

The Story of Christmas Told By Great Artists of History

THE NATIVITY: Van Dyck (1599-1641)—"And she brought forth her firstborn son, and wrapped him in swaddling clothes, and laid him in a manger; because there was no room for them in the inn."

ADORATION OF MAGI: Laib (15th Century)—"And when they were come into the house, they saw the young child with Mary his mother, and fell down, and worshipped him: and . . . they presented unto him gifts."

ADORATION OF THE SHEPHERDS: Garofalo (16th Century)—"And it came to pass, as the angels were gone away from them into heaven, the shepherds . . . came with haste, and found Mary, and Joseph, and the babe lying in a manger."

Detroit Schools Join For Christmas Party

Detroit—The annual school program combining both high and grade school students was held at the new grade school gymnasium.

The directors of the pageant, Mrs. Eli Bangs and Mrs. Eva Wise, the directors of the choir, Mrs. Charlene Hanan, director, and Miss Mildred Gooch as assistant, Mrs. Mildred Ray as accompanist, Mr. Hoyt in charge of the background scenery, and of course all the teachers, janitors and even bus drivers concentrating to make the thing a success.

The main characters in the reader did a superb job. Beverly Smith as Mary, Richard Hansen as Joseph, Red Wright as innkeeper, Stanley Timms, Don Ellingson, Donald Ketchum and Quentin Finley as shepherds, Joyce Watkins as heralding angel, the three wise men, Terry Ferguson, Donald Bray and Robert Lady were outstanding in their solo work as well as doing a good job at pantomiming to make the pageant of the Christmas story a fine success.

While Shepherds Watched Their Flocks

Bethlehem is a long way from the Pyrenees. And the Nativity was more than nineteen centuries ago. But shepherds have changed but little.

Shepherds are lonely men of the broad steeps. They have time to think and hope and pray. They learn to love the humble and helpless creatures of God. They are men of courage, yet men of mercy.

Perhaps that is why God chose the Shepherds to hear the Story first!

But as they hastened toward the little town to "see this thing which is come to pass" the glorious News could have meant no more to them than it can mean to every one of us.

And the King they worshipped in a humble stable, we may worship today—and always, in the churches of our community.

HOLY BIBLE

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Churches Make Special Preparations for Christmas

Scenes and music, old in tradition but carrying the appeal to old and young that has been in evidence down through the centuries, will be re-enacted over the week-end as Salem churches observe the anniversary of the birth of the Christ child.

With altars and sanctuaries lighted with tapers and in other ways appropriately adorned, choirs and Sunday schools will present cantatas, pageants and musical programs, all dedicated to the "Prince of Peace."

Many similar programs were held last week by churches of various denominations.

Jason Lee Methodist church will present its junior department at 9:45 a.m. Sunday in a program befitting the Christmas advent of Christ. Later Dr. Louis C. Kirby will preach on the subject "His Name Shall be Called Wonderful."

Saint Paul's Episcopal observance will begin Christmas eve with a song service of the Holy Eucharist at 11 o'clock. The junior choir, under the direction of Miss Ruth Bedford will sing at the 9:30 Sunday morning service and the senior choir at 11 a.m., directed by Ronald Craven. Communion will be received at the 7:30, 9:30 and 11 a.m. services.
