

Pool Confesses Theft of Car

Edgar Allen Pool, on parole from the state penitentiary from a car theft charge, is back in county jail here after being arrested by Deputy Sheriff Scott and State Police Officer Regal on a similar charge. He has signed a confession.

It all started November 2 when Deputy Sheriff Scott cited Pool near Mehama to appear in district court for a traffic violation. Pool was in the stolen car at the time but report of the theft had not yet reached the officer.

That same night the stolen car was found parked on Mission street by city police. Pool never appeared in court to answer to the traffic violation but after a visit to Medford he returned to Salem and Thursday night was picked up by the police on a drunk charge. However, he eluded the policeman and made his getaway. Police notified the sheriff's office and state police and they picked the man up Friday morning at 904 S. 20th street.

In his confession he says he stole the car at Bend and after the citation ran it into Salem where he abandoned it.

Note Revives Hope for Flier

Anchorage, Alaska, Nov. 11 (AP)—Efforts to find a pilot missing more than two months were spurred today with discovery of a scribbled message in a lonely Susitna river cabin 50 miles northwest of here.

The pilot, Francis "Dizzy" Brownfield, has been missing since Sept. 5 when he failed to keep a rendezvous with a hunting party. His wrecked plane was found six days later.

The note was found yesterday by Lt. William A. Weed of the Tenth Rescue Squadron and Oscar Vogel, a trapper, when they flew to the scene in a helicopter after Vogel noticed on earlier flights that a chimney pipe had been put on the cabin without his knowledge. The cabin is one of a string owned by the trapper.

The undated note read: "God bless the man who built this cabin and left food in it. I, Francis Brownfield, was lost and sick and I opened the cabin. If I make it back I will pay the man for the food and shelter." The missing flyer's father, Hurl Brownfield, identified the handwriting as that of his son.

2 Hunters Killed By Single Bullet

Asotin, Wash., Nov. 11 (AP)—A single shot fired by an elk hunter accidentally killed two Spokane hunters 18 miles south of here yesterday, Asotin County Coroner Tom Jordan reported.

Dead are William R. Nolan, 40, and William E. Hamilton, 28. The coroner said the two men were standing back to back when Hamilton was struck below the heart by a bullet from the gun of James Jones, 43, Pullman, Wash. The bullet pierced Hamilton's body and hit Nolan in the leg, severing an artery. Nolan died almost instantly and Hamilton lived for about an hour.

Jones, a construction worker, said he shot at what he thought was a spike bull elk. When he went to tag it, he heard groans and found Nolan dead and Hamilton mortally wounded.

Open Meeting Of Collegians

Delegates from 13 Oregon institutions of higher learning began their deliberations Friday morning in connection with the 11th annual convention of the Oregon Federation of Collegiate Leaders.

Immediately after the group met in Waller hall on Willamette university campus at 10 o'clock the delegates adjourned to convene again for group sessions. Rudy Melone of the University of Portland had charge of the publications conference while Eileen Kruegel of Maryhurst and Dick Pizzo of the University of Portland directed the deliberations of the NSA and PSPA organizations.

During a luncheon meeting in Lausanne hall, the delegates were addressed by Dr. Robert Gregg, dean of the college of liberal arts of Willamette university. The afternoon was devoted to a study of student body constitutions and student body finances.

Dr. Victor Hugo Sword, interim pastor of Calvary Baptist church of Salem and for many years a missionary to India, will be principal speaker during a banquet in a downtown restaurant Friday evening.

Saturday's conference sessions will include a welcome by Dr. G. Herbert Smith, president of Willamette; an address by Governor Douglas McKay, election of officers and an address by Rev. Robert H. Sweeney, CSC, vice president of the University of Portland, during Saturday evening's banquet.

Interesting Gun Held by Sheriff

L. L. Welch, Beaverton, was in town Thursday wanting to get a gun back he left at the sheriff's office a few weeks ago. The gun was left with the sheriff because Welch and another man had engaged in an argument near the post office and went to the sheriff's office to have it settled. The upshot of it was Sheriff Young talked them into leaving the gun with him until they had their argument out.

The interesting feature as to the gun and why Welch is so anxious to get it back lies in how he acquired it. He says in 1944 while stationed with the USS Trenton at Lima, Peru, he was in a beach party to protect the US consulate during one of the spasmodic revolts in that country. The sailors disarmed some of the revolutionists, he said, and this was one of the guns taken.

Humphrey Speaker At Sunday Forum

Tom Humphrey, associate editor of the Oregon Journal, will be the speaker at a meeting of the Sunday Evening Forum at the First Congregational church Sunday night. Mr. Humphrey will appear under the sponsorship of the Young Adult group. He is a member of the board of the Oregon Prison association and the Oregon Mental Health association. In his Sunday evening talk here he will give inside facts about state institutions.

He has authored special articles under the titles of "More Power to You," "Taxes," "Kil-

Demos Ask Davidson To Run Against Morse

Portland, Ore., Nov. 11 (AP)—C. Girard Davidson, assistant secretary of interior, said today that he has been "approached" by Oregon democrats on the question of running for U. S. senator against Sen. Wayne Morse, republican, but that he has not yet made a decision.

Davidson indicated that his decision will be influenced by the outcome of the present shakeup in the interior department precipitated by the resignation of Secretary J. A. Krug and subsequent appointment of Undersecretary Chapman to succeed him.

"However, it is no secret that I have long wanted to return to Oregon to practice law. I maintain a lease on an office here."

Meanwhile, Monroe Sweetland and Nancy Honeyman Robinson, democratic national committeewoman and committeewoman for Oregon, sent a telegram to national party headquarters urging Davidson's appointment as undersecretary of interior to succeed Chapman.

The message to William Boyle, Jr., chairman of the democratic national committee, read: "We enthusiastically endorse the appointment of Undersecretary Oscar Chapman as the new secretary of interior. Undersecretary Chapman has long been a champion of the west and one of the nation's ablest exponents of conservation and of sound use of the underdeveloped resources of this region."

"Oregon's able C. Girard Davidson, assistant secretary of interior, has demonstrated his ability as an administrator. His statesmanship in the cause of the west has won him the respect and confidence of forward-looking Americans everywhere. Assistant Secretary Davidson will, we hope, be the president's choice as the new undersecretary. We strongly urge you to recommend Davidson's appointment to the president."

Sweetland confirmed that he and other leading Oregon democrats had discussed with Davidson the possibility of his running for the senate next year, however. "These are two different things," Sweetland emphasized.

Traffic Deaths Increase
Last-minute reports of traffic deaths on Oregon highways in October have raised the toll from 28 reported last week to 35, Secretary of State Earl T. Newbery said today.

The revised figures show that October was the second only to August as the worst month so far this year. "TVA, Miracle of Monstcr" etc.

ONG Recruiters To See Game

Portland bound Saturday to attend the Oregon State-Michigan State football team—their reward for winning the company recruiting contest—will be six men from Salem's Company B, Oregon National Guard.

Competing with nine other teams during the period beginning September 19, the six men of the winning team enlisted seven men in Company B during that time. The other teams enlisted the remainder of the total 14 enlistees.

Members of the team were the leader, Pfc. Ronald R. Lethin, Pfc. Darwin D. Michaels, Pvt. Richard A. Howard; Ret. Eugene B. McDonald, Ret. Ronald D. Parsons and Ret. Phil B. Ford.

Tickets to the game were presented the six men by the Salem Guard company and transportation to Portland is to be furnished by the National Guard. Friday night the Salem Guard company is entertaining with an Armistice day dance at the Salem armory with the public invited.

American Can Co. Found Guilty

San Francisco, Nov. 11 (AP)—A federal court has found the giant American Can company, which produces 49 per cent of the nation's tin cans, guilty of violating the anti-trust acts.

Federal Judge George B. Harris ruled yesterday that the company's requirements contracts and rentals of can closing machines on an exclusive basis are illegal.

However, Harris found the company had a limited right to make the deals. He accordingly ordered the company to reduce the length of the contracts from five years to one year. He reserved a ruling on whether to ban rentals of the closing machines.

The requirement contracts forced canners to buy all cans of a certain type from one manufacturer. Otherwise, they would get no cans at all.

The closing machine enables canners to put the tops on cans.

Wrong Channel Used in Crash

Washington, Nov. 11 (AP)—A second airport tower official said today it may be that the wrong radio channel was used for warnings to the P-38 involved in last week's air collision that killed 55 persons. If so, the P-38 pilot could not have received them.

This testimony came from Stanley Seltzer, chief of the control tower at Washington national airport. He had been asked if he could suggest any possible causes for the tragedy.

Seltzer testified before a six-man panel appointed by the Civil Aeronautics board to gather evidence on the crash of the P-38 fighter, flown by Bolivian Civil Aviation Director Erick Rios Bridoux, and an Eastern Air Lines DC-4 carrying 55 persons. Only Rios survived. On last Wednesday, opening day of the hearings, Glenn D. Tigner, the traffic controller handling radio contacts with the two planes, conceded in reply to a question that he may possibly have "keyed the wrong frequency."

McCoy Resigns Far East Post

Washington, Nov. 11 (AP)—President Truman today accepted the resignation of Maj. Gen. Frank R. McCoy as United States representative on the far eastern commission. He named Maxwell M. Hamilton, a foreign service career officer, to succeed McCoy.

Mr. Truman acceded with "reluctance" to McCoy's request to be relieved of his duties on Nov. 30.

"I am well aware of your invaluable contribution to the commission and of the debt owed to you by this government for the concrete accomplishments which have been achieved in the commission through your leadership," the president wrote McCoy.

Hamilton, who comes from Iowa, will have the personal rank of ambassador. The far eastern commission is represented by 11 nations and is a policy-making body for the occupation of Japan.

B-29 Crashes Near Indianapolis, Ind.

Indianapolis, Nov. 11 (AP)—An army B-29 crashed and burned today about 10 miles west of Indianapolis.

One of the survivors, Lt. Ernest Nation of Roswell, N. M., said that at least 7 or 8 of the dozen aboard parachuted.

The crash came soon after the No. 1 engine caught fire, the lieutenant said.

The plane, on a long range mission, had flown non-stop from Roswell, N. M. State police said two men were killed. They were not identified.

The crewmen parachuting and the plane wreckage were scattered over such a wide area that a definite check could not be made for sometime, state police reported.

U. of Oregon Contracts Let

Portland, Nov. 11 (AP)—The state board of higher education, meeting in executive session here today, awarded contracts totaling $861,832 for the new University of Oregon heating and electrical generating plant.

Work on the plant, for which $1,000,000 has been appropriated, is expected to start next week after contracts are signed. It is to be in operation early in the 1950 school year.

The general contract went to Lee Hoffman, Portland, on a low bid of $216,896.

P. S. Lord, Portland, with a bid of $558,323, was awarded the contract for boilers and auxiliaries, including piping.

W. S. Grasse, Portland, had the successful bid of $70,984 for the electrical contract.

The condensing equipment contract was awarded to R. H. Brown & Co., Portland, on a bid of $15,629.

The board voted to reject all turbine contract bids after a difference of opinion developed over whether the equipment offered in the low bid of the Worthington Pump & Machinery Corp. of New Jersey met specifications. Worthington's bid, low of 19 submitted, was $142,500.

Robert R. Carney of the attorney general's office, Salem, advised the board on the contract awards.

4 Killed in Crash On Ohio Highway

St. Clairsville, O., Nov. 11 (AP)—A two-year-old boy in a cowboy suit sat crying in the middle of the highway after a car crashed and burned today about 10 miles west of Indianapolis.

One of the survivors, Lt. Ernest Nation of Roswell, N. M., said that at least 7 or 8 of the dozen aboard parachuted.

U.S. route 40 yesterday. It was frigid, more than a bruised knee, which caused the tears.

About him were scattered the bodies of his father and mother, his uncle and aunt.

Michael Kingham was the sole survivor of an automobile crash which killed these people: Herbert Kingham, 26, and his wife Ann, 26, of Berger, Tex. Kenneth Betts, 26, of Berger, and his sister, Mrs. Wanda Ellis, 18, of Shawnee, Okla.

Corporal G. D. Miller of the Ohio highway patrol said the Texas car crashed into the rear of a car driven by John A. Sillers of Barnesville, O., then careened across the highway, upset and hit a car traveling in the opposite direction.
