Little Patricia Owens Going Home for Probably Last Xmas

They will leave Sunday afternoon aboard the City of San Francisco. Patricia will have to make the trip in a portable oxygen tent.

A perky little blonde with puckish green eyes, Patricia has little strength left after a twolittle strength left after a two-year fight with the disease At first she had few symptoms— mostly little coughs.

Now the coughs wrack her whole body and sound as though they are tearing her little throat apart. She doesn't seem to mind and there is no pain.

"See my dolly?" she asks, holding up a doll with a ban-daged arm, leg and head. "That's Susan. She ran out in the street and an automobile

"That's Susan. She ran out in the street and an automobile hit her. I fixed her up."

"She likes to play doctor," Mr. Owen explains, "She's been in 'the hospital so much, had so many injections, so many pills—and she loves it."

Patricia will go directly to the University of Chicago hospital. Her mother hopes to go there with her.

"I know she would pass away much sooner if I'm not there," she says, "I want to have her with me this last Christmas."

Traffic Again Flows Over Stayton Bridge

Stayton — Traffic is a g a in flowing over the Third street bridge following two weeks of detour to allow for the building of a new structure to replace the worn one.

The wrecker of DeJardin Motors was brought into use by Norman Peek to loosen the asphalt-saturated planking of the old bridge and its timbers.

Under the supervision of Street Superintendent John Nightingale, a crew of five men worked on the new bridge. They were Frank Carter, Lyton Rice, Ed Sullens, S. J. Caskey and Darrel Hindes, all of Stayton.

The three Pacific coast states — Oregon, Washington and California—produce 34 per cent of the nation's lumber supply.

Sunnyvale, Calif., Dec. 3 U.B.—Little Patricia Owens, 4½, is going home to Chicago for Christmas. It will probably be her last. Patricia has been in an oxygen tent here for nearly a year, suffering from fibrocystic disease of the pancrease and lungs. The doctors say she has about 30 days to live.

But Patricia doesn't knowe anything about that. All she knows is that she is going for a long ride on the big train—going home for Christmas.

She learned about the big trip home the same day her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Owens, learned the tragic news they had been expecting—but praying against—for so long.

Knowing that death was near the Owens immediately decided on the trip home and Patricia started packing her little suitcase. in charge of the revival meet-
