

Pacific Northwest Exposition Proposed for Cities for '52

By PETER HAYES

Spokane, Wash., Nov. 17 (AP)—It's still little more than a dream, but a plan is afoot to stage a "near west" exposition in the northwest in 1952 that would attract at least a million visitors.

Details of the grandiose project were disclosed during the 22nd conference of the Pacific Northwest Trade Association. The two-day meeting ended here yesterday.

Lou Herron, a Seattle travel agency owner, is the father of the plan.

He was invited to explain it to a conference panel group on the tourist industry, and the members waxed so enthusiastically that a resolution was passed asking the president of the PNTA to appoint a committee to investigate further the feasibility of such an exposition.

Herron explained that the "near west" exposition would have a two-fold theme.

One would emphasize the advantages of living in the Pacific northwest, and the other would deal with the region's interests in far eastern countries. The exposition would be unique in that all communities of Washington and Oregon would participate rather than be confined to one city as were world fairs of the past.

Thus, visitors could journey from the rose show in Portland to the rodeo in Ellensburg, to a salmon derby in Seattle, to the apple blossom festival in Wenatchee and countless other communities that would have some colorful attraction. Big-time sports events and national conventions would be sought for the northwest for 1952.

And to stress the importance to the northwest of the far east (henceforth known as the near west), major northwest cities would sponsor certain countries. For example, Seattle would take the Philippines and work with that country to present an array of Filipino cultural, economic and entertainment exhibits during the exposition.

Herron thinks it would take two years to lay the groundwork for the "near west" exposition. That means general agreement by January, 1950.

Chambers of commerce and boards of trade probably would terry the ball at first and when interest had been stimulated, a special organization would be set up to put over the individual community's program for the year.

Such an exposition, Herron believes, would have plenty of advantages.

Naturally, there would be the influx of tourists and their dollars, which would serve to bolster the region's economy all down the line.

There also would be the indirect effect of serving to spur jobs of community face-lifting, completing highways and the over-all improvement of many other private and public properties.

Scout Troop Offers Program for Club

Salem Heights—The Salem Heights Community club will meet Friday at the Salem Heights hall at 8 o'clock.

The program will be put on by the Scout troop 19. The Explorer troop will have the opening ceremony, with each of the three patrols putting on a skit. Each Cub Den will participate in the program. The main event will be by the Order of the Arrow. Special guest will be American Legion post 136, which is the sponsor of the scout troop, and the Salem Heights Mother club, sponsors of the Cub pack. The American Legion will also take part in the program with special numbers.

The hall has been redecorated and new chairs purchased. New faces would like to be seen occupying the new chairs. Anyone living in the district is especially invited to attend.

There will be a discussion on the plan for a teen-age activity night. If you have teen-age youngsters and would like to plan entertainment for them, you are asked to attend your community club as any suggestions would be greatly appreciated.

Each family is asked to bring a pumpkin pie and coffee will be furnished by the club.

East Salem School Parents Start Holiday Treat Plans

East Salem, Nov. 18—Miss Muriel Bentson, special education instructor for the Salem school district was the speaker for the regular meeting of the Swegle Parent Teacher association held in the school auditorium. Musical numbers were two vocal numbers by Joan Steiner with her mother at the piano; two tap dances by Shirley and Donna Sommers of Salem, and several selections by the orchestra, with Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Roloff, Ralph Alsmann and Adam Kerber playing. Serving on the refreshment committee for the social hour were Mrs. Ralph Alsmann, Mrs. Harold Alderman, Mrs. Daniel Casey, Mrs. Ray Bernardy, and Mrs. J. C. Carpenter. Under new business at the executive meeting plans were made for the children's Christmas treat. At the regular business meeting plans for a Gray Y for the boys was again discussed.

Attending the all day meeting of the county social hygiene organization, held in the Mayflower hall Tuesday, from Middle Grove Mothers' club were Mrs. Joe Slimak, Mrs. Lewis Patterson and Mrs. Ernest Crum. Mrs. Jack Wikoff of Middle Grove is a member of the county committee, and was a speaker on the morning program. Others were Mr. Shearer of Portland and Mrs. Agnes Booth, county superintendent of schools. In the afternoon Dr. Willard Stone, Mrs. Stacey and the showing of the picture, "Human Growth" were on the program.

An honored guest for a family birthday party at the home of her son, Ralph Alsmann and family on Lancaster drive Sunday was Mrs. Stella Alsmann. All her children with their families, with the exception of one son and his wife, who are on a trip east, were present. A no-host dinner was served to Mr. and Mrs. Rex Alsmann of Portland; Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Alsmann, Sandra and Bobbie of Oregon City; Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Alsmann of North Santiam; Mr. and Mrs. Warren Empey, Donald, Darlene, Gary and Gordon of Junction City; Mr. and Mrs. Paul Shafer, Sharon and Roger of Salem; Mr. and Mrs. Adam Kerber and Darwin of Salem; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Grenz of Albany and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Alsmann, Carolyn, Ronald and Jerry.

Mrs. Richard T. Wicklander of Garden road is in the Salem Memorial hospital where she has undergone surgery.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Johnson are moving back to their home on Brown road from Turner within a few days. Mr. and Mrs. K. V. Keefer were living in the home.
