Students Make Roll of Honor

Among the 31 students at Oregon College of Education at Monmouth making the fall term honor roll lists after completing 15 term hours with grade point averages of 3.5 were Marilyn Gardner and Mary McConnell, both of Salem.

Other students in this group are Clayton Anderson, Ann Blackwell, Mildred DeVos, Eva Fleishman, Gordon Johnson, Peggy Neal, Melvin Peterson, Walter Reid and Mary Savage, all of Monmouth; Gloria Hosteller, Hubbard; Margaret Mills, Independence; Joan Powell, Lebanon and Gale and Herman Johnson, both of Scotts Mills.

The dinner was held at St. Paul's Catholic parish school with Ted Lovelace, of Albany, district supervisor for the Junior Chamber of Commerce, making the presentation of the scroll to Scott. Robert Longfellow, recently named junior first citizen at Albany, presented Scott with the official key.

Nearly 150 turned out for the dinner with both Salem and Albany sending large delegations. In charge of local arrangements were Ronald Wood, Les Barton, Dave Demeter, Harlan Moe and John Longfellow.

Mr. John Walsh gave the invocation with musical numbers offered by the Four Norsemen, Millhouser, Ila Schunk, Deanne Thompson and Gladys Young, all of Monmouth.

Seaplane Rescued—A seaplane owned by the Lamb Sculling barge dropped into the river at Salem Boat House Thursday when something went wrong with the pontoons. The picture shows the plane being taken from the river by a cable. The plane is used in scaling logs in the river. Shown in the picture are Troy McGowan, filer for the bureau, and W. D. Taylor of the boat house.

Stocks Tumble After Early Rise

New York, Jan. 20 (AP)—The stock market started to slide down the price scale this afternoon after a morning climb.

Numerous early gains running to a point or so were trimmed or even eliminated entirely. The net result was a scramble of gains and losses, most of them fractional.

Rails and chemicals made a better showing than most other groups, with a few advances amounting to as much as 2 points.

Turnover hit a rate of around 1,500,000 shares for the full session. Among the gainers were Santa Fe, Chesapeake & Ohio, Du Pont, Union Carbide, General Motors, Montgomery Ward, Goodrich, American Telephone, Pepsi-Cola, Gulf Oil and Lehigh Portland Cement.

Tending to hang back were Bethlehem Steel, J. I. Case, American Smelting and U. S. Gypsum.

Grain Markets Move Nervously

Chicago, Jan. 20 (AP)—Grains moved nervously up and down without getting set on a straight course today. Trading slackened from the fast pace of the last two sessions.

The feed grains were not as strong as wheat in yesterday's market, and today appeared to be making up some of the ground lost in relation to the bread cereal.

Wheat closed  $\frac{1}{2}$  lower to  $\frac{1}{8}$  higher, March  $\$2.15\frac{1}{2}$ - $\$2.30$ , corn was  $\frac{1}{2}$  lower to  $\frac{1}{8}$  higher, March  $\$1.28\frac{1}{2}$ - $\$1.30$ , oats were  $\frac{1}{8}$  lower to  $\frac{1}{4}$  higher, May  $\$1.37\frac{1}{2}$ - $\$1.40$ , soybeans were  $\frac{1}{2}$ - $\$1.34$  lower, March  $\$2.30\frac{1}{2}$ - $\$2.35$ , and lard was unchanged to 10 cents a hundred pounds higher, January  $\$10.65$ .

Dallas Nearing Normal Again After Silver Thaw

Dallas, Ore., Jan. 20—Dallas was nearing normal conditions today after a hectic time during a silver thaw which disrupted power lines, brought down the fifth building since the storm commenced and water into the theater. Power difficulties neared a "major disaster" according to R. G. McFarland, Dallas district manager for the Mt. States Power company.

Power failure between 5 and 8 o'clock Thursday evening caused pumps at the theater to fail with the result that the building was closed with water extending from the stage up to the fifth row of seats.

Sixty street lights were burned out when a primary line tangled with one carrying a lower voltage. The lightning arrester at the main plant blew out while the entire area was spotted with broken lines due to fallen branches and trees.

Linemen worked in the Orchard Nob district until 2 o'clock Friday morning restoring power. Another tree felled a primary circuit near the junior high school. Numerous poles are reported to have been felled and are being replaced as rapidly as possible.

By 100 of 200 foot shed at the Dallas Planning mill collapsed about 6:30 o'clock Friday morning, the fifth such occurrence this week. Snow on the roof of the main building slid off and struck the roof of the smaller building. C. O. Hawkins and John Wick, operators of the mill.

Mickey Rooney Thinks Modern Women Like 'Feminine' Men

Hollywood, Jan. 20 (AP)—Mellowing Mickey Rooney, thrice-married and nearing 30, offers his views on what's wrong with modern women:

"They try to be everything but women." He explained: "They crop off their hair, wear men's clothing and look like a bunch of 'feminine' men." The actor declared that he prefers "the clinging vine type, the womanly woman who knows she is the weaker sex."

"I don't mean the kind who can't do anything for herself. I think everybody should be self-sufficient. It's fine for a woman to be independent in her job. But in social relationships, a guy likes to have his girl lean on him and look to him for support."

"A woman should realize that man is the stronger sex. I'm not talking to ballyhoo the males, because I know they are weaker in a great many respects. But if a woman is smart, she will treat men as the stronger sex."

"After all, the most important thing a woman can do is just to be woman. To be a good wife and mother is a goal worthy of every woman. Too many lose sight of that fact in their struggle for recognition in the world."

Commenting on recent fashions, Rooney added, "women should look like women. I like to see them with hair on their heads and wearing feminine clothes. They are foolish to disguise their assets."

He reported that his wife, Martha Vickers, has definitely given up her film career. "She's going to raise a family," he said.

It may seem hard for some to believe, but the one-time child star will be 30 in September. (His biographies list him as two years younger, but that is one of Hollywood's most common fibs.)

"I'm just a kid," the ebullient actor admitted. "People say you're supposed to act a certain way because you've reached a certain age. But just because I'm 30 doesn't mean I'm going to stop having fun."

"Death-defying" and "stupefying" were some of the words used to describe Burt Lancaster's stunts for "The Hawk and the Arrow." So I dropped out to see for myself.

Two dozen press agents were hovering about the set waiting for Mr. Lancaster to arrive. An hour and a half after the appointed hour, he strolled on the set. He looked peachy in a pair of peach-colored tights and a multi-colored top. He inspected the bars which stood 10 feet above the ground (it will look like 40 feet in the picture).

"Nyah, where's your double?" taunted Onlooker Kirk Douglas. Lancaster smiled indulgently and ascended a ladder to the bars. He twirled himself through the air for the benefit of news cameramen. Then he went through his routine for the movie camera.

The former circus acrobat flipped and spun from bar to bar while studio officials held their breaths. (It is the last scene made for the picture—just in case.) Lancaster fell agilely to the ground amid applause. He smiled and murmured something like "nothing to it."

Linn Rescue Sled Arrives

Lebanon, Jan. 20—A propeller-driven snow sled, first of its kind in the area, arrived at Cascade Airways this week for emergency rescue service throughout the northwest, and duty at Big Lake airport, high in the Cascade mountains.

Owners of the craft are Walter Bowman and Aaron Ingram, who are jointly developing the Big Lake field. It travels over the snow on three large runners, at high speed.

On a test run at Lebanon's airport, it clipped off 50 miles an hour, and Bowman said, "didn't get it out of low gear."

As soon as weather permits the snow sled will be taken to Big Lake near Hoodoo Bowl, and based there. The machine will probably be kept at Santiam lodge, where it will serve emergency needs in that area and will be available for rescue or mercy trips in any northwest section.

Bowman purchased the sled from Vest Aircraft company, which had sunk a large sum in the experiment before deciding it was too expensive for commercial production.

Lacking a name it has been dubbed "Bowgram" using parts of the two owners' names.

Monmouth Fire Guts Residence

Monmouth, Jan. 20—A fire about 11 o'clock Thursday night completely gutted the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Partlow on North College street. Also living in the house were Mr. Partlow's father and several of his brothers.

Everything was lost except for a few items of clothing. The Partlows were renting the home from a woman who lives in McMinnville.

The fire started in a clothes closet off Mr. and Mrs. Partlow's bedroom. Slippery street conditions slowed the fire department in getting to the fire, and there was no chance of saving the building.

Hangar Crashes At Dalles

The Dalles, Ore., Jan. 20 (AP)—The hangar at the Dalles airport on the Washington side of the Columbia river collapsed from the weight of snow on its rounded top during the night and demolished five planes, airport officials reported today.

Three other planes were damaged to undetermined extent, said A. S. Cutting, United Air Lines station manager. Aircraft loss was estimated at $9000 to $10,000.

The laminated wood, arch-type structure without supporting columns was valued at approximately $15,000.

Bob Ewald, airport manager, discovered the mishap while making his rounds at the field this morning. All air traffic has been suspended for a week because of the deep snow on runways.

Ferry service, suspended when the river was iced over, is scheduled to resume at noon today. City officials then will investigate the hangar collapse.

Soil Conservationists Meet Despite Weather

Portland, Jan. 20 (AP)—Hardy Soil Conservation society delegates continued their annual meeting here today, apparently unperturbed by the weather.

In fact, some seemed to enjoy it, apparently concluding it was just what was needed to insure plenty of moisture for the soil next summer.
