

Want Sterling Silver Sinks Or 14-Carat Gold Faucets?

Hillsborough, Calif., Jan. 25 (AP)—Anyone who wants to fix up his house with sterling silver sinks, 14-carat gold water faucets or a marble staircase should get in touch with contractor W. C. Thompson.

Thompson yesterday bought Carolands, the 96-room chateau built in 1915 by Mrs. Harriet Pullman Carolan Schermerhorn, heiress to the Pullman car fortune.

Surrounded by a 26-acre garden, the French-style mansion is considered one of the most luxurious homes in America. It

Mrs. Schermerhorn, then Mrs. Carolan, originally bought 550 acres of ground atop oak-covered knolls in this exclusive San Francisco suburb. She planned to entertain European royalty and other notables attending the Panama-Pacific exposition in San Francisco.

She landscaped the grounds with 30,000 trees of all varieties. Inside the four-story mansion were bathrooms lined with Roman marble, gold fixtures, three-inch-thick carpets requiring 50 men to lift, parquet floors and other such knickknacks that make a house a home.

Farm Timber Owners Profit

Farm woodland owners in the state received an income of $130,636 from the sale of forest products on their lands during the last quarter of 1949. These figures were compiled by Charles H. Ladd, senior farm forester with the state forestry department.

Broken down into terms of forest products, this included would begin razing the mansion in a few months.

4,125,000 board feet of sawlogs, 667 cords of pulpwood, 2,000 pieces of piling, 1,050 posts and miscellaneous materials consisting of Christmas trees, floral products and crude drugs that can be listed only in terms of cash value which has been placed at $10,000.

During this three-month period, services have been extended to 230 woodland owners in the management of 12,210 acres of farm woodlands. In addition, special forestry advice has been extended to 230 farmers through interviews and correspondence, Ladd stated.

One of the very important activities during the period were arrangements made with a Lane county kraft mill wherein the mill agreed to take up to 50 cords of wood per day, providing the timber is cut in accordance with approved forest practice rules.

Enlisted Man Offers Idea to Float 'Mo'

Minneapolis, Jan. 25 (AP)—Dallas Scheidler, a former sailor, thinks the U.S.S. Missouri could be freed from the Chesapeake bay mud flat by employing a method he said he saw used with success in the Pacific during World War II.

Scheidler, who served as a gunner's mate on a minesweeper, said he saw four ships freed that way, including one laden with concrete and stranded on a volcanic island.

"Be sure to tell 'em enlisted men thought up this system," the former sailor concluded.

Some sea slugs are edible, some not.
