending" by the administration.

Harris Ellsworth of the fourth district addressed the Portland Chamber of Commerce and said the first issue facing the United States is the "deplorable state financially."

Walter Norblad of Astoria, still on his way home, in Boise, Ida., called the 81st congress "the spendiest peacetime congress in history."

Both Ellsworth and Norblad with the balance of the four-man Oregon delegation are up for re-election in 1950.

Norblad stopped with friends in Boise and said he was opposed to construction of Snake river dams at this time. He said, "The pressure and spending should be put on finishing other dams, such as McNary and Chief Joseph."

Ellsworth said each Oregon family paid an average of $100 a month in taxes to support "deficit spending."

Four Corners People Host For Out of State Visitors

Four Corners, Nov. 1—Out of state visitors coming this week for a three weeks' stay with Mr. and Mrs. Leroy J. Stewart, East State street, will be Mrs. Stewart's sister and family, the Rev. and Mrs. Thomas Allport and children, Mary, Paul and Stephen, of Bellingham, Wash. At the close of their stay here they will go to El Cerrito, Calif., where they will visit another of Mrs. Allport's sisters and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Blair after which they will sail November 30 from San Francisco for Hawaii where they will establish the first mission in the Islands of the United Lutheran Church of America. Mrs. E. A. Kolbe, mother of Mrs. Stewart and Mrs. Allport who has been in Bellingham for some time will come down with the Allports for a visit here.

Mr. and Mrs. B. K. Wodzowoda, 750 S. Lancaster drive, honored their daughter, Dianne, upon her fifth birthday anniversary on Sunday. Coming to greet the small hostess and partake of the birthday refreshments were Cheryl and Denise Miller and Dennis Wodzowoda.

Recent newcomers to the Four Corners community are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dant and son, Michael, of Seattle, Wash. They are residing at 3745 LaBranche ave. Mrs. Dant is a native of New Zealand having been in the United States only four years. Mr. Dant is Chief Hospital Corpsman of the U.S. Naval Reserve at McNary Field.

Mr. and Mrs. Dale Jeffries, Tommy and Marilyn Sue moved into their new residence last week at 4065 E. State st. Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Schlicht disposed of their property in Salem and purchased the Jeffries property. They also moved this last week.

Schulberg's Ad Gets Job Offers

Hollywood, Nov. 1—Former film tycoon B. P. Schulberg who once made $9,500 weekly as head of Paramount studios, said today his "situation wanted" ad placed in two Hollywood trade papers has resulted in two job offers.

Both offers came from New York parties, the 57-year-old Schulberg said.

Director Marion Gering, an old friend, wants him to participate in film production in Havana, Cuba, he said, and is coming here Thursday from New York to discuss the deal.

The one-time motion picture mogul was more secretive about his other job offer.

"It involves a big New York syndicate which wants to put two or three million dollars in film production," he explained. "They don't want me to reveal their name unless I decide to take it."

Flegel Poses Raver As Typical CVA Head

Roseburg, Nov. 1—State Senator Austin F. Flegel, Portland, told a democratic party audience here last night that Dr. Paul Raver of Bonneville power administration is the type of man who would be named to administer a CVA.

Flegel said Raver is an "honest, high class government official" and the type that would introduce business methods to Columbia basin development. He said the work now is being done by 33 government agencies.

The Portland legislator spoke earlier to a Chamber of Commerce luncheon group on the proposed Columbia valley administration bill and its aims.

Missionary Council Plan Yule Boxes

Brooks—At the last bi-monthly meeting of the Women's Missionary Council the following officers were elected: Mrs. Ruth Jensen, president; Mrs. George Bacon, vice president; Mrs. Ruby Edmond, secretary-treasurer. Christmas boxes for missionary friends were planned and several are already sent. The next meeting is to be held with Mrs. C. W. McGee.

Eye Filler—It's hard to say whether that mink jacket will stop the wintry blasts, but it would certainly bring traffic to a screeching halt as worn by Erna Rossman. Erna was runner-up in "Queen of Queens" contest in New York, and somewhere in her travels she picked up the title of "Miss Switzerland." (Acme Telephone photo)

Silverton Union Date Is Advanced

Silverton—The regular meeting date of the Silverton WCTU is advanced to Wednesday evening, November 2, at the social rooms of the First Christian church, Mrs. M. G. Gunderson, president, official hostess.

Mrs. Fred Tooze of Portland, state WCTU president, is to be the speaker on the membership rally program.

A no-hostess 6:30 dinner is to be served. All members are urged to attend and bring a guest. Any one interested is welcome to attend.

The committee in charge of the program and dinner include Mrs. M. G. Gunderson, Mrs. Edwin Overlund, Mrs. A. H. Smith, Mrs. Del Harrington and Mrs. Al Down.

The English sparrow was introduced into the United States in 1850, imported to free shade trees of destructive caterpillars—which, it turned out, it would not eat.

NO WOMEN ALLOWED!

Fishermen Find Womanless Eden—But Whot Hoppen?

Halifax, N.S. (AP)—The world's newest state may never be eligible for the United Nations. It would be hard to find it on a map and its population is sometimes non-existent.

But it has one distinction. It allows no women to enter its boundaries.

The state, or principality, is called Outer Baldonia, situated in the Soldier's Rip, a tuna-fishing ground off the southwestern tip of Nova Scotia. Its borders enclose three acres.

Outer Baldonia is owned by Russell Arundel of Washington, D.C., a big game sportsman. He bought the island from a group of Nova Scotia fishermen who, however, retained the right to graze their sheep on the island. Some 50 bleating animals are permanent residents.

After Arundel bought it, a three-room club house was built on the island. It's a place for tuna fishermen to go and swap stories about the ones that did or did not get away.

The Washington sportsman decided that Outer Baldonia could offer its members more than the amenities of the rude building. He decided it could be a principality free from women, a place where fishermen would be free to boast about their accomplishments, even in profane language when the big ones got away.

Arundel made the rules for his fishermen friends when he drew up the constitution of the island. The rules are a declaration of independence. The declaration is dated "in the year of Outer Baldonia, One," in effect kicking out the Gregorian calendar.

Fishermen, he says, are a race alone. They have the right to boast and be believed, the right of freedom from question, from nagging, from shaming, from women, from taxes, from monologues, war, and inhibitions.

Arundel also wrote into his declaration a rule that fishermen have the right of applause, vanity, flattery, and praise, the right to swear, lie, drink and gamble, to be noisy, pensive or hilarious and the right to sleep all day and stay up all night.

The rush of tuna fishermen to join the principality was great. Each had to pay from $50 to $100 to join.

But, like all Gardens of Eden, there turned out to be a serpent. The women got curious. They wanted to know all about the

Stettinius Rites On Wednesday

Greenwich, Conn., Nov. 1—Funeral services for former Secretary of State Edward R. Stettinius, Jr., will be held tomorrow at St. James Episcopal church, in New York City.

Stettinius, 49, died here yesterday of a heart attack at the home of his sister, Mrs. Juan Trippe. He and his wife had come to the Trippe home about a month ago to allow him to convalesce from the effects of a heart attack last spring.

Mrs. Stettinius said a private burial will follow the services at Locust Valley, N.Y. The family requested that persons willing to send flowers instead make a contribution to either Roosevelt hospital in New York or the New York Heart association.

Death of the former diplomat who gave up his post as board chairman of the United States Steel Corp., to become wartime lend-lease administrator was attributed to coronary thrombosis induced by a serotic heart disease, Medical Examiner Dr. C. Stanley Knapp said.
