Oswego-Lake Grove Schools to Merge

Portland, Ore., Nov. 16 (AP)—Voters at special elections last night approved an Oswego-Lake Grove union high school district.

The new union high school district approved 1999-355, creates a union high school board and clears the way for construction of a new high school.

O. P. Bond, Mrs. Clifford Yost, Mrs. Homer Conklin, Mrs. George Quinn, Mrs. Paul, Mrs. Stauffer, the hostess, Mrs. Harold Holler and Miss Dorothy Bond, Mrs. Bales acted as secretary in the absence of Mrs. Oscar Wigle.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Wigle were in Brownsville at the home of her father over the week-end.

Seek End to Box Car Shortages

Portland, Nov. 16 (AP)—A campaign to end future boxcar shortages along Southern Pacific tracks was announced last night by a newly formed western Oregon shippers car supply committee.

R. E. Titus, executive vice president of Western Forest Industries Association, said committee members are being elected in five districts. He said cannery, fresh fruit and grain shippers had been asked to join the lumbermen.

Titus said this year's situation should be eased soon, but the committee was looking to the future years. "We feel we need a permanent solution to the shortage that seems to recur in Western Oregon every fall," he said.

Elections of committee members were under way in Grants Pass, Roseburg, Eugene, Corvallis and northern Oregon districts, he said. A meeting is planned for tomorrow night at Coos Bay by the Chamber of Commerce.

Titus said the committee would carry its case to the Interstate Commerce Commission, Rep. Harris Ellsworth, Roseburg, had said earlier this fall he

Viking Annual Gets High Rating

Salem high school's 1949 Viking Annual recently received word of a first class rating in the National School Press association contest conducted by the University of Minnesota at Minneapolis.

With comments such as "very neat" and "clear cut," the annual missed being "All American" by 30 points. Out of a possible 4,000 points the Viking received 3,970 points.

Out of 60 schools judged in the same class, only nine received "All American."

Last year's editor was JoAnn Waller and Don Young was manager. Both are now attending Oregon State college.

Child Rescued From Furnace Air Shaft

Portland, Nov. 16 (AP)—Two-year-old Gaylen Larson was able to smile today for photographers. But for a while yesterday he was screaming a lungful at the bottom of a furnace air shaft.

Firemen worked for 15 minutes to pull him out of the bottom of the cold air shaft. He would ask the ICC to check into boxcar allotments for Oregon. Lumber mills and some grain and fruit shippers have been complaining of the shortage of cars.

had tumbled about ten feet after his mother, Mrs. H. W. Larson had removed a grill while cleaning.

"He was screaming bloody murder, and I knew I couldn't get him out myself," the mother explained when she called the fire department.

Jobs as Portland Cops Go Begging

Portland, Ore., Nov. 16 (AP)—Portland's civil service board today said it couldn't understand why the increasing number of unemployed workers in Multnomah county wouldn't apply for jobs as cops.

The board said it had vacancies on the city force.

Building Oregon Together

These Oregonians are behind three growing enterprises in widely different fields. By taking advantage of Oregon opportunities to better themselves, they help make the whole state grow — creating more jobs, products, services and more opportunities for all of us in Oregon. To make it possible for individuals to more readily help themselves, constructive banking services are made widely available by banks in the First National Group. Thus we help Oregon grow—family by family, farm by farm and business by business. We invite you to come in soon and tell us how we can help you.

LET'S BUILD OREGON TOGETHER

MAKES TANKS AND OREGON JOBS

Approximately 30 sheet metal workers, machinists and welders are busy at work in the large Oak Street Tank & Steel plant in Ashland. This Oregon business was born in 1940 when Harry R. Morris (above) began making oil storage tanks in his father's garage to meet local demands. Today Morris' company makes tanks of all kinds, specializing in septic tanks; manufactures a motor steam cleaner for vehicles, and builds metal specialties. The firm's aluminum rowboats are popular on Rogue River Valley streams and lakes. For his company's banking needs, Morris uses constructive services of the Ashland Branch of First National.

JENKS HATCHERY STILL GROWING

When Mr. and Mrs. Enoch M. Jenks (right) started a chicken hatchery in 1910 on the pioneer Jenks family ranch near Tangent, their kerene incubators held 250 eggs. Today, with sons Marlowe (left) and Melvin in charge, the hatchery's automatic electric incubators take 213,000 eggs (12 tons) at a setting. There are 8,000 chickens at the Tangent breeder ranch and 10,000 turkeys on 300 acres near Corvallis. Quality chicks and poults are shipped as far as Hawaii. The Jenks', First National customers at Albany, consider services of the bank's agricultural field men especially valuable in helping their business—and Oregon—grow.

SONS EXPAND MILLING BUSINESS

A flour milling business founded at Island City in 1896 by the late Edward E. Kiddle continues to grow with the Grande Ronde Valley it serves. Present-day operators of the Pioneer Flouring Mills are the founder's sons, Fred E. Kiddle (left) and Merton W. Kiddle. Now there is a second mill at Union; elevators and grain warehouses at Imbler, Elgin and La Grande; and pea processing plants at Island City and Elgin. Approximately 20,000,000 pounds of Oregon flour, alone, is milled annually. Banking services of the La Grande Branch of First National play an important part in the Kiddle's extensive operations.
