Gov. Warren To Run Again

Sacramento, Calif., Feb. 2 (AP)—Earl Warren made a bid Monday for an unprecedented third term as governor of California.

Warren, a republican and the party's vice presidential nominee in 1948, announced his reelection campaign in a formal statement. He said he again would seek both republican and democratic nominations, as allowed by California law, in the state's June 6 primary.

His main opponent apparently will be democrat James Roosevelt, oldest son of the late president. Roosevelt already has announced his candidacy.

The California governor's announcement said he would distinguish between social progress and socialism.

"If government is to truly serve the people," he said, "we must continually make social progress. I will shoulder every responsibility to make such progress, but never to advance socialism, to which I am opposed."

His announcement pointed out that he had been governor during the period of California's greatest growth and development. It said some of the state's problems had been solved during his administration, but said he wanted "to complete the work that has been undertaken."

Operetta Scheduled

Lebanon — The popular operetta, "Martha," will be presented by the Lebanon high school vocal music department on the evening of Feb. 16 and 17, Miss Nancy Kirkpatrick, who is directing the production, announced Tuesday. Miss Lovey Burkholder and her art classes are in charge of the stage setting. More than 140 members of the music department are in the cast.

Committee Members to Visit Complaint Districts

Members of Mayor Elfstrom's special transportation committee will make personal visits to districts from which complaints about bus service are coming.

Mal B. Rudd, chairman of the committee, so informed representatives of some of the districts at a public meeting held Wednesday at the Marion hotel.

The committee members all attended the meeting, but were disappointed at the scant attendance on the part of the public, which was represented by only three persons.

"On the basis of this complaints received," Rudd said, "I thought many more would be present."

J. H. Gordon attended as representative of areas east of the city where, he said, there are 800 potential bus riders. He said the district is getting only four bus trips a day now, and should have at least five. Some days there are less than four, he added.

"The people are dissatisfied with present schedules and timing," he said. "We don't want to dictate company policies and we have no complaint about drivers, but we do think the service could be improved."

He explained that he was talking about week-day schedules. "Sunday schedules can be worked out later," he said. The area he represented is bounded in a general way by the east city limits, Four Corners, Silverton road and Turner road east of Lancaster drive.

A protest against recent changes made inside the city limits was made by Dr. A. I. Frantz, a naturopath physician at 990 Broadway. The district he represented centers about Broadway and North High and Broadway and North Liberty. These districts are being bypassed, he said.

An observer at the meeting was Robert E. Covert, who operates the West Salem Bus company, not affiliated with City Transit Lines.

Sees No Cut In Income Taxes

Baltimore, Feb. 2 (AP)—Rep. Joseph W. Martin, Jr. (R-Mass), republican leader of the house, predicted Monday there will be no income tax cuts for many years.

"I make the prediction today," he said in an address for the advertising club of Baltimore, "that that tax reduction will stand for many years as the last income-tax reduction enacted by an American congress."

This sweeping forecast made no reference to the possibility of republicans gaining control of congress in the 1952 presidential election.

Martin took shots at the democrats for high taxes, subversives in government and communist successes in China.

He said he had often wished "that we might somehow harness all the wonderful skills, energy and genius" of the advertising clubs throughout the country in the great battle that is now being waged for solvency and constructive order in federal administration.

He attacked as benefiting no one the "inflation program now clearly mapped out," and said President Truman's prediction of $12,000 average income in the year 2000, didn't calculate what the dollar would then be worth.

Power Plan For California

Washington, Feb. 2 (AP)—The government has plans for turning California's 500-mile long central valley into a giant power plant—as a by-product of flood control and water conservation projects.

The reclamation bureau figures its comprehensive program for this vast alluvial plain would yield 8,100,000,000 kilowatt-hours of electricity a year—enough for 5,182,000 homes.

Whether the bureau's dream ever comes true depends on whether congress decides that it would be worth the high cost. That would be around $2,000,000,000 for the full program, according to present estimates.

And it would take perhaps 50 years for completion.

The reclamation bureau estimates that the central valley's full power potential will be needed long before then. It reports that power requirements are growing so far in the valley and adjoining coastal areas that all the power capacity of presently authorized projects will be needed by 1960.

The primary purpose of the bureau's dam and reservoir program in the mountain-fringed valley is the control of floods and the storage of water for irrigation and domestic and industrial use.

Probe Canadian Wheat Deal

Washington, Feb. 2 (AP)—The senate agriculture committee Monday decided to investigate a transaction whereby Great Britain last year was authorized to buy $175,000,000 worth of Canadian wheat with Marshall Plan dollars.
