Vatican Recordings Bring Holy Year to Stay-at-Homes

Vatican City, Dec. 29 (AP)—The voice of Pope Pius XII as well as the tone of the bells of Saint Peter and music for the solemn ritual of canonization have been recorded for worldwide distribution.

These recordings will enable many who cannot come to Rome for the 1950 holy year to hear in their own homes the voice of the pontiff and the ritual and music of some of the Catholic church's most solemn ceremonies.

The recordings range from a tiny disc made by vatican radio, which can be sent as a postal card, to a sumptuous album of the canonization and solemn papal mass.

The tiny postal recordings contains the apostolic benediction ("Urbi et Orbi")—to the city of Rome and the world, which the pontiff pronounces from time to time, usually at the end of his more important addresses. It is in Latin.

The album of canonization and solemn papal mass is being produced in the United States by Kyrie Recordings of New York from recordings made by Vatican radio during canonization ceremonies in Saint Peter's Basilica in 1947.

This—one of the most ambitious recordings ever made of ceremonies of the Catholic church—includes the voice of the pope, music by the celebrated Sistine and Julian choirs of the vatican, the flourish of silver trumpets sounding upon the arrival of the pontiff in the Basilica for the canonization ceremony and the bronze tones of the bells of Saint Peter's announcing to the world the creation of a new saint of the church.

In addition, vatican radio directors said that other records of the pope's voice in various languages—selected from his speeches—will soon be produced by companies in America which have acquired recording rights.

Lilienthal, who is scheduled to step out of the AEC chairmanship February 15, made his views known at the second general news conference held by the commission. Mr. Truman has not announced Lilienthal's successor.

Asked if he thought an atomic energy agreement could be worked out on an international basis, Lilienthal said: "If you mean in the very near future, it seems to me prospects are remote."

Then he added that long-term prospects "are good." Attempts in the United Nations to establish a workable arrangement of world controls have failed during the past four years.

A majority UN plan, based largely on American proposals, has encountered unyielding opposition from the Soviet Union, which has balked on the full inspection system demanded by the majority.

Lilienthal was asked if he knew of any basis for international agreement except that which provides for "full and free inspection."

He replied, in effect, that he did not.

Pepco Tax Dispute Settled in Court

Portland, Ore., Dec. 29 (AP)—The U.S. district court today approved a compromise payment of $900,000 for alleged federal tax deficiencies from the Portland Electric Power company.

The compromise authorized payments by the Portland General Electric company and the Portland Traction company which are held in trusteeship by Portland Electric.

The compromise was reached after the federal government filed tax claims of more than $5,600,000 for the years 1942 through 1947.

The total amount of the settlement was $895,733 plus interest at $172 daily for part of the time and $107 daily for the balance.

The plan was approved by Estes Snedecor, special master of the U.S. district court. Judge Alger Fee was expected to concur Thursday.

Salem Man Invents Gadget To Keep Car Engine Heated

By DOUGLAS THOMAS

Feeling chilly these days? Wish you could build a fire under the gas buggy to get it moving when the mercury is down? A Salem man disclosed today that he had quit worrying over these ideas and done something about the problem of cold weather and his car.

The man is Tracy W. Cox of 3797 Portland road whose idea has been registered with the secretary of state as the "Northwind." The equipment described by that registration name is a heating unit, tubing and a thermostatic control which keeps the engine in his car at a few degrees below operating temperature.

Here's how the "Northwind" works.

The Cox car is equipped with a regular electrical socket plug for a 110-volt line. The power is connected when the car is put in the garage for the night or an hour or two before the auto is to be used.

The electrical energy supplies heat to an element which is connected with the automobile engine water system. Installation has been adapted so that only the water in the engine itself is heated. Water in the radiator of the car cools off as usual.

With this system, the temperatures of the engine can be maintained at approximately 100 degrees or as high as 125 degrees. Continuous heat when the vehicle is not in use eliminates cooling and the subsequent condensation of moisture on engine parts. A thermostat controls the temperature.

Another aim of the installation is to eliminate the need for warming an engine by running. The amount of water in a cold engine is several times

Cordon Says No CVA Bill in 1950

Portland, Dec. 29 (AP)—Sen. Guy Cordon, here today en route from Roseburg to Washington, said he thought there would be no CVA legislation enacted at the coming session of congress.

The reason, he said, was that no hearings have been held in the northwest. Without hearings, it is unlikely that congress can act before adjournment which he thinks will come in August.

Touching on a wide range of topics in an interview, he said he expected partisan politics to be evident in the coming session, especially since Sen. Lucas of Illinois, democratic leader, and Sen. Taft of Ohio, republican leader, both are up for re-election.
