Nation to Give Kids Special Day Saturday

(Editor's Note: Nationwide plans for national Kids' day November 19 were discussed by sponsors at a special news conference at which kids acted as reporters in place of their newsmen fathers. Here is the report written by David Kramp, an eighth grade pupil, who "covered" it for the Associated Press.)

By DAVID KRAMP

Chicago, Nov. 16 (AP)—There's a Mother's day and a Father's day and now there's going to be a Kids' day.

National Kids' day will be celebrated for the first time Saturday, Nov. 19. It will be held in succeeding years on the third Saturday in November. That means we won't get out of school for a day, but it may be changed to a school day later.

Funeral Services For F. L. Danison

Funeral services were held at the W. T. Rigdon chapel Wednesday afternoon for Fred L. Danison, late resident of Station A, Salem, who was found dead in his room Monday.

Danison, whose death was attributed to pneumonia by Les-ton Howell, county coroner, after an autopsy, was an attendant at the Oregon state hospital. He was found by another attendant and apparently had died Saturday or Sunday.

Born September 8, 1881, in Farmer City, Ill., Danison had lived in the Willamette valley area the past 35 years.

Surviving are a daughter, Gladys Marie Kroner of Portland; a son, Virgil Leroy Danison of Portland and two grandchildren, Leanne Danison and Coleen Colgan, both of Portland.

Fluctuation Blamed Bank Debit Decline

Fluctuation in state financial activities is responsible for the sharp decline in Salem bank debits during October as compared with the same month a year ago, bank officials explained Wednesday.

A report by the federal reserve bank showed that Salem's debits in October were $39,573,000 as compared with $62,152,000 for October of 1948.

Financial transactions for the month were virtually zero for October, said a bank official. He added that ordinary business transactions were normal and equal to those of a year ago. For the 10 months ending October 31, Salem bank debits were $587,654,000, or an increase of $9,777,000 over a corresponding period last year.

West Woodburn Unit Plans Holiday Affair

Woodburn—The West Woodburn Home Extension club held the November meeting at the home of Mrs. Lloyd J. Waymire. Speaker of the afternoon was Miss Eleanor Trindle from the county extension office who gave the lesson on "Unifying Home Furnishings." Mrs. D. D. Ballrot, vice president, had charge of the business meeting.

Refreshments were served by the hostess with Mrs. C. M. Shrock and Mrs. K. M. Bothum assisting. The next meeting will be a Christmas party at the home of Mrs. Roy Kuns.

$2 Million Case Before Court

Answer in the case of A. F. Kynell vs. Glenn R. Munkers, Pioneer Trust company and Aetna Guaranty company as filed by the guaranty company and Munkers sets out that these defendants desire the court to determine ownership of some $2,000,000 in securities involved in the suit. The guaranty company also asks the court to determine compensation it claims it is due for its services.

The bonds were recently turned over to the circuit court here by Pioneer Trust company and Glenn R. Munkers when Kynell filed suit asking for the bonds which had been left with the trust company for safekeeping. Kynell said the bonds were of a value of over $100,000 and he asked delivery of them or such sum in excess of $100,000 as may be their true value.

The Aetna Guaranty company in its answer says that prior to April 5, 1948, it negotiated for a bond issue aggregating $2,000,000 for Kynell Industries, Inc., and for mortgaging of the assets of the Kynell company to the guaranty company. It sets out in its answer that at various times it was directed to deliver certain of the bonds to various persons named and that it cannot deliver the bonds to any persons without hazard to its own stockholders and desires an adjudication as to the true owners of the bonds as well as sums alleged due to itself.

Slow Progress In Bridges Trial

San Francisco, Nov. 16 (AP)—Extremely intensive questioning of prospective jurors made progress barely perceptible today in selecting the 12 to try Harry Bridges for perjury.

Bridges, head of the CIO Longshore and Warehousemen's union, is accused of swearing falsely in getting his citizenship papers in 1945. The government said he was a communist and that he said he wasn't.

Federal Judge George B. Harris, the prosecution and the defense all took turns asking the jury panel searching questions—even as to the occupations of husbands of married daughters, in what clubs the veniremen held membership, what they read.

Bridges listened with great alertness, sometimes cupping his hand to his ear.

the accomplishments of youth; to seek additional interest from the public to combat juvenile delinquency and to help its victims to become useful citizens; and to help underprivileged children by giving them a chance to enjoy some of the benefits more fortunate boys and girls have.

Kiwanis clubs in various cities will raise funds to be used in their own communities to aid underprivileged children.

There will be a nationwide Kids' day radio broadcast Friday, November 18, with Bob Hope, Bing Crosby and Dinah Shore.

The defense appeared chiefly interested in any union affiliation which might be objectionable. Bridges, who headed some of the nation's bitterest strikes in organizing the CIO Longshoremen and Warehousemen, has made violent enemies in some other union quarters.

Seven men and five women had been seated tentatively in the jury box, and each then was subject to the intensive interrogation. After this is all over, the defense still can exercise ten challenges for removal of those they consider unsuitable, and the prosecution can oust six.

Bridges in on trial for perjury and conspiracy. Two officials of the union are on trial as co-defendants, charged with conspiracy. They are Henry Schmidt and J. R. Robertson.
