Serve snap beans with a cheese sauce if you want to give your family extra nutrients. To make it a party dish turn the beans and sauce into a casserole, top with buttered crumbs and brown under the broiler or in the oven.

Honorary Dates Event

Invitations have been received in Salem for the second annual Matrix Table banquet of the Portland Alumnae chapter of Theta Sigma Phi, national honorary professional journalism fraternity.

This year's event will be Saturday, February 4, in the Crystal room of the Benson hotel, dinner to be at 6:30 o'clock.

Agness Underwood, the nation's only woman city editor of a metropolitan daily—the Los Angeles Evening Herald and Express—is to be the guest speaker. Her colorful experiences as an ace reporter were told in her book, Newspaperwoman, published in 1949 by Harper's. She is an associate member of Theta Sigma Phi and in 1949 won the fraternity's headliner award for "distinguished service in the field of journalism."

Featuring the banquet program also will be presentation of Oregon "women of achievement," the five named this year including: Edith Knight (Marlan Miller), newspaper social service; Glenna Kneeland (Kay West), radio; Emma C. McKinney, Hillsboro, publishing; Margaret M. Sharp, education; Nell A. Ungar, library.

Salem Student In Speech Contest

Oregon State College, Corvallis (Special)—A sophomore from Salem, Marvin E. Black was one of two students representing Oregon State college at the State after dinner speakers contest January 18 at Forest Grove. Elingene Johnson of Portland is the other. Black is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Burr Black, 2270 Chemawa road.

Eight colleges and universities of the state took part in the contest, which was sponsored by the Intercollegiate Forensic association of Oregon. The women's division theme was "American Cultural Activities," and the men's topic is "American Busybodies."

Off to Hawaii—Mr. and Mrs. Albert Wiesendanger are among the Salem folk enjoying a trip to Hawaii and are shown here sailing on the Lurline from San Francisco, January 16.

Boots and Spurs

The snow even has its effect on horse riders—ordinarily there are at least 15 or 20 calf ropers on Sunday morning. This week this event tapered down to a small few and fun night had only 18 riders and about nine spectators. Even the annual Posse banquet was affected. Governor Douglas McKay, who had every intention of attending, was in conference with his mid-Willamette valley drainage project committee, but did send a nice telegram offering the Posse his regrets and reasons for not attending. Posseman Ernest Henningsen phoned from San Francisco while the banquet was in progress to find out how everything was—this gave almost every member a chance to visit with Ernie as long as his quarters for the phone held out.

At the meeting after the dinner, Lyle Eyerly, after heading the group for the past ten years, stepped down to become honorary captain, with Holly Jackson taking over as captain for this year. Tom Allen was placed as first lieutenant and secretary; second lieutenant, personnel, Al Inglis; second lieutenant, mounts, Jack Lindeman; drill master, Walter Leth. No members for the board of directors were nominated or voted at this meeting.

Friday's fun night was one of the best held this winter, in that so many new members were present. Among them were Mrs. Durkee, Mrs. Jim Hall, Bob and Marion Chandler, Dick Fortmiller, Barbara Swegart, Charlene Woods, Frances Towle and Bea LeCour. The hot coffee and rolls furnished by Mrs. Brinkley and Marjorie Bastrack were greatly enjoyed by the members after the ride in the arena. This week, Frank Crail and Jerry Rawlins are in charge.

Van Weiders cutting horse arrived Monday evening, Don Hantze made the six thousand mile round trip to Houston, Texas, and also brought back one for himself. After Tuesday's cutting trials the new owners should be well pleased with their purchases.

This past week, Art Waldorf from Kimberly was in the stadium as were Roy Shannon and George Potts, a pair of Old Saddle clubbers and members of the Posse. They both are on ranches in the Jordan valley and to hear them tell it, they never see snow like this at home.

Miss Rathjen Wed Here to Mr. Goody

In a double ring ceremony at the parsonage of St. John's Lutheran church, Miss Norma Jean Rathjen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Rathjen, was wed to Donald Clifford Goody, fireman 1/c, U.S. navy, son of Robert Goody, Sr., of Phoenix, Ariz., and Mrs. Elsie Rhodes of Salem. The service was Sunday, January 15 at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. The Rev. H. W. Gross officiated.

The bride wore a two-piece pink satin gown and navy blue accessories. Her flowers were gardenias and yellow rosebuds. For something old the bride wore a gold cross worn by her great grandmother.

The attendants were Miss Betty Schroeder, who chose a pastel blue crepe dress and Miss Betty Todd in Copenhagen blue taffeta. Their corsages were of pink carnations and white daisies.

Best man was Richard Kidd of Portland.

Mrs. Rathjen wore a black crepe dress and a corsage of gardenias. Mrs. Rhodes wore a navy blue crepe two-piece suit and gardenia corsage.

A reception was given at the home of the bride's parents on Lansing avenue.

Cutting the cake was Miss Betty Schroeder and Miss Marcella Warren served coffee. Miss Betty Todd presided at the punch bowl. The bride's sister, Mrs. Dorothy Patapoff, was in charge of the gift table.

The couple left for Phoenix, Ariz., where they plan to live.

New Safety Pin

(AP Newsfeature)
Atlanta—An engineering professor who teaches wrestling on the side turned inventor and came up with a really "safe" safety pin.

It meets approval of babies, parents, and doctors. When it's open, it's closed.

With the pin, baby can't get stuck when getting his diapers changed. Nor can the mother, or father, stick their finger. Should junior swallow the pin, the doctor can easily retrieve it.

The inventor is Robert N. Miller, Ph. D., Assistant Professor in chemical engineering at Georgia Institute of Technology. He's coach of Tech's wrestling team, and coached the football line several years during the war. He was a football player himself in student days at Ohio State university.

Dr. Miller said he got the idea from Dr. Murdoch Eguen of the Ponce De Leon Infirmary here.

Dr. Miller's first interest was from the father's viewpoint. He had his one-year-old son both got stuck, frequently when wrestling with a diaper change.

Dr. Eguen's interest was from the surgeon's viewpoint. He had invented a magnet for removal of metallic objects from windpipes and stomachs. Open safety pins are not always so easy. The sharp point of the pin will rip tender insides. With the magnet, doctors have removed open pins by pushing them into the stomach, turning them around, and then fishing them up with the point trailing. Sometimes however open pins can't be removed easily, and doctors can only remove them by cutting from the outside.

Dr. Miller said he became interested while talking with Dr. Eguen—at a Tech football game—about the dangers of safety pins.

With some advice from his wife, Dr. Miller went to work. He tuned up with a reverse action safety pin. The sharp point is on the inside of the guard when it's open. You have to pry it apart to use it, like a bobby pin. It fastens just like an ordinary safety pin, but it stays locked.

Dr. Miller said it has met every test but swallowing. But the pin is magnetic so it should pass on that score.
