Big Mo Freed-Battleship Missouri floats in Hampton Roads off Norfolk, Va., after being wrenched free from a sand bar where she had hung captive for 15 days. A great cheer, "She's Free"—went up from a thousand sailors as scores of salvage ships and tugs pulled the 45,000-ton battlewagon from her muddy perch. She was towed into Norfolk Navy Yard for repairs after being floated. (Acme Telephoto)

Five processing Deuis

Five processing plants handling Blue Lake type snap beans and attemptive stocks helped send the market surging ahead over a broad front today. Gains of a point or more were scattered liberally through the list and a handful managed to get ahead 2 points or more.

Turnover for the full session was an outstanding strong spot, gaining more than a point at one time. Many traders look for generous dividend action when the board meets next week. Chrysler also added about a point despite the fact that the company is tied up by a strike. A smaller gain was shown by Studebaker.

Competition from foreign countries is making a serious problem for the Oregon growers. There was no importation, during war years, but it has to be contended with now, and last year over 5000 tons was imported.

What the Oregon growers want is either subdizing by the government, as is done with other crops, or an increase in tariff to a protective degree. An mart. Diana Southwick
