

Santa MAGICIAN AND THE

STRIDING UP THE STAIRS WAS SANTA CLAUS.

(Chapter 8)

SANTA PLANS A PARTY

Henry and Mr. Dilly, with Serena in his arms, struggled through the deep snow to the little white cottage. Henry knocked at the door. There was no answer. He knocked again and again. Still there was no answer.

Henry was disappointed. "Maybe this isn't Santa Land after all," he said.

"Willy, nilly," reproved Serena. "Where else would you find flying reindeers?"

Just then Mr. Dilly spied a folded paper under a milk bottle on the cottage steps. He picked it up and read it aloud.

"Mr. Milkman, please leave 114 extra quarts of milk tomorrow as we are having company. Mrs. Claus."

"Goodness," said Mr. Dilly. "Do you suppose we are the company she expected?"

"If we are do you think we will have to drink all that milk?" asked Henry in alarm.

Just at this moment a funny little dwarf, his pockets bulging with nails, hammer and Christmas lights, came rushing up on the porch dragging yards of ribbon and wires and tinsel behind him.

"Out of the way! Out of the way!" he shouted fiercely. "How can I do anything with thousands of people standing in my way?"

"I beg your pardon," said Mr. Dilly. "There are only two of us and a duck. We will gladly step out of your way if you'll tell us where we can find Santa."

"You'll have to look for yourself," snapped the dwarf.

By this time the dwarf had dragged up a step ladder and was tacking Christmas lights from one end of the porch to the other.

"But, who are you?" asked Mr. Dilly.

"I am Patrick Tweedleknese," said the dwarf. "And if you have come to the party you are two days early and might just as well go home again."

"Joy, muiroy!" cried Serena. "I love a party!"

Tweedleknese looked at Serena with disgust. "I expect there'll be all kinds of queer characters at the party. But even I didn't expect a talking duck."

"She's a rhyming duck," boasted Henry.

"Well, get her away from here whatever she is."

Suddenly a fine firm voice cried,

"Tweedleknese! Behave yourself!"

And there, striding up the steps, was Santa Claus himself, all red and round and happy-faced.

Santa pulled Henry into his arms and gave him the finest hug he had ever had. He shook hands with Mr. Dilly and greeted Serena.

"The party is not until day after tomorrow," said Santa. "But welcome anyway."

"We didn't know about the party," protested Henry.

"But we will be glad to come if we are invited," piped up Serena.

Then Mr. Dilly explained to Santa who they were and why they had come to Santa Land. "I thought you would know all magic and could show me how to get a rabbit out of a hat. I'll never be a successful magician until I can do that."

"Well, now," said Santa. "I will try to help you but you must wait until after the party. We're so busy getting things ready—"

"But we're invited, I'm the only busy one."

"Don't mind Tweedleknese, laughed Santa. "He doesn't mean any of his harsh words. Come in now and get warm before the fire."

Seated before the fire he told them about the party he was having. "All my friends have been mad at me because they say they never have any Christmas. So I've invited them here for a Christmas party of their own."

"Who are your friends?" asked Henry.

Santa threw out his arms. "Goodness! You know them all: the Halloween witches, the Easter bunny, Tom Thumb, Red Riding Hood, Simple Simon, the Seven Dwarfs."

Henry's eyes nearly popped from his head. "You mean those people are really coming here?"

"Those and many more. Everyone is invited except the Wiggle Wiggles. They are some horrid elves even at a party so I sent them no invitation. Now I must go to the shops for awhile. Make yourselves at home."

After Santa had gone Henry cried, "Won't it be wonderful to go to such a party?"

But Mr. Dilly did not hear a word. He was staring at a little black box in a corner beyond the chimney. On the box were two words. They said, "Santa's Magic."

"Oh, my," whispered Mr. Dilly who loved magic more than anything in the world. "Do you suppose Santa would mind if I took one tiny peek into his box?"

Next: A Terrible Loss.

SO 'AUNT HARRIET' IS WANTED FOR MURDER. HUH? THAT KINDA CHANGES YOUR PLANS, DON'T IT, 'CHOKER'?

I-T MAY STAY HERE LONGER THAN I EXPECTED, MAGGIE! MUCH LONGER THAN MRS. BRAVINSKI WILL I FEAR!

HOWEVER—THINGS COULD BE WORSE—NOBODY EVEN SUSPECTS WHERE I AM!

I'M LOOKING FOR A SPOT CALLED 'THE BARGE INN'. BOY—DO YOU HAPPEN TO—

SURE / I KNOW THE PLACE! RUN BY QUITE A CHARACTER!

"NAME O' MOPTOP MAGGIE!"

MOPTOP MAGGIE?

CHATTER CHATTER

WOOF WOOF

I SEEN YOU GUYS AROUND—WHERE YAH THINK ME? WHAT ARE YUH? COPPERS? I CAN'T DO NOTHIN'—I AIN'T TALKIN'—SEE?

WE'RE TALKIN' YOU FOR A LITTLE RIDE, CHUM—

AND WE'RE NOT COPPS—

YOU'D THINK HE CONTROLLED EVERY VOTE IN TOWN THE WAY OUR ILLUSTRIOUS MAYOR, OBIE SLIDER, COW-TOWS TO HIM!

I'LL BE FRANK WIT' YOU GUYS—I DON'T LIKE D' LOOK O' OHS—NOT A-TALL—

YOU COULD GET TO LIKE IT A LOT LESS, IF YOUR MEMORY SHOULD FAIL YOU—

OH, I'M SURE HIS MEMORY WILL PROVE VERY GOOD—OUR TREATMENTS ARE FINE FOR RESTORING THE MEMORY—

THAT GUY NOCKER GIVES ME A PAIN, FANNY. HE MOVES INTO TOWN ONE DAY AND THE NEXT DAY HE'S RUNNING IT.

YOU'D THINK HE CONTROLLED EVERY VOTE IN TOWN THE WAY OUR ILLUSTRIOUS MAYOR, OBIE SLIDER, COW-TOWS TO HIM!

HE'S GOT CHARM, RUDY. HE DOESN'T SMILE VERY OFTEN BUT WHEN HE DOES HIS WHOLE FACE LIGHTS UP.

A HALLOWEEN PUMPKIN HEAD DOES THE SAME THING AND IT HASN'T ANY BRAINS EITHER!

HEY WAIT!

EVERYBODY KNOWS YOU LOVE ME—MADLY—WILDLY—EV'RYBODY KNOWS THEY'D GET ME—YOU'D GLADLY BREAK YOUR NECK!

SOB!—CAN YOU... ONLY ACCORDIN' TO WIDDER HOOK'S PLAN—TH' WAY 'GIT YU'—IS IT BREAK YOUR N'K?

HERE GOES??

IT'S INHOOPIN OF YOU! ACCORDIN' MAE—TO KILL TH' BOY YOU LOVES—IN SECH HORRIBLE WAY!!

B-BUT ACCORDIN' T' TH' PLAN, HE MIGHT NOT GIT KILT!

HELP! HELP! MY BOY FELL IN THE WATER!

BE CALM LADY, I'LL SAVE HIM!

DID HE COME UP YET?

YES, HE WENT DOWN AGAIN!

DID HE COME UP?

YES BUT HE WENT DOWN AGAIN!

WELL, IF HE COMES UP AGAIN WHILE I'M DOWN, TELL HIM TO COME DOWN AGAIN, I'LL WAIT FOR HIM!

YOU KNOW YOU HAVE ANIMALS HERE? REAL, LIVE ANIMALS?

YES, RUSTY. I ILLUSTRATE A NUMBER OF ANIMAL STORIES FOR BOOKS AND MAGAZINES. COME ON—I'LL SHOW YOU.

THIS IS A YOUNG AFRICAN BUCK, LENT TO ME BY A BIG ZOO. MR. MENZEL, MY ANIMAL MAN, WANTS TO SPEAK TO ME. I'LL BE RIGHT BACK.

I DON'T KNOW WHAT AILS RAJAH, MR. BRUSH. HE WON'T TOUCH THAT FROZEN MEAT, HE AIN'T ET FOR TWO DAYS.

H'M-M, THAT'S ODD. I'LL HAVE A LOOK AT HIM.

HI, TOOTS! COME IN!

LIKE MY NEW HAT?

YEAH, SWELL!

BE CAREFUL... IT'S RATHER FRAGILE.

WHAT'VE YOU LINED UP FOR YOUR FIGHTING LUMBERJACK FOR HIS NEXT FIGHT?

AH—LUMBERJACKING. LOCALLY MORGAN—I'M PREPARING HIM FOR BIG-TIME BOXING!

OH, BY THE WAY—A FAMOUS SWISS WATCH COMPANY HAS ASKED ME TO INVENT A NON-WINDING WREST WATCH, AND I HAVE AN INSPIRED IDEA—USING THE MAGNETIC NORTH POLE TO KEEP A WATCH ALWAYS WOUND!

COME NOW, MARTY! NEVER AWAKEN A SLEEPING GUY OR A WOMAN'S CURIOUSITY! WHY WOULD IT SPORTING FOR YOU TO GO ON AS LUCIA? INTENDED AND SWEETLIGHT'S HEAD MAN?

BECAUSE—I-I HAD LOST MY ENTHUSIASM FOR THE FIR-R-RST TITLE—WHICH MADE ME FEEL UNCOMFORTABLE IN R-R-RETAINING THE SECOND!

HOW DO YOU ACCOUNT FOR YOUR COOLING OFF TOWARD LUCIA?

I THINK WE SHOULD START BACK TOWARD SHELTER, BUNNY!

A LOGICAL SUGGESTION—IF WE DON'T WANT TO THUMB A RIDE WITH SOME PASSING ESKIMO!

NOT TO CHANGE THE SUBJECT, MORGAN—
