

Prelude to Easter—Spring Hat Crop

Gentlemen Prefer Blondes—So says Mr. Fred, presenting a series of ash-blond straws, such as this flippan't sailor with ostrich waterfall fringe.

Haystack—The back-to-nature look in a colot of bamboo and wheat with visor veil, by John Frederics.

Veil Hat—A mere wisp of crocheted lace straw, for cool spring flattery. Others on the same order are made merely of veiling.

Forward or Backward—Lilly Dache proves that a woman may choose her own silhouette this spring. At left is her new forward silhouette in white milan. At right the soaring backward tricone in black baku, giving a winged look.

Best man was the bridegroom's brother, Jim Heizenreter. The bride's mother wore a blue formal gown. The bridegroom's mother wore a beige suit and each wore a gardenia corsage.

Miss Palmer Bride At Recent Rites

Dayton—Miss Olive Palmer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Milton A. Palmer, Dayton, and David Heizenreter, son of Mrs. Clara Heizenreter, of Clackamas, exchanged marriage vows at the home of the bride's parents, on Sunday afternoon, January 29, at 3 o'clock, before 35 members of the families. The single ring service was read by the Rev. S. James Osborne, McMinnville, in the living room, decorated with baskets of huckleberry, cedar and daffodils.

Miss Lois Rockhill, Portland, played the wedding music. Miss Mary Lou Robinson sang.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white slipper satin, fashioned princess style, with net yoke, puff sleeves and a short train. She wore a fingertip veil which fell from a satin cap and white flowers. She wore lace mitts and carried a white Bible and an orchid.

The maid of honor, Miss Wren Palmer, wore a yellow taffeta dress trimmed with white lace ruffles on the skirt. The bridesmaid, Miss Paula Palmer, wore a peach taffeta gown with a net overskirt. The girls are sisters of the bride. Each carried a nosegay made of chrysanthemums, carnations and rosebuds.

Best man was the bridegroom's brother, Jim Heizenreter. The bride's mother wore a blue formal gown. The bridegroom's mother wore a beige suit and each wore a gardenia corsage.

Mrs. Charles Pajola made the wedding cake, which was a three-tiered one, topped with a bridal couple ornament. It was centered on a table covered with a lace cloth. Mrs. Raymond Palmer, sister-in-law of the bride, cut the cake.

Mrs. Clair Palmer, sister-in-law of the bride, served at the punch bowl and Mrs. Fred Radie, also a sister of the bride, presided at the coffee urn.

Miss Lola Palmer had charge of the gifts and Miss Patricia Palmer took charge of the guest book.

For traveling, the bride wore a gray suit with brown accessories and her bridal orchid. After a short wedding trip, the couple will live at Sunnyside in a new home just completed.

The bride is a graduate of the Dayton Union high school, class 1949. She has been employed

Boots and Spurs

Friday's fun night, as sponsored by the Jacksons and Lindemans, was, in spite of the snow, just like the big rodeos. In the first event, Jerry Rawlins drew Candy, that bald faced sorrel mare that has never been ridden—but this time Jerry a smile on his face, pulled his hat down a little farther and as the whistle blew, came out aswingin' and a-scratching. Several times it appeared to the cheering crowd that he had lost his seat and was on his way out but he rode Candy right to the end of the line and as there was no pickup man handy he just unloaded—and still the champ. After a short rest he was back in the saddle again and trying to set a new world's record in stake bending, his nag skidded in turning the last stake and rather than take a rolling fall, he unloaded for the second time. After the stake bending was finished he was declared the winner and rode along with the rest of the winning team to pick up their candy bars.

Mention might as well be made at this time of the wonderful turkey sandwiches that were furnished by Ellen Jackson. All persons present had not one but several.

Sunday morning the calf ropers were furnished a special treat of hot chili and coffee by Mrs. Floyd Pyeatt and Mrs. Laurence DeWitt. With a committee on refreshments appointed, it is quite noticeable the interest that is shown in calf roping. Several members of the Yamhill posse fought the cold and the snow to see the roping Sunday. Captain Barney Cabe brought a carload of visitors as did Lester Leach of Sheridan.

This week Mrs. Ella Durkee, with the assistance of the president, Al Inglis, will put on the program, with the food by Mrs. Durkee and the events in the arena by President Al.

The cow cutting class is enlarging every week. Silver Flex, the little sorrel, finally put his boss, Grant Farris, on the tanbarker's roll of honor, just above Jerry Rawlins name. This past Monday night Esther Ward was hostess to the called drill riders and while the stadium was cold, neither the riders nor the mounts seemed to mind.

This past week the American National Horseshows association appointed Cecil Edwards judge, senior class, and at the same time appointed his wife Gladys,

Pork and Apple Curry
1 pound diced lean pork
2 medium sized tart apples
1/2 cup chopped onions
2 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon curry powder
1/4 teaspoon ground ginger
2 cups bouillon
2 teaspoons lemon juice
1 teaspoon salt
7 or 8 ounces egg noodles

Brown pork cubes in a little hot fat. Wash, pare and finely dice apples. Add with onions to pork and fry until onion is tender. Combine flour, curry powder, and ginger. Add to pork mixture. Remove from heat; stir in bouillon and lemon juice. Season with salt, cover, and simmer 35 minutes. Cook noodles in boiling salted water and serve curried pork on hot noodles.

Pork, Ham Dishes

An easy-to-make version of an exotic dish is pork and apple curry. It's a gourmet's delight and timely, too, since pork is in such good supply at the present time.

South Sea Island Ham
1 Slice ready-to-eat ham, 3/4

Inch thick
1 banana
1/4 cup brown sugar
1/4 cup coconut
3 tablespoons vinegar
2 teaspoons butter or margarine

Line ham in baking dish. Cut banana lengthwise and then in half. Arrange banana sections on top of ham and sprinkle with brown sugar, coconut, vinegar; dot with bits of butter or margarine. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for 20 minutes.
