Columbia Paper Criticizes Ike

New York, Dec. 7 (AP)—The Columbia university campus newspaper has criticized Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, Columbia president, for stating that many Americans were sacrificing independence for the "illusion of security."

The Columbia Daily Spectator chided Eisenhower for his remarks before the St. Andrews society and said: "If the speech was a trial balloon, we think public reaction will soon flatten it."

Some persons, the newspaper editorial said, interpreted his remarks as a "test of public sentiment by a possible nominee in the next presidential election."

Deriding his remark that perhaps the cavalier wanted "champagne and caviar when they should have beer and hot dogs," the editorial said that "being content with beer and hot dogs has never been part of the American tradition we know."

The newspaper said that the search for security in employment and civil liberties "can hardly lead to the 'slothful influence' which the General deplores."

Many peoples of the world find the eating of insects essential to surviving.

Patricia Owen Gets Holiday Gift of Hope on Home Arrival

Chicago, Dec. 7 (AP)—Four-year-old Patricia Owen, who came home to Chicago for what was expected to be her last Christmas, got a pre-holiday gift of hope Tuesday.

Dr. George H. Poncher, head of the pediatrics department at the Illinois Research hospital, examined the girl and reported that "this is not a hopeless situation."

"I think that there is a lot that we can do for her," he said.

Patricia is suffering from a rare malady known as fibrocystic disease of the pancreas. Complications have caused her lungs to fill partially with thick fluid impairing her breathing and requiring an almost constant use of an oxygen mask.

When doctors in California thought she might not have long to live, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Owen, decided to grant her last wish—a Christmas celebration with her cousins here.

Tuesday she was carried from a train wrapped in a blanket decorated with a large orchid. A waiting ambulance whisked her to the hospital.

Poncher did not minimize the dangers of Patricia's condition and said that she was "very critically ill."

Alien Smuggling Ring Broken; Two Nabbed Operating Planes

Washington, Dec. 7 (AP)—The Justice Department announced today it had broken up an alien smuggling ring with the arrest of two Grand Rapids, Mich., men at Miami, Fla.

Arrested on charges of smuggling in aliens from Havana, Cuba, by plane were Gaylor Saxton, a pilot, and Charles Cramton, both 26.

The arrests were made by immigration officers working in cooperation with the FBI.

Three aliens allegedly smuggled into the country already have been taken into custody on charges of illegal entry. The department said 23 others, including four children, would be rounded up before the week-end.

A justice department spokesman said that coordination of the Miami, New York, and Havana immigration officers led to the arrest of Ignatz Stern Fried, 27, and his sister, Ella Stern Fried, 21, and Henryka Czlenowa, in New York.

The Frieds were taken to Miami where they pointed out a private airport where they had landed after a flight from a field near Havana.

The spokesman said that this and other information led to the arrest of Saxton and Cramton.

He said the pair operated with planes rented from private owners or plane service companies in Miami. Saxton was accused of flying the aliens from Havana to Miami. Cramton allegedly made the arrangements for those brought in to proceed to New York by plane or train.

The two Michigan men, if convicted, face maximum penalties of $2,000 in fines and five years imprisonment for each alien brought in.

The spokesman said that the 26 aliens allegedly involved were from the Balkan countries and paid from $500 to $800 each to get into this country.

There was no smuggling charge for children under six, he said.

In the radio broadcasting trade any daytime dramatic story in serial form is labeled a "soap opera" largely because the original sponsors were soap companies and some still are.

Eight Attend Forestry Meet

Eight members of the staff of the local state forestry office will be in Portland December 8, 9, 10 to attend the 40th annual Western Forestry and Conservation association meeting.

Included in the group at the meeting will be private, state and government forestry people from the state of Oregon, Washington, Idaho, Montana and California, and foresters from British Columbia. The address of welcome will be given by Acting Governor William E. Walsh.

Coming up for discussion at the three-day session will be forestry problems of the area, including the spruce bud worm and slash burning.

Attending from Salem are Lynn F. Cronemiller, Homer G. Lyon, Jr., John B. Woods, Jr., Vance Morrison, Marvin Heland, Dwight Phipps, Ted Rainwater and Dale Bever.

Long-Distance State Calls Drop

Since State Budget Director Harry Dorman called on the state departments to cut down on long distance telephone tolls three months ago, there has been a marked drop, he reported today.

Dorman said the cut has amounted to nearly 30 per cent.

During November long distance tolls on calls put through by state agencies in the capitol group amounted to $2,096.17. That compares with $3,030 in September. Dorman particularly asked state officials and employees to limit calls to less than 10 minutes whenever possible. He said that charges for calls dropped from $707.30 in September to $336.20 in November.

Dorman also said expenditure for travel by state officials and employees was being reduced. In the four months ended November 30 all state agencies spent $43,650 for out-of-state travel, com-

The answers to everyday insurance problems? By SID BOISE

QUESTION: My sister-in-law had a valuable watch stolen while she was asleep on a recent trip. She had put the watch under her pillow and when she awoke, it was gone. My husband carries a Residence Theft insurance policy and the insurance man told us we were covered for thefts of personal property when away from home. If I had my watch stolen under the circumstances I have described would the insurance company pay the loss?

ANSWER: Yes, under the terms of a theft policy which covers loss of personal property while away from home, the insurance company would pay for loss of the watch as you have described it.
