

Moley Brands CVA Bill 'Death Sentence' for States

A clear piece of evidence of the welfare state's threat to our institutions is the proposal for a Columbia Valley Administration, declares Raymond Moley in the December Reader's Digest. His article is condensed from Newsweek.

Senate Bill 1845, which is actively being pressed by the Interior Department, applies not only to the immense Columbia watershed but to almost everything else in Washington and Oregon, Moley states.

"More autocratic and much larger than the Tennessee Valley Authority, the proposal would set up a monopolistic government corporation, well protected from the state governments of Washington, Oregon, Montana and Idaho."

CVA's three directors would be utterly free from local control and could "only with great difficulty" be removed by a new president.

The magnitude of the administration, Moley contends, would ultimately bring a vast horde of employees to the region, with full voting rights and under control of the director.

Since the Columbia valley is dependent on water for power, irrigation, navigation and lumbering, the autocracy of the CVA would mean power of life or death for every economic and political activity.

It could at will rearrange highways, railroads, bridges, mills and electric-light plants, publicly or privately owned.

With its huge properties removed from state and local taxing authorities, those agencies, thus impoverished, "would become mendicants dependent upon the CVA for doles."

"It is not only private enterprise that is proscribed in the CVA—it is the public's control of its own government," Moley states. "We would have to go back a hundred years to find a parallel to such serfdom."

St. Louis Festival Scheduled Sunday

St. Louis—The St. Louis parish announces its harvest festival for November 27. There will be a ham dinner served between 12 and 2:30 o'clock. Mrs. Clarence Grassman is chairman for the dinner, with Mrs. Lawrence Ferschweiler and Mrs. Emma Leith as co-chairmen. Entertainment is planned in conjunction with the dinner.

The 1950 Ford Deluxe Tudor Sedan combines the modern styling so widely acclaimed by the car-buying public with the comfort and economy demanded of a family automobile. Smart new treatment of the grille and parking lights and a colorful new crest—the first in Ford history—distinguish the front of the new models. Comfort features include new non-sag front seat springs covered with a new foam rubber cushion, additional head room and smoother, quieter V-8 and 6-cylinder engines.

Business Begins Recovery With Industry Strike-Free

By G. A. PHILLIPS

New York, Nov. 21 (AP)—Free of crippling strikes for the first time in two months, business and industry made a strong recovery last week.

Almost all important indicators of activity pointed higher, with the rebound most pronounced in the steel mills and coal mines.

Retail trade recovered sharply in areas that had been hard hit by the lack of purchasing power of strikers and registered a modest increase over the preceding week in other areas.

Overall volume however, was still under that of a year ago when the national economy was bouncing back at an annual gross product rate of $280,000,000,000, highest in history. (It is estimated to be currently running at a $250-$55 billion annual rate).

The stock market shook off a two-week decline and went into a sustained advance that more than regained all the ground lost during the repeated retreats in the closing stages of the labor troubles. Investment rate issues made a good showing in the bond department and the few new money issues that were brought out for investor appraisal received an approving nod.

One of the most significant events of the week occurred late Thursday. A buying drive of size and force developed suddenly in the New York textile markets. It sent prices higher and carried forward bookings far into next year for some types of goods before it ended.

The idea of good business the balance of this year and well into the new one apparently gained new recruits this week. A big gathering of radio manufacturers in New York brought out reports of booming business not only in television sets but in radios as well.

President Truman told a New England council meeting he believed the country was over the worst part of the adjustment "that had to come after the inflationary boom we experienced last year," and Jack Straus, president of the big Macy department store chain, told his stockholders the nationwide downward trend in retail sales appears to be at an end.

Dancer in Oxygen Tent

New York, Nov. 21 (AP)—Bill (Bojangles) Robinson, 71-year-old Negro dancer, remained in critical condition today at Columbia-Presbyterian medical center, where he is under treatment for a heart ailment.

No overnight change in his condition was noted. Robinson is in an oxygen tent.
