Early Jefferson History Recalled

Jefferson — The Jefferson Woman's club met in the library rooms of the city hall last week. The roll call was answered with stories on pioneers. Mrs. Ivan Hadley and Mrs. Clyde Williamson of Albany played several accordion numbers and sang.

Miss Marguerite Looney told of social life in Jefferson in hitching post days, describing a Fourth of July celebration, an oyster supper and a moonlight picnic.

The librarian, Miss Libby, told of books on early Oregon and Oregon literature now available in the library. She also told of the writings of the early explorers of Oregon and recited an Indian love song and told of folklore.

Mrs. D. H. Looney traced Jefferson in industries from its earliest settlement, saying that Jefferson was an early grain and shipping center, and by 1892, 100,000 bushels of grain were shipped from here. River boats came up the Santiam to the Conson and Burnett mills, used as store houses from which to load the boats. The Jefferson institute was founded by the combined efforts of the community and incorporated January 18, 1857. The railroad was built through here in 1871, and prior to that in 1860, a mail route was operated between Portland and San Francisco by the California Stage company, with the first stage wagon south of Salem located at the Jesse Looney farm. Mrs. Looney related that a quart of apple seeds were brought across the plains in 1843 by Mrs. Jesse Looney and was the foundation of the earliest and largest orchards in the Willamette valley. When these trees came into bearing in the early 1850s, California merchants bought all the available

Equall-Walker Rites In Mt. Angel Church

Mt. Angel—In a fall setting of autumn leaves and orchid colored chrysanthemums, arranged in large bouquets and baskets, and lighted candles at the altar and sanctuary in St. Mary's Catholic church, Mr. Angel, Miss Shirley Ann Walker, daughter of Mrs. Joseph Walker, Sr., and the late Mr. Walker, was wed to Donald

R. Equall, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Equall of Woodburn. The double ring ceremony was solemnized Thursday morning at 9:30 o'clock. The nuptial mass was read by Rev. Vincent Koppert, O.S.B., and Maurice Hammer and John Hammer served at the altar.

Mrs. Vincent Smith played the processional and recessional wedding marches and was accompanist for Mrs. Walter P. Smith, sister of the bride, who sang before the bridal party entered the church and preceding the recessional, and for the St. Mary's choir who sang the high mass. Miss Laura Schwab and Miss Lucy Van Cleef sang "Ave Maria" at the offertory.

Ernest Walker escorted his sister down the aisle and gave her in marriage. The bride wore an ivory slipper satin gown fashioned with an off-shoulder fitted bodice and yoke of imported Chantilly lace with high neckline. Self-covered buttons fastened the long fitted sleeves at the wrist and lace yoke in front. The full skirt terminated in a court train, and the double fingertip veil of imported illusion was held by a coronet of seed pearls. The bride carried a cascade bouquet of large cream-colored chrysanthemums centered with a large cream or-child.

Four Attendants
Mrs. William Lulay stood as matron of honor for her sister, and the bridesmaids were her sister-in-law, Mrs. Joseph Walker, Jr., and her cousin, Miss Dolores Hockett. All the attendants wore identical dresses fashioned of glass green satin with matching satin mitts and bonnets. The dresses were styled with fitted bodices, off-shoulder bertha collars and floor-length circular skirts. The attendants carried cascade bouquets of large yellow chrysanthemums with Talisman-colored satin bows and streamers. Tiny Karen Smith, niece of the bride, was the flower girl. She was dressed in a soft yellow satin dress made floor-length, with a double collar at the shoulder line. She wore a matching satin halo and carried a miniature cascade bouquet of small bronze chrysanthemums with yellow satin ribbon bows and streamers.

Ralph Roggenback of Woodburn was best man for Mr. Equall, and the groomsmen were Joseph Walker, Jr., and Robert Volz. Ushers were Charles Walker and William Lulay. Mrs. Walker attended her daughter's wedding dressed in a black wool suit with winter pink accessories with which she wore a corsage of orchids. Mrs. R. C. Equall, mother of the bridegroom, chose a royal forest green tulle and matching hat with black accessories. Her corsage was of orchids. Mrs. Joseph Wilke, grandmother of the bride, was dressed in an all black ensemble, and Mrs. Laura Huffman of Canby, grandmother of the bridegroom, wore a navy blue wool suit with matching accessories. Each wore a corsage of orchids.

Breakfast follows
Immediately following the ceremony breakfast was held at the home of the bride's mother. Covers were placed for the bridal party, the parents and the officiating clergy. Serving were Mrs. C. J. Butsch, sister to the bride, and sister-in-law, Mrs. Ernest Walker. The wedding dinner was served at the Mt. Angel hotel with covers placed for 50 guests. An arrangement of lighted white tapers and chrysanthemums centered the bride's table. Serving were Miss Marguerite Schaefer, Miss Evelyn Purdy and Miss Mary Diehl.

A reception was held at the St. Mary's dining hall from 3:00 until 6:00 o'clock. The decor in the rooms featured lighted candles and pom-pom chrysanthemums. Cream colored flowers guarded the large tiered wedding cake which centered the buffet supper table. Mrs. George Volz, sister of the bride, cut the cake, Mrs. William Lulay (Lorraine Walker), Mrs. Joseph Walker (Marjorie Ertelt) and Mrs. Ralph Hockett, aunt of the bride, assisted at the gift table. Mrs. Joseph Beyer passed the guest book, and serving the guests were the Misses Margaret Dummer, Stella Dummer, Jeanette Bentz and Annella Bauman.

The young couple left the same day on a honeymoon to British Columbia and other points in Canada. For going away the bride chose a black wool suit to which she pinned her cream-colored orchid corsage. Her accessories were in pink. On their return the newlyweds will make their home at 1059 Young street, at Woodburn.

VISITING here a few days have been Mr. and Mrs. Paul Marsh and twin daughters, Lois and Leone, as guests of Mr. Marsh's sister, Mrs. Eleanor Clearwater. The Marsh family a few weeks ago moved to Eugene to make their home.

Brownies Organize

Two new troops of Brownies in the Girl Scouts work for Englewood school were organized at a meeting held Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Grant B. Fallon.

For one troop, Mrs. Earl Gooch and Mrs. Frank Schram will be leaders; and Mrs. Frank Hellman and Mrs. F. E. Albada will be leaders for the second group.

Mrs. Schram and Mrs. Raymond Stringham were in charge of the meeting. Tea was served in the late afternoon, Mrs. Fallon being assisted by her daughter, Kathy.

fruit for California markets, bringing good prices from the mining towns there. "Uncle" Charley Miller and Jesse Parrish were the first growers of flax here. The Jefferson News was born in 1886, later to become the Jefferson Review.

At the close of the meeting refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. J. G. Fontaine, Mrs. William Walls, Mrs. Leland Sarff and Miss Marjorie Fontaine.

At the next club meeting Nov. 9, Mrs. George Rossman of Salem will give the book review and the hostesses will be Miss Myrtle Myers, Mrs. Fred Wied and Mrs. Marvin Hutchings.
