

U. S. Women Have It Better Than Any Women in World

Hollywood, Calif., Nov. 10.—A Czechoslovakian beauty, who looks at Hollywood's spouse-shedding actresses with continental disdain, said today any woman who lets a man get away is a female flop.

"But as long as he comes back, ah... then you are the winner," insisted Actress Florence Marly. A gallivanting mate is a challenge, she said.

30-Stater Club Organized Here

Miss Marly picked up this broad-minded technique in Europe.

Over here, the divorce courts are booked months ahead by injured ladies clamoring to tell their troubles to a judge. They wouldn't feel so sorry for themselves, Miss Marly said, if they had traveled the way she has.

"American women have it better than any women in the world," she explained. "Their husbands treat them better, they have more household conveniences, they are better nourished than anybody—and consequently, they are the most beautiful in the world."

But they don't bother to make their living exciting, she added. They get stuck in a rut and get to feeling unglamorous and first thing you know they ARE unglamorous.

That's when the old man starts casting wolfish leers at some cute trick who isn't.

"A wife should never bother her husband about how hard she worked scrubbing the kitchen floor," she says. "She should be all perked up in fresh lipstick and new nail polish when he comes home. And if he notices the floor is clean, fine. If he doesn't, don't mention it."

Miss Marly, who's been married for more than 10 years to Director Pierre Chenai, said she does a tremendous lot of reading to keep up with her husband—intellectually.

Not spicy fiction, either. She goes for heavy stuff like Huxley and Satre and she was tackling "Existentialism" between love scenes with Humphrey Bogart in "Tokyo Joe."

Athletic Insurance Rates Held Costly

Amity—R. W. Haberly attended a budget meeting of O.S.A.A. One of the main items discussed was the rising cost of insurance for football players especially. Suggestions that players pay the first cost for injury as rates are exceedingly high for football athletes and is hoped to work out a plan to lower the cost of insurance rates.

Jerry Case, a member of the Amity football squad suffered an injury to his knee in the Amity-Yamhill game November 7, causing a blood clot in the knee. The injury will probably prevent his playing again this season.
