Campus Clippings

By GERI BOWLES

WILLAMETTE UNIVERSITY

Willamette has been buzzing this past week concerning the announcement of higher room and board fees for next year at Baxter hall, the four fraternity wings, Lausanne hall, and Bishop House. Although many students had really expected the hike in prices, the news, as revealed in the latest Law School bulletin, caused quite some stir and comment on the campus, particularly among the men, who have started an inquiry into "what happened?"

The women have decided to let the men handle the affair while they wait for the results, keeping their fingers crossed against a raise in tuition charges.

Spirit at the basketball games is gaining momentum with each succeeding week. The all-sophomore varsity squad has lived up to everyone's expectations and hopes, and enthusiasm is high, which should aid in keeping the fighting team in top spot. Tonight students will have another opportunity to see the squad in action on their home court when Willamette meets Lewis and Clark in a two-game series.

Cap and Gown, senior women's honorary, has planned a home-made candy sale, and rosters will have their choice of either pinocche or fudge, "with lots of nuts." Half-time entertainment will be an added attraction of the game. Saturday night, the Bearcats will visit the Pioneers to complete the series.

"Blue Champagne" has been chosen as the theme for the annual inter-dorm formal which will be held in the Labor Temple tomorrow evening. Pink elephants and champagne glasses will adorn the walls, and the dance floor will be overhung with a false ceiling. Special lighting effects will add to the atmosphere. Blue and silver programs, with a drawing of a cocktail glass, will be presented to all couples, and "sparkling" punch is planned for refreshments. The dormitory women will receive special later permissions and they have invited all unaffiliated women town students to the affair.

Announcement was made this week by Russ Tripp, ASWU president, of the executive committee which will assist Duane Denny, Freshman Glee manager, in preparation for the annual songfest. Tom Yates, senior, Margaret Guice and Wes Ishikawa, juniors, will comprise the group. Also appointed by Denny was Phil Ringle of Salem, assistant Glee manager, Barbara Baker, secretary and Nancy Lawson in charge of programs. This year's glee plans apparently are off to a successful and enthusiastic beginning.
