AN INFORMED CITIZENRY Town Hall Approach to Community Problems Urged

To bring about an aroused public opinion and secure a full discussion from all segments of the citizenry involved, through such a medium as a town hall type of program, is the answer to secure those things that are for the good of the community, it was emphasized for the Business and Professional Women's club last evening by a panel of speakers from the Toastmasters club.

Ralph Nohlgren, acting as toastmaster, Joseph A. H. Dodd, Ernest Byberg, Fred Pickhard and Edwin McEwen made up the panel, their general topic being "An Informed Citizenry." The panel's subject tied in with the BPW club's program theme, "The Rich Grass Roots of Our Community."

Mr. Dodd briefly outlined the situation in the time of the Puritans and Quakers, pointing out the great development of our country started then because every one knew the problems of the day in the community, and asking: "Do we have such an informed citizenry today?"

Mr. Byberg said today "we have lost the individual interest in participation," adding that in all our marvellous progress we do much criticizing without doing much about it. He said we have taken on the habit of acceptance, and have placed government in the same classification with our industrial development. This "taken for granted" attitude can not apply in government as with business, the citizenry should know what the government is doing, it represents the citizenry — in our type of government the citizenry is the government, it was pointed out.

Mr. Pickhard discussed the basic principles which have made this country great. He urged the citizenry to revitalize the spirit of the town forum, know what we want, then work to accomplish it. He pointed out we have become a nation of

The answers to everyday insurance problems*
By SID BOISE

QUESTION: Some friends of ours had an accident with their car but their insurance company refused to pay their claim on the ground that the application for the policy did not correctly state how the car was to be used. Our friends had never actually signed any application so how could the company refuse to pay?

ANSWER: It isn't necessary for the insured to actually sign the application to become responsible for the statements made therein. His acceptance of the policy when it is issued shows his endorsement of statements made in the application.
