Youths to Take Aptitude Tests

Ray Shields, route 4, Salem, and William Bear, route 1, Turner, will take the science aptitude tests in connection with the ninth annual science talent search.

The preliminary examinations will be held Friday, Dec. 16, at Cascade Union high school, District No. 5, under the supervision of Louis J. Uhrhammer.

The Science Talent Search for the Westinghouse Science Scholarships is conducted annually by Science Clubs of America, administered by Science Service. The purpose of the search is to discover and foster the education of boys and girls with skill, talent, and creative originality in science.

Forty boys and girls who lead in the preliminary examinations will be given all-expenses-paid trips to Washington to attend the Science Talent Institute for five days early next spring and take the final examinations for the scholarships. One contestant will be selected by a board of judges to receive a Westinghouse Grand Science Scholarship of $2,800 ($700 per year for four years). One other contestant will receive a Westinghouse Grand Science Scholarship of $2,000 ($500 per year for four years). Eight more contestants will receive Westinghouse Scholarships for $400 ($100 a year for four years) and $3,000 additional in Scholarships will be awarded.

As part of the preliminary examinations, each contestant must submit an essay about 1,000 words on the subject "My Scientific Project."

Stocks Turn Irregular

New York, Dec. 7 (AP)—Irregularly ruled the stock market again today. Price changes were well mixed with only a few issues breaking out of a narrow range.

Tendency to recovery was apparent in late dealings. Trading was somewhat more active than Tuesday with total transfers around 500,000 shares.

Ahead more than 3 points occasionally were Youngstown Sheet & Tube and Nickel Plate, both of which reached new 1949 highs. Also touching new tops were U.S. Steel and Westinghouse Electric. Others at higher levels included American Broadcasting, Union Carbide, American Smelting, and Southern Pacific.

Depressed fractions to more than a point were Montgomery Ward, Gulf Oil, Douglas Aircraft, Union Pacific, Anaconda Copper and Kennecott.

Sunshine Brings Rain Forecast

Salem enjoyed considerable sunshine Wednesday morning, despite the warning from the weather bureau that clouds are massing for a good rain seige in the northwest.

Wednesday was a bit chilly here, however, the mercury dropping to 29 degrees. Prospect is for more of the cool temperatures tonight with another below freezing mark due.

The Willamette river was up a bit here Wednesday, the local reading being 3.2 feet, but it was expected to start down again during the day. Rains upstream over the week-end boosted the river waters some.

Roy Nelson Promoted—Roy Nelson, who has been livestock theft investigator at Vale, will take over the new job of state supervisor of livestock theft prevention. The announcement was made today by the state department of agriculture. Nelson, who has been with the department five years, will have headquarters in Salem.

Groves Clears

Walter indicated to reporters that the date of any further hearings would depend on when Wallace wanted to have his say. What Groves testified to Groves told the committee:

1. The Russians got some atomic material during the war, but that he doesn't know how many shipments "because we don't know how many leaked through."
2. He found evidence of Russian spying within a month of the time he took charge of the atomic bomb project in 1942
3. He knows the lend-lease administration was under "pressure" to give the Russians "everything they sought" and that a "great deal of influence" was brought to bear. But he said he did not know who exerted the pressure.

Story Told by Jordan
Hopkins was at one time lend-lease administrator. A close friend of President Roosevelt, Hopkins went to Russia to consult with the Soviets on their needs to hold their front against the Germans.

Major Jordan's wartime job was to aid in lend-lease movement of planes to Russia. Great Falls was a main basing point on the air route to Russia via Alaska.

He has told the Russians taking out suitcase after suitcase load of documents as well as atomic materials. He said some of the documents were state department papers.

Groves said there was a "great deal of influence" and pressure put on the lend-lease administration to give the "Soviets everything they sought."

But he said he didn't know who applied the pressure. Hopkins was the lend-lease administrator.

Groves said the only shipment of atomic material about which he knows was made in the late winter or early spring of 1943.

He said he was unable to stop it or didn't do so because at the time it might have attracted "undue attention."

At that time, even the fact that the United States was working on atomic fission was a deep secret.

The committee has received testimony from its own investigators that there were at least three war time shipments of atomic materials to the Soviets.

As to the spying, the general said the espionage efforts were directed by the Russian embassy toward American laboratories.

Efforts were made to get the atomic secret, he said, at Berkeley, Calif., Chicago and New York City.

"We had enough evidence of espionage," Groves said, "to convince any prudent man that espionage was going on, that it was directed by the Russian embassy."

Homecoming Dinner For Chemeketa Lodge

The annual homecoming dinner of Chemeketa Lodge No. 1, IOOF, will be held Wednesday evening at 6:30 o'clock with William Gardner in charge assisted by members from Chemeketa lodge and Salem Rebekah lodge No. 1.

R. L. Applegate is the new noble grand with Clem Olsen vice grand; Lloyd L. Hockett, secretary and Chris Sumpter, treasurer.

The lodge team recently went to Aloha to install officers of the recently instituted Aloha lodge No. 256. The degree team also conferred the third degree on a class of 35 candidates.

Edinburgh is sometimes called "Old Smoky."

Love Finds a Way—Under restrictive and topsy-turvy circumstances, Richard Hotchkiss, 5, celebrated a birthday in Cleveland, O. A protective pane of City hospital glass cut him off from his parents who are stricken with infantile paralysis. Even so, Richard and his sister, Marj, Ellen, 3, and their grandmother, Mrs. Myrtle Mulhern, climbed to a balcony outside the hospital contagion ward, and there, with brave but awkward gestures, imitated happiness. Inside, helpless on beds pushed together for the occasion, Bill Hotchkiss, 34, and Merye Hotchkiss, the mother, managed a smile. The couple was stricken less than a month ago. (Acme Telephoto)

Court Refuses

As to the contention in the complaint that the plaintiffs, if both elections carried, would be burdened with a duplication of taxes and regulations, the court indicated this was merely speculative as to the outcome of the election and a matter to be met in event it happens.

Whether a quick appeal will be attempted to the supreme court by Vickers and the other petitioners favoring the Detroit election is not known.

The whole controversy originated when an election was held to incorporate as Detroit an area extending from the western edge of that town along the Santiam river east to include Idanha. This was defeated 206 to 99. Shortly after Ed-ison Vickers and others filed new petitions for the incorporation of Detroit, which the supporters of the Idanha proposal charge were gerrymandered so as to exclude from the proposed area virtually all of those voting against Detroit in the original election, leaving a great majority of those who voted for it.

The second Detroit election was set for December 13.

As a result Idanha people came in with a petition of their own for incorporation of Idanha, including much of the area left out in the second Detroit petition. The county court accepted these petitions and set the Idanha election for December 9, four days ahead of the Detroit election, even though the Detroit petitions had been filed first. The court took the attitude that a vote already had been held on the Detroit proposal and defeated, and that Idanha was entitled to its first chance. This brought the suit instituted originally by Vickers alone, charging the court acted illegally and capriciously in putting the Idanha election ahead. This suit was dismissed because of failure to bring it in the name of the state. The present suit followed brought by the district attorney, Vickers and some 58 others as relators.

Robert C. Scott, son of Mrs. Dora Firth of 2200 Park avenue has been promoted to the rank of sergeant. The sergeant enlisted in the air force in August, 1948, and is stationed at Fort Benjamin Harrison air base, Indiana. He is expected to arrive in Salem December 21 for a two-week leave at the home of his mother.

Use State Benefits
More than 500 Oregon World War veterans are now drawing state educational benefits while attending schools, colleges and related instruction courses connected with on-job and on-farm training, the state department of veterans affairs reports.

Of the group receiving benefits about 70 per cent are receiving the new $50 monthly amount authorized by the 1949 legislature for full time undergraduate college students. The remainder are drawing on the basis of $25 a month for part time studies in high school and vocational studies and the like.

More than half of the students are enrolled at the University of Oregon and Oregon State. The remainder are studying in 42 other Oregon institutions and 19 schools in other states.

Four veterans are taking regular high school studies at Astoria, Beaverton, Gold Hill and Sandy. State benefits also are going to students receiving instruction related to their on-farm and on-job training in classes at Hillsboro, Milton-Freewater, Prineville, Eugene vocational school, Salem high and Portland apprentice school, and to full time vocational students at Oregon Technical Institute, Klamath Falls, and Eugene vocational school.

Frat Honors Inker—Ernest Inker, Salem student at Oregon State college, has been named vice president of Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity on the campus.

Praises Work Of Boy Scouts

That the Boy Scout movement is the most effective method for boy betterment was the statement of L. A. White of Albany as he addressed the Salem Rotary club Wednesday noon concerning the organization.

White, head of the advancement committee for Cascade area council for Boy Scouts, stated that scouting may take its place alongside the home, church and the school as the outstanding character builders of the country.

Scouting is one of three organizations that has received a charter from the federal government, pointed out White, the others being the American Red Cross and the American Legion.

After eulogizing the men who give of their time and their money, thereby becoming friends of scouting, White spoke of the "enemies" of the organization. These persons, he said are those who are "too busy" and too indifferent to lend a hand in directing the boys toward the paths of good citizenship.

A number of scouts and cubs from the troop and pack sponsored by the Salem Rotary club attended the luncheon.

Li Tsung-Jen

President Li, a lean man of medium height, with sparse, graying hair, sparkling eyes and a constant smile, is accompanied by his wife, Madame Li Tsung-Jen, and his sons, Li Yau-Luen and Li Jackson, and several aides.

At a public reception here in San Francisco's Chinatown, largest in this country, Li said: "Sees Cause for Hope"

The communist threat to China and Asia is great but there is cause for hope. "I expect all Chinese will support the nationalist government. This is not a civil war. It is a war of aggression directed by the third international. We're not only fighting for China. We're fighting a world wide campaign."

He blamed the present plight of his government on (1) the rise of communism and Russian aid to Chinese communists and (2) the government's past failures to work hard enough for the people's welfare.

A formal statement distributed by Dr. Kan Chieh-Hou, his personal representative in Washington, declared the whole Asian continent and country beyond was faced with the danger of communist rule should the present conquest go unchecked.

People for Liberty
Li assured "our American friends that the Chinese people are determined to preserve their liberty." He declared his absence from China in no way affected the campaign against the communists and "as soon as my physical condition permits, I shall return to China and resume my personal direction of the struggle."

But developments in communist overrun China make it improbable that Li will be able to go home in the foreseeable future.

AMA Names Practitioner of the Year—Dr. Andy Hall, 85, of Mount Vernon, Ill., who was named the outstanding practitioner of the year by the American Medical association, receives medal from Dr. Ernest E. Irons, president of the AMA, during the association's meeting in Washington. (Acme Telephoto)
