

'Underwater Lumberjack' Feels Diving Is Safer Than Hollywood

By VIRGINIA MacPHERSON

Hollywood, Calif., Nov. 2 (AP)—Hollywood... it's a great place for the movie stars, an "underwater lumberjack" said today. But you can give HIM the bottom of Puget Sound. One week in the movie sideshow has Bob Forrest dizzy. He's itching to get back to Port Angeles, Wash., where he makes a slightly damp living diving for sunken logs in the Sound.

Ancient Automobile Still Rugged Buggy

Richmond, Va. (AP)—At least one ancient automobile taking part in this year's revival of the Glidden Tour had little or no trouble with Virginia's rugged mountain roads.

C. E. Simmons, who drove his two-cylinder 1922 Stanley Steamer in the caravan of 90-odd vehicles of a bygone day, said he has more trouble finding roads that can accommodate his boiler.

Simmons said he cruises at 80 in his steamer without really opening up all the valves. He said he gets 14 miles to a gallon of kerosene and six miles for every gallon of water in his tanks.

As for the upkeep, Simmons said there are only 37 moving parts, including the wheels. When something goes wrong, he doesn't bother taking his Steamer to a garage.

He calls the plumber.

Law Requires Care in Cutting Christmas Trees

In less than two months—52 days to be exact—glimmering, shining Christmas trees will be found in most all homes.

Long before that Christmas tree cutters will begin combing Oregon's forests for likely holiday greens.

As that time draws near Acting State Forester George Spaur is sending out the reminder that these holiday greens must be cut under the provision of the Oregon conservation act.

First in the list of musts found in the act is the securing of permits from the forestry department in Salem or at the department headquarters within the various districts in the state. These are located at Coos Bay, LaGrande, The Dalles, Klamath Falls, Medford, Toledo, Forest Grove, Roseburg, Sweet Home, Molalla, Dallas, Springfield and Veneta.

Also it is necessary to secure the permission of the landowner and his name and address must be included on the application filed by the Christmas tree operator.

So that the harvesting of Christmas trees will be in the nature of a beneficial thinning the Oregon conservation act requires that not less than 300 trees per acre, with 100 well distributed, be left by the individual cutting the trees. All forest lands except lands being cleared for agricultural purposes come under these requirements.

In reminding Christmas tree cutters of the law protecting Oregon's forest lands Spaur points out that old mature seed trees may also serve as a seed source where they exist on Christmas tree cutting areas. He further notes that by leaving established young growth or seed source, continued forest production on the area is insured.

One exception to the Oregon conservation act is John Q. Citizen, who goes after the family's own Christmas tree. He is not required to obtain a permit, but must obtain the permission of the landowner before cutting his tree.

Population of Medford 20,100

Medford, Nov. 2 (AP)—Medford's population is 20,100, a 90 percent gain since 1940, unofficial figures based on a new city directory prepared by the local branch of the Mormon church showed today.

In 1940 the population was 11,281 and in 1930 it was 11,007.

The increase is ascribed largely to the general population shift to the west. Increased employment in lumbering and pear growing has been noted. Too, there has been a substantial increase in the number of persons coming here to live after retiring from active business.

Indo-China Reds Invade China

Hong Kong, Nov. 2 (AP)—Communist guerrillas from Indochina have invaded nationalist China and seized two towns in cooperation with Chinese communist forces, a nationalist report from Kweilin said today.

This report indicated the Indochinese Viet Nam invaders penetrated some 60 miles inside China at points north and northeast of Moncay, main border crossing point on the frontier between China and Indochina.

The towns seized, the report said, were Shiaoang, in Kwangtung province 60 miles northeast of Moncay, and Changwan, in Kwangsi province 40 miles north of Moncay. The report that the towns had been occupied could not be confirmed here.

Chinese nationalist authorities have conferred with French authorities in Indochina on ways to prevent the Viet Nam-Chinese communist forces from menacing the rear of nationalist lines in southwest China, the report said.

Recent authoritative accounts said that French authorities in Indochina were willing to help the Chinese nationalist government to prevent Chinese communists from joining up with Indochinese forces.

U. S. Getting More Security Insurance Day by Day

By JAMES G. AUSTIN

Washington, Nov. 2 (AP)—The United States is getting more security insurance day-by-day, but still is behind schedule in its $3,200,000,000 five-year program of defense stockpiling. This is the considered opinion of the men who are charged with scouting world markets for about 90 critical and strategic materials this country must have for national security.

Their search ranges from agar to zircon, from bismuth to vanadium. About 70 of these scarce items are available only from foreign sources. The rest are sought because domestic production is not enough.

Stockpiling is understandably a hush-hush procedure. It would not do to let a potential enemy know which materials are scarce here, or even which materials, eagerly sought a year ago, are now stocked in abundance. A year ago the program's difficulties were scarcities of the top priority materials. Today that situation is eased. The problem now is to make an overall appropriation of $735,000,000 for fiscal 1950 do the job. Some $310,000,000 of this sum includes deficiency appropriations and contracts awarded during fiscal 1949. This leaves only $425,000,000 in new funds. That is the headache of the munitions board which was set up under unification to handle stockpiling. It makes its direct purchases, where it can, through the bureau of federal supplies.

year will reach a peacetime record high of $43,500,000,000 and leave the government $5,500,000,000 in the red for the 12 months ending next June 30.
