Protest Tax on Inspection

Complaints are beginning to pile up with the tax collection office and county court against the collection of half the fees for herd inspections made in 1947 for Bangs disease in cattle.

A law was passed in that year providing that every farmer having such inspections made should pay half the cost, this, however, to be collected by the county via the tax roll. It was impossible to get these out for the 1948-49 tax roll so they have been included with the present tax statements but on separate pink slips. The separate slips are used instead of placing the amount on the tax roll as the assessment is not considered a tax but rather in the light of a fee and consequently could not be included on the tax statements.

In most instances the amounts are small running from a dollar to a dollar and a half. However, complaints by letter and in person have been numerous. In most instances the complainants say they haven't owned any cattle for several months. However, the assessment now attempting to be collected runs back to cattle tests made in 1947.

Some of those receiving the bills say outright they won't pay them. Just what steps will be taken to collect such unpaid fees is not known.

Records Needed
Veterans with service connected disabilities of 50 per cent should start immediately to gather vital records in order to establish eligibility for dependency allowance in benefits authorized by recent congressional action, the Oregon department of veterans' affairs advised this week.

Public law 339 of the 81st congress gives added payments to such veterans if they have wives, children or dependent parents. The new benefit, which starts December 1, was previously limited to those 50 per cent or more disabled as a result of military service.

The state veterans' department advised the new beneficiaries to contact authorized veterans representatives for assistance in obtaining records of marriage, births, and of divorces and deaths involving previous marriages. Such records must be in the Veterans Administration files before the new payments can start.

The state board of health will furnish such records to the VA or the state veterans' department without cost if they are to be used in connection with benefits paid by the VA. While the veteran may apply direct to the health board, he is advised to consult an agency or organization which offers veteran services for more expeditious handling of the application.

Hinkle at School
RMC John Hinkle of Salem is one of approximately 30 organized naval reservists in the 13th naval district attending initial classes for a two-week instructor course at the U.S. Naval and Marine Corps Reserve Training center at Seattle.

The school has been established by the commandant of the district to raise the standards of instruction in the organized reserve and to eliminate the necessity for travel outside the limits of the district to attend such a school.

Boltjes Back from England
Staff Sgt. Galen Boltjes, USAF, who since October, 1948, had been in England with a troop carrier and cargo squadron as a crew chief and maintenance technician, returned October 19 from that country and with his wife and their son is visiting in Salem with his parents.

Boltjes re-enlisted in the air force in June, 1948, and the month after going to England was joined in that country by his wife and son. On being returned to this country for re-assignment the sergeant and his family were flown by the air force from England to the air force base at Westover Field, Mass. Boltjes reports to McChord Field, Wash., for assignment on termination of his leave.

More to Seattle
Lt. Comdr. David M. Morey, Jr., inspector-instructor for the Salem naval reserves, will leave for Seattle Tuesday night to attend a three-day conference for inspector-instructors in the 13th Naval district. The conference is set for Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

Aurora Man Hurt In Head-on Crash

Portland, Ore., Nov. 10 (AP) — Four persons were injured Wednesday night in an head-on collision near Portland's southern city limits.

A car driven by Phillip Good, Rt. 2, Aurora, Ore., swung into the opposite lane of the highway and hit the car driven by Gordon E. Jonsrud, 25, Torrance, Calif.

Good suffered head and face lacerations, while Jonsrud had knee injuries. Jonsrud's wife, Lucille, 23, was hurt the most seriously with severe shock and head abrasions. Their two-year-old daughter was unhurt.

The Jonsruds were visiting his parents in Portland.

Big 3 Approve

Although no one attending the secret conference would comment, the new allied policy was believed to include:

A plan to curtail sharply the dismantling of German plants for war reparations in return for Germany's agreement to cooperate with allied controls over such war potential industries as the Ruhr valley complex.

Schuman will report on the progress of his conference with U.S. Secretary of State Acheson and British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin.

Observers said Schuman, a member of France's popular republican party, wants the backing of the moderates and socialists, the two other parties of the French coalition government, before formally entering a new accord with Acheson and Bevin.

Informed sources said the three foreign ministers have reached a general agreement that most dismantling of German industry must stop. They also are reported to have moved closer to allowing the new west German republic to join the council of Europe.

Conditions for discontinuing the dismantling of German plants had yet to be worked out in the Big Three talks that opened yesterday. Britain still insists that such potential war industries as synthetic rubber and synthetic oil should be torn down, one source said.

Nine Seniors in Last SHA Game

Nine seniors will complete their prep school football competition at Sacred Heart academy Friday afternoon when the Cardinals play their cross-town rivals, Salem Bible Academy.

The game, originally slated for the Bible academy field, will be played on the S.H.A. gridiron near D and Lancaster.

The seniors will be Al Pearl, quarterback; Clark Ecker, a d Frank Schlageter, halfbacks and Jim Lancaster, fullback; Jim Collier, end; Tom Morisky, Don Mock and Don Heenan, tackles; and Don Zenger, guard.

Plans for an all-athletic dinner, December 9 are being formulated. Coach Chester Stackhouse of Willamette university will be the guest speaker.

Employers to Get Lower Payroll Tax

At least 8,359 employers, or slightly more than half of the employers covered in Oregon, will get lower payroll tax rates next year under the new unemployment compensation law.

The unemployment compensation commission said it now is sending out notices of the lower tax rates.

Under the new schedule, only 8,000 employers will be paying the normal 2.7 percent payroll tax rate. The others will get rates ranging down to 3 of 1 percent.

Employers who have steady employment for their employees get the lowest rates.

Mrs. Frahm Returns — Mrs. Leon Frahm, of the Salem Heights community, has returned from Boise, Ida., where she was a delegate from Local 160 of the building service employees union to the tri-state council meeting.

Boost in Social Security Urged

Governors of the 11 western states and Alaska want the federal government to increase social security in order to save the states from bankrupting themselves through their old age pension programs.

The action was taken at the western governors conference at Salt Lake City, from which Governor Douglas McKay returned today.

The governor said the governors want social security grants increased, and want more people included under the system. This would be of great aid to states by stopping the increasing demand for more and bigger old age pensions.

The governors also favored the states pooling their educational resources in professional, technical and graduate training.

This would mean, he said, that other states could send their students to the University of Oregon medical school, with the other states paying tuition for their students.

Brig. Gen. R. A. McClure

McClure to Speak At C of C Luncheon

Brigadier General R. A. McClure, commanding general of the northern area of the Sixth army, will be the speaker Monday at the noon luncheon of the Chamber of Commerce.

His subject will be "Training Today's Soldier." He became commander of the Northern area last July 6 after a notable career in both home and foreign posts.

New members of the chamber to be introduced Monday will be Richard T. Rogers, advertising specialties, 1395 Norway; William R. Finch, of Helsor Bros. Transfer, Portland; and Robert B. Taylor, state insurance commissioner and state fire marshal, 1060 North 15th street.

Ching Ceases

Ching was there, fuming. The soft coal operators were there, fuming. But no Lewis.

In fact, it was something of a mystery where Lewis was. Aides of the bushy-browed union leader with the flair for the dramatic said they did not know.

Ching was plainly burned up. First, he fired a telegram to United Mine Workers' headquarters asking Lewis for "clarification." But he didn't even know whether Lewis would see it.

Then Ching delivered a report to the White House that Lewis had coolly turned down a bid to a peace conference.

Ching called for his car and sped to the White House himself to make the report.

While he was traveling there, President Truman was holding his regular Thursday news conference.

The Lewis-Ching situation had not come to light and the questions to Mr. Truman did not deal with it.

The president was asked what might be the administration's next move in the coal situation.

He wouldn't say about that. Nor would the president comment on Lewis' order of yesterday sending the coal miners back to work for three weeks.

Instead of a comment, the president said of Lewis: "His picture is there on the front page of the Washington Post. Take a look at it."

The Post picture was an AP wirephoto of a glowering Lewis in Chicago.

Mr. Truman was asked if he thought the steel settlements would have been reached and the coal strike called off—at least temporarily—if the Taft-Hartley act had not been hanging over the unions.

The president, who wants the Taft-Hartley law repealed, said he couldn't say. He suggested that the question be put up to management and labor negotiators.

Marital Law

Troops stood guard over the presidential palace, banks, railway stations, the city hall and other public buildings. Patrols in the streets were doubled.

(News of the state of siege was filed last night by the Associated Press correspondent in Bogota and was not received in New York until this morning.)

The state of siege was proclaimed last night after troops cordoned off Colombia's capital building and stood guard throughout the country to suppress any further outbreaks of the bitter fighting which has raged for the past month between liberals and conservatives.

The president also suspended sessions of departmental assemblies and municipal councils. Widespread rumors of assassination attempts against political leaders were denied officially by the national radio.

Many business places in the center of the city closed early yesterday afternoon as troops began moving through the streets.

No Change

Persistence of these reports also is believed by government officials to be a major circumstance in causing gold to start moving from the U. S. to foreign countries recently. The metal had poured into this country for the last 15 years without interruption except in wartime.

One point of the rumors was that the administration, by raising the paper-dollar price of gold, would have a gain through increasing the value of the $24,500,000,000 stock of gold it now owns. The U. S. stock is about three-fifths of the world gold supply.

The "gain," so the rumors went, could then be used for issuing paper dollars to pay part of the $256,800,000,000 federal debt.
