Army Topped, Navy Loses on Black Wednesday

(By the Associated Press)
 It was a black Wednesday for the Army and Navy in college basketball.

Army was topped from the unbeaten ranks by Pennsylvania, 66-45, while Navy suffered its second defeat of the season at the hands of Columbia, 45-37. Playing on their home courts both the West Pointers and Annapolis Middies had been favored.

Inconsistent Penn, rebounding from its Yale defeat, led Army at halftime, 31-29, then ran wild at the start of the second half to pile up a 53-33 lead. Big Herb Lyon sparked the Quakers with 23 points.

Columbia, bouncing back from its Cornell defeat on Saturday, had a tougher time at Annapolis. Navy led at the half, 20-19, but Columbia went ahead, 31-30, on Sherry Marshall's set shot midway of the second half. From there Columbia went on to a 44-33 lead.

Duck Food Salem Izaak Walton league supplied cold and hungry ducks along the Willamette with 400 pounds of grain scattered Wednesday morning. Passing grain from the boat to Willard Taylor are Rex Sanford, president of the league and Lloyd Reinhold, secretary.

Hogan Comeback Misses Peak as Snead Scores

Los Angeles, Jan. 19 (AP)—The greatest golf comeback of all time didn't quite hit its peak, which is one way of saying that Sam Snead beat out Ben Hogan in the playoff for the Los Angeles open title.

He did it by four strokes, too. But remember back a little. Last February 5, that story from El Paso reported that "Hogan's left ankle, one bone of which was broken, was placed in a cast. . . Physicians plan to apply a cast for a broken pelvis bone. The golf star also fractured a collarbone and rib."

And the item from El Paso March 3 read: "Golfer Ben Hogan was reported in a serious condition today as a result of a blood clot complication. . . . The doctors said Hogan might never walk around 18 holes again, much less play that distance. But he's the same Hogan who shot a 280, four strokes under par, in his comeback to golf over Riviera's tricky, treacherous 18 holes last week. And who finally lost to Slam-in' Snead, the West Virginian, in yesterday's playoff, postponed a week by rain.

Slammin' Sam slightly spoiled the playoff. He went around in 72 strokes, one over par. Bantam Ben, the tiny Texan, took 76 strokes.

It was the same smooth Snead who last year won more than $30,000 as the country's top golfer, replacing Hogan, who banked slightly less the year before.

"I was lousy," said Hogan in the dressing room at Riviera Country club.

"He was terrific," said Snead, who never was behind from the first tee. "He's the same old Hogan. He scares you to death."

Handy Bonnie The five foot, eleven and a half inch captain of the Olson Redheads — Bonnie Buell—does a trick with basketballs for the cameraman to show her skill and warn the Mt. Angel All-Stars about the kind of talent they will face January 22.

Mt. Angel All-Stars to Play Redhead Girls Team

Mt. Angel—The Mt. Angel All-Stars town boys' team will meet the Olson's Red Heads in a basketball game Sunday evening, January 22 at 8 o'clock in the gym on the hilltop.

The Redheads team is an all girl crew from Missouri, touring the nation and playing basketball under the boys' rules, and only with boys' teams. William Bean, chairman of the sports committee, revealed that the proceeds received will be given to the benefit of recreational purposes in Mt. Angel.

A preliminary game will be played by the freshmen and the St. Mary's eighth graders, beginning at 7 p.m. The feature is slated for 8 p.m. Players on the Mt. Angel

Indians Slice Feller's Paycheck by $20,000

New York, Jan. 19 (AP)—The biggest pay cut his bosses could possibly give him—$20,000—left 31-year-old Bobby Feller in a grim mood today, determined "to regain my previous form."

The former boy wonder's fast ball cooled off a lot last season, and so did the enthusiasm of the Cleveland Indians for giving him a huge salary. His 1949 contract for about $70,000 was trimmed to $50,000 for the coming campaign.

pay, but it's a far cry from the $90,000 that Bullet Bobby earned when his "fast one" was mowing down the batters. The Indian bosses, who took over their job this winter by buying out Bill Vecek, actually cut Feller's pay as much as they could. Under baseball law, no salary may be sliced more than 25 percent. Feller's cut was more than that, but the explanation is that his 1949 pay included bonuses—this year the bonuses are out.

Webfoots Travel North For Huskies Hoop Meet

Eugene, Jan. 19—Coach John Warren's Ducks travel to Seattle this week-end to open the annual Northern Division series with the Washington Huskies, currently the hottest basketball team on the Pacific Coast. The Webfoots meet Washington Friday and Saturday night and then the two teams meet again a week later, January 27 and 28, at McArthur Court in Eugene.

The Huskies, dead last in the Northern Division chase last season, have done a brilliant about face and are the surprise leaders in the early part of the 1950 campaign for the league championship.

Washington split a pair of games with Washington State last week-end at Pullman, always a tough thing to accomplish, and will be favored to win over the Webfoots, losers of a single game with Oregon State last Friday.

Skits and Scratches

Firing Duel Booked

When Coach Johnny Lewis leads his Willamette Bearcat cagers onto the College of Idaho gym floor Friday night a first class scoring duel will be in prospect. The jousting will be Ted Loder of Willamette and Lloyd Neville of the Coyotes. Loder has a bit the better record with his 89 points in four games for a 22-plus average, as compared with Neville's 63 in three tilts for an even 21 point average. Neville will have the advantage of playing on his own court. Loder has tossed in 33 field goals as compared with 23 for Neville, the averages being 8-plus and 7-plus, respectively. Loder has committed twice as many fouls as his Idaho rival, 15 to 7. It may be that the ability of other members of the squads to hit with consistency may decide the issue.

WU Players Capable

And speaking of ability to come through in the clutch, Coach Lewis has a number who may be able to take up the slack in case Loder finds too many opponents draped over his frame. Lou Scrivens and Hugh Bellinger have both come through in the clutch while the same may be said of Dick Brouwer and Doug Logue. Brouwer was particularly effective against Linfield but cooled off somewhat in the two Lewis & Clark tilts. He may break out against the Coyotes to decide the issue. Scrivens has a remarkable record in the personal foul department, having been whistled down just a half dozen times in four games. Last year Willamette barely nosed Idaho at Caldwell, 49-46, and then went on a scoring rampage to down the Coyotes here late in the season, 89 to 69.

Sharman May Crack Record

Bill Sharman of USC may establish a new Southern division scoring mark in basketball this season if he continues to score as rapidly as he did in the first four games. The Trojan All-American candidate racked up 90 points for an average of 22.5, which is quite some record. When Hank Luisetti of Stanford set the mark of 232 points for one season in 1938 he averaged 19.3 per session. In addition to doing an excellent job in the field goal department, Sharman is high man from the foul line with his record of 24 of 25 attempts. He hit 18 straight before missing one in the closing minutes of the UCLA game.

Small Schools Threatened

It will be a sad day for the small universities like Willamette if the professional element in the National Collegiate Athletic association gains the ends to which it is striving. That is the firm conviction of Chester "Stack" Stackhouse, athletic director of the Bearcat school, after sitting in during the NCAA sessions in New York City. The "pros" want to provide a free season-long training table, room, laundry and money for "incidental expenses." The latter, unless held down to a strict maximum, could cover a multitude of sins with the sky the limit. The debate over the sanity code was a bitter one, extending over a period of seven hours without success. The argument took on something of the nature of a filibuster which became effective to the extent that a score or more representatives walked out. Had they remained the vote might have been reversed.

More Interest Needed

Coach Stackhouse suggests the small schools can protect themselves by showing greater interest in NCAA politics. Most of the lesser institutions are not flush with athletic money and this may be the reason for many of them remaining at home. It would seem, however, that they should express their views regarding any given situation. Otherwise they may lose out through default. . . . Incidentally, Coach Stackhouse appears to have definitely cast his lot with us since he sold his real estate holdings in Coatesville while in the east.

Bearcats Slate Train Trip for Idaho Clash

Willamette university's Bearcat cagers, headed by Coach Johnny Lewis, expect to board the Portland Rose out of Portland at 10 o'clock Thursday night for their trip to Caldwell, Idaho.

The traveling squad of 16 men, expect to reach Caldwell Friday in time to engage in a work out prior to the first contest with the College of Idaho Coyotes that evening. The second contest is slated for Saturday night.

The party will include Coach Johnny Lewis, Jim Johnson, assistant coach; Prof. Leslie Sparks; Ted Loder, Hugh Bellinger, Doug Logue, Lou Scrivens, Dick Brouwer, Al Fedje, Chuck Robinson, Claude Nordhill, Pete Bryant, Ray Osuna, Jack Evans, George Mattie and Dan Montag.

After playing Whitman at Walla Walla Monday night, the cagers will return to Salem Monday forenoon on the Shasta Daylight.

Vernon Gilmore, athletic director for boys for the Salem public schools, announced today that all junior high games scheduled for Friday had been cancelled.

The cancellation came as a result of closing of the schools as a result of icy weather.
