Streets Sanded To Aid Autoists

In the interest of public safety both city and state highway crews Sunday night and Monday sanded streets and highway approaches to the city that were in the most dangerous condition because of frozen slush and snow.

On the streets a very fine crushed rock was sprinkled from city or state trucks, and at the intersections the city scattered coarse salt.

Among other places the state highway department treated the Willamette river bridge to a coating of gravel. Among city streets where gravel was applied were Glen Creek road, Cascade drive, South Commercial, Lincoln, Rural the Cherry avenue approach, and those streets having approaches to railroad grade crossings.

The precaution is not a new one, but is followed every year if weather conditions make it necessary.

Montana Hit By Cold Wave

Helena, Mont., Jan. 2 (AP)—Montana's worst cold wave of the winter swooped down from Canada on a north wind and hit with a numbing 32-below-zero temperature this morning. "And it's getting colder," the U. S. weatherman said as the arctic air mass moved across the state, headed for Wyoming. He predicted low temperatures of 30 to 40 below zero for Montana again tonight.

At least four people were killed in auto accidents on snowy highways when the storm began moving into Montana late Saturday and yesterday. A strong north wind whipped up blizzards, piled snow into drifts and cut visibility at many places.

The weatherman warned of local blizzards in northern and southeastern Montana again today and tonight.

It will remain cold tomorrow, he added.

Great Falls' 32 below was the coldest temperature reading in the nation early today. Cut Bank reported -31, Havre -25, Lewistown -23, Helena -21, and Miles City and Billings -11.

Missoula and Superior—both in Western Montana—were the only weather bureau stations in the state reporting above-zero temperatures last night. Missoula had 9 above.

Dallas Policeman's Family Loses Heavily in Night Fire

Dallas, Ore., Jan. 2—Fire destroyed all possessions of the James Born family here Sunday night, the second family to lose everything within the last few days.

Born, a member of the Dallas police department, was moving his family into the Art Abel property at 1011 Brown and after unloading furnishings, returned to their former home in North Dallas for his wife and two children, Timothy, one year old and Sally Ann, 4 years old.

When they returned they found the place a mass of flames. Born lost his uniform, new clothing he and his wife had acquired over the holidays, and all Christmas presents for the family. The loss included a new refrigerator.

Only the shell of the dwelling remained. Abel, who is a Dallas photographer but lives in Salem, has not yet been reached and it is not known if the property was insured. There was no insurance on the Born possessions.

The Born family had been taking care of the Joel Miller family since they lost their place on a home fire in the Pioneer district early last fall. Mrs. Born and Miller are brother and sister.

At present the Born family is at the home of Paul Kitzmiller, chief of the Dallas police department.

Catch of Oregon Fish Poor in '49

Portland, Jan. 2 (AP)—The state fish commission officially reported today what all the fishermen had suspected: The total catch in Oregon this year was bad.

The catch during the major fishing season—April to October—was only 34,500,000 pounds, compared to an average 54,000,000.

Off-shore catches dropped the worst: 9,200,000 pounds of chinook salmon compared to an average 12,000,000. The bottom fish catch was 5,000,000 pounds below average, albacore tuna down 4,000,000, and pilchard down 5,500,000.

Only three species were caught in above average numbers: Crabs, clams, and white sturgeon.

Master Fish Warden Arnie J. Suomela said the low salmon catch was expected, since this year's runs were from a low cycle. "Next year's runs will undoubtedly be greater," he said.

Suomela said the sardine fishery "is badly in need of protection," but predicted it might improve soon, now that California is starting a conservation program. Ninety percent of the sardine catch is taken there.

Six New Peers Picked by King

London, Jan. 2 (AP)—King George VI swelled the ranks of Britain's peers by six new members today and extended his annual New Year's honors to many others selected by the labor government.

The highest honor in the list, that of viscount, went to the 64-year-old laborite defense minister, A. V. Alexander, who once made five shillings (70 cents) a week as a clerk.

Four other labor members of the house of commons were named barons, advancing them to the house of lords.

They were Thomas W. Burden, YRN railway freight agent; Dr. Leslie Haden Guest, 72, physician and author; Joseph Henderson, veteran railway union official, and John Wilmot, 54, whom Prime Minister Attlee fired as minister of supply in 1947.

A fifth member on the barons' list was Sir Alexander Steven Bilsland, 57, Glasgow banker and chairman of the Scottish council, a government organ which helps in the development of Scottish industry.

No baronetcies were created. Knighthoods were conferred on 35 persons.

The long list of honors included award of commander of the British empire to the British actor, Leslie Banks, currently appearing in New York in the musical success, "Lost in the Stars."

The awards to Viscount Alexander and the new barons created five vacancies in the house of commons which normally would be filled by special elections.

Leadbetter Firm Penalized by NLRB

Washington, Jan. 2 (AP)—The Leadbetter Logging company, Oswego, Ore., was penalized by the national labor relations board today for refusing to hire a certain workman.

The NLRB said the firm had engaged in an unfair labor practice by refusing to hire Robert Irwin Cool on its boom operations. The firm was ordered to offer Cool a job now, and to pay him for any salary he might have lost because he was refused the job in 1948.

The CIO International Woodworkers of America had charged that Cool was refused a job because of union activity. He was a former employe of the firm, who quit in 1947, and was turned down when he applied for a job again in 1948.

The company contended that Cool had been insubordinate, but the charge was not upheld by the NLRB.

Portlander Killed—Clarence T. Hays, 77, of Portland, died in that city Saturday as a result of injuries received Friday night when he was struck by an automobile driven by William B. Brown, 17, of Salem. The accident occurred at NW 23rd avenue and Johnson street.

It Seems Inevitable—The first arrest by Salem police for 1950, as in bygone years, was based on an alleged violation of ordinance 3,389, section 1. That's the city's way of saying the accused had consumed too much alcoholic fluid. The dubious honor of being the first entrant in the 1950 records was to Clifford Henry Hill, Salem. He posted $15 bail.

J. H. Nickerson Dies in Hospital

James H. Nickerson, Salem resident since 1912, died Sunday at the Salem Memorial hospital following a serious illness of six weeks.

Nickerson, a Spanish-American war veteran, had suffered from arthritis and been hospitalized since 1922. A member of the IOOF lodge, he had been attending the annual homecomings at the Salem lodge in a wheelchair for many years after he was hospitalized. He joined the Samaritan lodge, Portland, in 1905.

Born in Franklin, Pa., April 20, 1882, Nickerson moved to Portland at the turn of the century. Before coming to Salem in 1912 he was a teamster and a cub reporter for the Portland Oregonian. He came to Salem as a teamster for the city and later farmed in this area until stricken with arthritis. During World War I he was a secret reporter for federal agents. He was married to Ella Hoffman at Yamhill.

Surviving are four daughters, Mrs. Ethel Snyder of Canby, and Thelma, Winona and Sarah Nickerson, all of Portland; and a sister, Mrs. R. C. Williamson of Millhill, N. J.

Mercy Killing OK'd by Citizens

Candia, N. H., Jan. 2 (AP)—A country doctor charged with murder in the mercy killing of a pain-racked cancer patient held a vote of confidence from most of his townsfolk today as he awaited grand jury action.

Support for Dr. Hermann N. Sander, 40, came from Protestant clergymen, fellow physicians and neighbors in this small town.

Dr. Sander is charged specifically with injecting 10 cubic centimeters of air into the veins of Mrs. Abbie Borrota, 59, as she lay near death from cancer. Hospital records show, officials said, that four such doses were injected in succession.

He is free under $25,000 bond awaiting deliberation of the case tomorrow by the Hillsboro county grand jury.

A statement signed by 603 of this town's 650 registered voters expressed "continued faith in the integrity" of the doctor and praised him as "devoted to the highest interests of human welfare at all times."

Presented the document by neighbors at the doorway of his home, Dr. Sander was moved visibly and said in a voice barely above a whisper: "Thank you. Thank you from the bottom of my heart."

Layman Free Under $1000 Bail for Pinball

Earl Edward Layman, proprietor of the Cedar tavern in Detroit, was free Monday under $1000 bail on a charge of promoting a lottery in connection with a pinball machine.

The machine, seized as evidence when three deputies served Layman with a warrant Saturday night, is identified as owned by Willamette Amusement company. A sign on it says it is leased for amusement only.

The machine, manufactured by the Bally company, is a one-ball device which credits free plays.

The complainant against Layman was signed for the district attorney by a private persons who alleged that cash had been paid out for free games won the device.

Layman is tentatively scheduled to appear in district court Tuesday.

Truman Fights

Senator Connally (D-Tex.), chairman of the senate foreign affairs committee, said last night that he had heard of these reports. He had no further comment.

Senator Knowland (R-Cal.) said he had not even heard of the reported proposal. Knowland, a champion of support for nationalist China, recently visited Formosa.

He and other congressmen have pointed out that the island is a potential link in an American Pacific chain against possible communist aggression.

Formosa has a number of first class air fields which were taken over from the Japanese. Military experts say planes from these fields could destroy Clark air force base in the Philippines as the Japanese did in 1941. Formosa based aircraft also could bomb U. S. air installations on Okinawa.

Few Accidents

Although the force of the blow failed to topple the pole, the impact caused the cold-tightened wires to snap within a space of two or three hundred feet. The broken circuits cut electric power to homes and business houses in the northern section of the city.

Portland General Electric linemen went to work immediately on the task of repairing the damage. The primary lines involved carry 11,000 volts.

Treacherous ice was listed as the cause of two auto-train accidents which sent at least two persons to the hospital.

The first occurred at the intersection of 12th and State streets Sunday night. A vehicle driven by Gary William Stark, 1090 North Cottage, was struck by a Southern Pacific engine. Stark and a passenger, Lauren Spence, were both taken to Salem Memorial hospital for treatment of deep cuts. The engineer of the train, who said he did not see Stark's machine, was identified as R. W. Renwick of Portland.

At about 9:30 a.m. Monday, a car driven by Larry Fitzwater, 370 Fisher road, skidded into a Southern Pacific engine at the intersection of Union and North Liberty street. Fitzwater was accompanied by his wife and a small child. The smashed windshield on the passenger side indicated that the woman had been pitched against it by the impact. The engineer of the switch train was A. J. Walker of 480 North 20th.

Numerous minor accidents involving dented fenders were reported Monday, but none of them were of a serious nature.

Lewis Heads Contractors

In a recent meeting of the board of trustees of the Contractors Exchange of Salem, William Lewis was unanimously elected to the presidency. Charles R. Shaw was elected vice president, Louis Neuman treasurer and Stanley Hammer secretary.

The Salem Contractors Exchange with its over 120 members, which was organized just three months ago, is gaining momentum and working effectively in service for the contractors and building material firms of Salem and outlying vicinities.

All trades and skills are well represented by sub-contractors as well as general contractors. Because of the rapid growth of the organization, the board of trustees is planning an expansion program which is not too far in the offing.

President Lewis announces that the board is also making plans to accommodate the enlarged building program which is foreseen for the Willamette valley in 1950.

15 Babies Born

The snowbound father of a baby born to Mr. and Mrs. Luther Roberts, of Willamina, at the Bartell hospital in Dallas, has not yet seen his infant as he is reported snowbound in his home area. The baby, a 6 lb. 9 1/2 ounce girl, was born at 10:53 o'clock and has not yet been named. Her seniority is nearly twelve hours over that of a boy born to Mr. and Mrs. Marvin French, of Falls City, at 11 o'clock at night. The birth was also at the Bartell hospital.

Woodburn is still to get into the contest with many prizes waiting the firstborn in 1950 to Woodburn residents and also the firstborn of residents in the Woodburn area, with births to be at the Woodburn hospital in order to be eligible for the prizes.

Salem merchants, in cooperation with the Capital Journal, have offered a variety of presents for the first born here while Dallas is remembering not only the baby but the parents in its annual "baby derby."

Two New Year Babies

Salem merchants, in cooperation with the Capital Journal, have offered a variety of presents for the first born here while Dallas is remembering not only the baby but the parents in its annual "baby derby."

Two New Year babies are reported by the Lebanon Community hospital, a girl, Susan Kay, to Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Burmaster, Lebanon Rt. 2, born at 2:47 o'clock and a girl, Pamela Rae, born at 10:56 o'clock to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wells, 587 Morton. Both births were in the morning.

Albany almost missed out with only one birth reported and that not until 4:20 o'clock in the afternoon. A boy was born to Mr. and Mrs. Carl Halma, of Albany, at the Albany General hospital.

Collins Retiring

When Collins took over as district manager he said that rural telephone service in this section was haphazard and unsatisfactory.

"One of my first objectives was to develop the rural telephone service to bring it to a par, as nearly as possible, with the service in the urban areas" he said. "When I first came here country lines were strung to trees and antiquated instruments were in use."

As he steps out of his office in a month's time, Collins has the satisfaction of having developed a rural service in this area equal to any in the country, telephone executives declare.

In addition to improving telephone service throughout his district, Collins has also tried to train his personnel in its dealings with the public in such a manner as to place the telephone company in the position of an active citizen of the area.

He himself has been extremely active in Salem civic affairs. Three times he served as president of the Salem Breakfast club; has served on many important committees, has been on the board of the Community Chest and at present is chairman of the Marion county republican committee.

Collins has also been active in promoting sports for youths, and was one of the principal leaders in establishing softball teams in the valley.

"I have enjoyed working and living in Salem and have made it my home" he said. "I shall do all possible to aid in its advancement in the years to come."

Marion County Farm Income Stays High, Riches Reports

Marion county's 1949 agricultural income did not equal or surpass the record high of 1948, but at approximately $27,549,000 it was still much above pre-war levels and will rank with the top counties in the state, Harry L. Riches, county extension agent, reports. The county farm income hit an all-time high in 1948 when the total reached about $30,000,000, Riches said. Other Oregon counties with comparable incomes from sale of farm products are Klamath and Umatilla.

Miscellaneous specialty crops with $5,814,000 will top the list for individual Marion county farm items as a source of income for 1949. In second place will be dairy products with returns of approximately $3,526,000.

In 1942, the agricultural income reached $17,218,000.

Other commodities which returned more than three million dollars for 1949 include livestock, and eggs and poultry.

In the leading specialty groups are such commodities as hops, mint, sugar beet seed and flax. By general commodity divisions, the following is a complete breakdown of sources of Marion county agricultural incomes for 1949: Dairy products, $3,526,000; livestock, $3,251,000; eggs and poultry, $3,333,000; miscellaneous animal products, $193,000; forage crop seeds, $1,846,000; grain and hay, $1,377,000; tree fruits and nuts, $2,562,000; miscellaneous specialty crops, $5,814,000; farm timber, $681,000; potatoes, truck crops, $2,269,000; small fruits, $2,204,000; and specialty horticulture crops, $413,000.

From these figures it is shown that nearly 40 per cent of Oregon farm income is derived from animal and poultry products. The other part is derived from various crop products with hops, mint, sugar beet seed and flax bringing in a large share of the income.
