

Resisting Wife Slayer Hanged

Walla Walla, Nov. 18 (AP)—A mother's vain mile-consuming efforts to keep her son from walking the "last mile" failed last night and early today Wayne L. Williams was hanged for the slaying of his wife.

He was pronounced dead at 12:16 a.m. after being carried to the gallows strapped to a board. He had refused to walk and resisted as the black mask was placed over his face.

The snap of the trap-door brought to an end the desperate bid of Williams' mother, Mrs. Nora Williams of Everett, to stay the execution. Contending that her son had been insane for some time before moving to Washington from Tulsa, Okla., she appealed to the state supreme court in Olympia and then to lower courts at Walla Walla, Pasco and Yakima by application for a writ of habeas corpus. All were denied.

Williams, 32, was convicted of bludgeoning his wife, Hallie Lucile, 27, with a rock, then pushing her body over a steep cliff overlooking Puget sound near Mukilteo on June 17, 1948.

His four-year-old daughter, Mary Bernice, also was beaten and pushed over the precipice but survived.

Missionary to Talk to Baptists

Miss Laura Reddig, of the Cameroons Mission Field in Africa, will be at the Bethel Baptist church, North Cottage at D street, at 7:30 o'clock Sunday evening. She will show pictures and tell of her work there.

The Salt Creek Baptist church, near Dallas, will join the Bethel Baptists in this service. Miss Reddig is working in the same field as Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Schneider who went out from the Salt Creek Baptist Church about four years ago.

An offering for the State Young People's Missionary Project will be received at this service. Half of this will go for the Banso hospital where Miss Reddig works.

The public is also invited to another feature of the evening's activities. At 7 o'clock Oren Hornback will present an organ recital of old hymns on the pipe organ which was purchased by the Bethel Baptist Church about a year ago.
