

Einstein's Relativity Theory Divided in 2 Parts

New York, Dec. 27 (AP)—Einstein's relativity theory is divided into two parts, special, written in 1905 and general, written in 1915.

The special theory pointed out that everything in the universe is in rapid motion and that motion increases the mass of a body. He said it is not possible to measure both the speed and the mass, or weight, at any given instant. So he wrote general mathematical laws to cover this trouble. These showed the possibility that time is not the same in different parts of the universe.

Albert Einstein

General relativity was the outgrowth of the early studies. General relativity rewrote Newton's gravitational laws in a mathematical form, so that it wasn't necessary to measure and weigh to calculate what was happening.

Einstein's laws agree with Newton's so far as gravitation's effects on earth are concerned. But Einstein's laws said that when gravitation is stronger, as in the sun and stars, some things happen that don't occur on earth.

Light, he said, would be bent more near the sun's gravitational pull than had been expected from Newton's laws. Light on the sun has a longer wave length than on earth, that is, light is a bit redder there.

Years after Einstein wrote these gravitational laws, they were verified during an eclipse of the sun, by discovering that the rays of light passing near the sun really bent as Einstein theorized. That is more than Newton predicted.

Einstein's general relativity theory also led him to claim that space itself is curved. That has not been verified by observation. Einstein has said that the way gravitation acts is partly due to the curvature of space.

Lebanon Finds Credit Is Good

Lebanon—A brochure by auditing firms handling the city books showed the city council $102,000 "in the black" and the financial condition of the city listed as good.

The present deficit was listed as $102,607.89, with present city improvement of $204,000 eligible for financing.

Financial Chairman Delbert Scott told council members that the auditing firm had recommended disposing of some special funds which makes city bookkeeping needlessly cumbersome.

Councilmen also heard a letter from the state sanitary board of their intention to soon prepare a final order for abatement of pollution from the Santiam river.

The city now has under draft a complete sanitary system to serve the entire area, including pumping stations and sewage disposal plant.

Japan Shaken By New Quakes

Tokyo, Japan, Dec. 27 (AP)—A new earthquake shook the area north of Tokyo today in the wake of heavy shocks yesterday that killed eight persons, injured 50 and damaged 2,500 houses.

All of the shocks were felt in Tokyo but there were no casualties here and no damage other than a few broken windows. Heaviest hit were the cities of Utsunomiya, and Imaichi, 70 miles north.

At least two standing freight trains were derailed and fissures as long as 90 feet opened in the ground in the area of the two cities.

The new shock struck the same area at 6:56 p.m. (3:55 a.m. EST). Observers in the Utsunomiya area said it was slightly less violent than the strongest of yesterday's tremors.

Reports from Imaichi, a city of 17,000 said a family of four was killed when a house was buried by a landslide touched off by the tremors. The shocks continued through last night and the inhabitants slept in the streets.

A report by the Kyodo news agency said a 100-acre section of a village in Niigata prefecture shifted slightly, splitting a schoolhouse, in the wake of the quakes.

The shocks were felt in Tokyo and Yokohama, where some windows cracked. At Nikko, 100 miles north of Tokyo, 230 feet of railroad track were twisted by the shocks, disrupting train traffic.

At the same time ancient Mt. Aso in central Kyushu island spewed forth huge boulders and a cloud of ashes in a series of six eruptions. The ashes rose more than 600 feet and drifted some 30 miles away.

Boy's School Trio Caught, Brownsville

Lebanon, Dec. 27 (AP)—Three boys who escaped from the state training school at Woodburn yesterday were captured near here today, after a series of car wrecks.

State police said the boys stole a car at Silverton, wrecked it at Aumsville, stole another there, and wrecked it at Brownsville. They were captured at Brownsville.

The boys were identified as Donald Roach, 18; Richard Henry Botewig, 15; and Dennis K. Bunnell, 14.

They ducked into underbrush at the Silver Creek falls state park yesterday and escaped. They, along with the other boys who did not go home for Christmas, were taken on an outing to the park as a holiday.

S. has been tentatively approved by a special board of immigration examiners, but the final decision has been left to Washington officials. (Acme Telephoto)

Christmas Week Heat in New England

Boston, Dec. 27 (AP)—A Christmas week "heat wave" brought record-high temperatures in New England today.

And along with it came strange reports:

Crickets out in Waterbury, Vt.; haying in Middlebury, Vt.; lilacs budding in Massachusetts; maple syrup sap running in Vermont; and pansies threatening to run rampant in Salem, N.H.

Worcester, Mass., reported 59 degrees above zero—breaking a 54-year-old record of 58 for the day.

Boston's 60 degrees before noon equalled a record set in 1895.

Nebraska Signs To Play Oregon

Lincoln, Neb., Dec. 27 (AP)—The Universities of Nebraska and Oregon have signed for a two-game football series. Nebraska Athletic Director George (Potsy) Clark said today the Huskers will meet Oregon at Eugene September 27, 1952. Oregon will play in Lincoln either in 1953 or 1954, depending on how Nebraska can work out its schedule.

Baby Drinks Stove Oil, No Ill Effects

The stove oil looked good enough to drink. Besides it was in a whiskey bottle, and that kind of bottles were to drink out of, weren't they?
So Richard Jonesburg, one year old, tilted the bottle and drank.
First aid found that Richard had suffered no really bad effects, but was pretty sleepy from the fumes. So they just kept
