

Victory-Minded Bearcats Face Crucial Road Trip

Willamette university's cagers, riding the crest of four consecutive wins, face the most serious portion of their drive to the Northwest conference pennant late this week and early next.

If Coach Johnny Lewis and his sophomore crew can win three games in four days during their swing through eastern Idaho and western Washington, they should be well over the hump.

The 'Cats tangle with the College of Idaho Coyotes at Caldwell Friday and Saturday nights before backtracking to Walla Walla for a single contest with the Whitman college Missionaries.

The trip will be made by train, leaving for Caldwell at 6 o'clock Thursday night. A light workout will be held Friday afternoon. On the return trip the cagers must get up early enough Sunday morning to catch a 5 o'clock westbound train for Pendleton where they will transfer to Walla Walla.

Coach Lewis plans to take 13 players and Assistant Coach Jim Johnson. The only ones to be left behind will be Nice and Girod.

While Willamette was winning a pair from Lewis & Clark 69-57 and 70-61, College of Idaho took two from Northwest Nazarene, 57-51 and 60-51. Earlier the Coyotes split two with Lewis & Clark.

Linfield's Wildcats will make their eastern invasion this coming week end, playing Whitman Friday and Saturday nights and Idaho Monday evening.

Ted Loder of Willamette has taken a commanding lead in the individual scoring race with his 89 points in four contests. Bob Pollard has chalked up 68 points in five games for second honors while Ed Rooney of Pacific is third with 66 in five.

Vikings Face Two Big Six Meets after 35-29 Winner

Coach Harold Hauk's crew, shaky victors over Corvallis with a 35-29 margin, looked forward today to two more Big Six league hurdles in store this week.

Thursday, the Vikings travel to Eugene to meet the Axemen in McArthur court. The game will be broadcast to Salem fans by direct wire over KOCO.

Saturday, the Haukman will host the Bend Lava Bears for their fourth Big Six league contest.

The duller period was the third when only seven points were checked in on the scoreboard—three for Salem and four for the Spartans.

Defensive tactics of both teams tended to slow the game. The Spartans used a close zone defense while Hauk's modified man-to-man proved too tight for the Collegeville ball handlers.

Doug Rogers, who paired with Walling at forward, was high point man in the game with eleven.

Loren Mort's Jayvees hit the victory trail again by topping the Spartan juniors, 52-43, in the preliminary game.

Wayne Walling, Vik forward, and Larry Chamberlain tossed the Salem back into the game, and Jim Rock, center for the locals, shoved the team out front at 7-6 by stealing the ball, dribbling the length of the floor and netting a two-pointer.

After that, Salem was never in danger. The score at the end of the first period was 13-9 for the Vikings. They led 22-17 at the half and 25-21 at the three-way buzzer.

Corvallis went off to a 5-0 lead on field goals by Roy Strand, a smooth-working, six foot, three inch center, and Gary Babcock. Strand also collected a free throw during the early heat.

Oregon Frosh Win Test Cage Game Under New Rule

Eugene, Ore., Jan. 18 (AP)—The University of Oregon freshmen won a 71-53 basketball game here last night against the independent team representing the Oregon Lumber Sales in a game staged as a test of the new two-minute rule.

The test game called for a 15-fouls-per-team limit with the opposing team getting a bonus shot for every foul over 15 committed. The Frosh committed 14 fouls, but the Lumber Sales squad fouled 21 times to give Oregon six bonus shots in addition to the regular free throws.

The foul limitation rule was devised by Bob Burnett, assistant basketball coach at Stanford university. Stanford freshmen and Jayvees are playing some 40 games this year under the new rule to give it a thorough test.

In the new rule, no player is benched when he makes his fifth foul. The rule has its strongest effect near the end of the game in that the losing team would not deliberately foul an opposing player for fear of having two points, instead of one, scored against his team.

Barkittens Nip Sacred Heart

Sacred Heart gave Willamette university freshmen a close scrap Tuesday night as the two quints engaged in a "March of Dimes" benefit basketball game on the St. Joseph court.

The yearlings built up an 18-15 half time lead and then maintained the margin to win 36-33.

Concordia, originally booked to play Sacred Heart, had to cancel out on account of snow.

Isaak Waltons to Feed Wild Ducks

Hundreds of wild ducks were scheduled to receive a free meal at the expense of the Salem chapter of the Isaak Walton league Wednesday forenoon.

The ducks, cut off from their natural feeding grounds along the South River road slough by snow and with the water rapidly freezing over were found to be in distress.

The Walton leaguers volunteered to provide grain for the fowl and Wednesday forenoon the first assignment was due to be scattered by Rex Sanford, president of the Salem chapter and Lloyd Reinholdt, long associated with the wild life movement.

Since the present spell of weather may hang on for some time, the job of feeding the thousands of ducks will be an expensive one. In this connection the Walton league is seeking financial assistance. Those wishing to help are asked to leave contributions at White's feed store, 265 State.

Rebel Colleges Charge Sanity Code Unworkable

(This is the second of three dispatches on the NCAA Sanity Code squabble. Today's installment gives the views of the Sanity Code's opponents.)

By STAN OPOROWSKY
(United Press Sports Writer)

New York, Jan. 18 (AP)—The southern bloc opposing the NCAA sanity code as it exists today feels that the code simply does not work.

The regulations are so strict, the southerners say, that the nation's colleges are offered only two real choices—to violate the code openly or to violate it on the sly.

One stipulation in the sanity code is that a needy athlete—and somehow they are all "needy"—must work for any money he needs for room and board while attending college. That sounds fine, but President Colgate Darden of the University of Virginia points out, "A football player simply does not have enough time to attend classes, study, practice football and work. We all know what a time-consuming thing football has become."

Bill Alexander, veteran athletic director at Georgia Tech, feels the same way.

"The absolute minimum a man can spend is $77.78 a month at Georgia Tech. He is in class until the afternoon. He practices football until 6 or 6:30. He studies at night.

"Under the sanity code, where can he get the money? I'll tell you where—it's a 'gift' job from the alumni or the money state highway department jobs. Is that the spirit of the sanity code?"

The chief opponents of the sanity code are the Southern conference and the Southwest conference. They say they do not want an "open market, sky's the limit" type of football, but they want a realistic plan where any athlete can at least get free room and board. Under the sanity code, room and board must not be paid for the athlete.

Several years ago the Southeastern conference made a daring decision: It would attempt to cut out hypocrisy and cut-throat competition by making a set of rules which took into consideration the value of football stars.

It allowed each school to pay a boy $15 a month CASH for incidental expenses as well as his room, board and tuition. A screen of professionalism rocked the plan, and it eventually was scuttled when the NCAA adopted the strict sanity code.

The southern bloc insists it is for sanity, but not for this code. This gives rise to the question, how much do football players actually get paid? From inside sources, that will be taken up tomorrow.

NCAA Bars Violators From Sponsored Slates and Meets

Chicago, Jan. 18 (AP)—The National Intercollegiate Athletic conference set about proving today that it has teeth in its bite after it. It snapped back again at six violators of its sanity code—Virginia, Virginia Tech, Virginia Military Institute, Maryland, Boston college and Villanova.

They are barred from scheduled and NCAA sponsored meets under the organization's constitution. It is as simple as that. At least, that is what the new NCAA president, Hugh C. Willett, of Southern California and Secretary-Treasurer K. L. (Tug) Wilson, Big Ten commissioner, think.

It is all a matter of reminding NCAA members that they brush up on the constitution and abide by what it says in black and white—the "conditions and obligations of membership" clause. This requires that members schedule intercollegiate contests "only with institutions which conduct their Athletic programs in conformity with the principles set forth in article three (the sanity code)."

After a stormy New York convention, last week, many observers wondered where the NCAA's teeth were. Seven schools were branded as code violators, a charge which they admitted. When it came down to voting about their expulsion, they survived by a margin of 25 ballots.

Mt. Angel Cagers Take Nip-Tucker From Silverton

Silverton — The Mt. Angel Preps took a ding-dong cage battle over Silverton high Tuesday night, 46 to 44. The Willamette Valley league contest was closer than a banker on the trail of a delinquent note and it will not be decided until the last seconds when Norm Wellman came through with a field goal.

The Foxes managed to stay out in front most of the way, holding a 14-11 lead at the quarter, 25-21 at the half and 36-34 at the three-quarter mark.

The preliminary went to Silverton, 53-38.

George Washington has played only two overtime games in history against its 1949-50 opponents, but one was a double and the other a triple overtime.

Oklahoma Plans Notre Dame Grid Series in 1952

Norman, Okla., Jan. 18 (AP)—A football game, thousands would have paid $100 for just an end zone seat last season will be up for decision in 1952.

That's when Notre Dame and Oklahoma, the nation's best teams in 1949, have agreed to inaugurate their home-and-home gridiron series.

The 1952 game will be played at Notre Dame, Nov. 5. The Irish journey here Sept. 26, 1953 to provide the Sooners with their most ambitious opening game in history.

Contracts for the engagements have not been signed but President George L. Cross of Oklahoma said interest in the game had reached such a pitch the two schools decided to make announcements yesterday.

Oklahoma, long a Big Seven power, began a sensational rise to prominence under the guidance of youthful Coach Charles (Bud) Wilkinson.

OCE Wolves Eye First Major Road Trip on Weekend

Oregon College of Education, Monmouth—After gaining an even split with the Southern Oregon casaba crew over the weekend, the Oregon College Wolves embark on their first major road trip of the season when they travel to La Grande for Friday and Saturday night games with the Eastern Oregon College of Education Mountaineers. The games will be Oregon Collegiate Conference affairs.

Monmouth victory hopes rest heavily on the shoulders of Harrell Smith, high-scoring forward who tallied 41 points in the week-end split with SOCE. Smith, who is playing his fourth year of basketball at OCE, is the Wolves' leading point-getter for the season. He has averaged 13 points per game in the 13 contests the Wolves have played. Knox's crew has won 9 games thus far in the season.

Michigan State drew more than 88,000 spectators to 10 home basketball games in 1947-48, but slipped to 82,323 for 13 games in 1948-49.

Hogan-Snead Tie Playoff Slated For Wednesday

Los Angeles, Jan. 18 (AP)—Little Ben Hogan, Mr. Comeback himself, gets a chance for revenge today from Sam Snead.

Top two names in the realm of professional golf, they are booked to tee off to break their tie registered last week in the $15,000 Los Angeles open. The scene: The Riviera Country club, with its 7020 yards of par 35-36—71 challenge.

It was a belated play-off, postponed when rain washed out the original struggle last Wednesday.

VFW Fight Card Postponed Again

The Veterans of Foreign Wars fight program scheduled for the army Wednesday night has been postponed. This is the second time this particular program has been called off on account of weather conditions. It has been tentatively re-scheduled for two weeks hence when the "March of Dimes" will be a beneficiary.
