

'Gold Dust' Team Would Need $545,000 Payroll

By JOE FALLS
New York, Feb. 9 (AP)—It would cost $545,000 to field baseball's "gold dust" team, composed of the nine highest-priced stars on the diamond today.

An outfield of Ted Williams, Joe DiMaggio and Ralph Kiner alone would draw more than some entire major league teams will receive this year. The estimated figure—$290,000—is unparalleled for any three men in the sport.

The lineup for these diamond nuggets, with approximate salaries, would be:

1B Tommy Herrlich, Yankees $48,000
2B Jackie Robinson, Dodgers 35,000
3B George Kell, Tigers 30,000
SS Lou Boudreau, Indians 25,000
OF Ted Williams, Red Sox 125,000
OF Joe DiMaggio, Yankees 100,000
OF Ralph Kiner, Pirates 65,000
C Birdie Tebbets, Red Sox 25,000
P Hal Newhouser, Tigers 50,000
Totals $545,000

Williams, who signed yesterday, is the highest salaried player in history. At the reported figure, the tall slugger will receive $812 every time he pulls on his bright red and white Boston uniform this season.

DiMaggio's $100,000 salary is the second such pact the great outfielder has signed in two years.

But what if DiMaggio's celebrated heel kicks up or another flycatcher comes down with some ailment? Stan Musial, the St. Louis Cardinals' one-man gang, would be a logical replacement. Stan's salary is $50,000.

Bob Feller ($45,000), Cleveland's once mighty righthander, could supplement Lefty Newhouser on the mound. The relief pitcher would be the Yanks' Joe Page. Fireman Joe hasn't signed as yet, but a $35,000 lure would send the durable left-hander to the bullpen.

Lou Boudreau would be a luxurious economy. The 32-year-old Clevelander could double as manager, since he's directed the Indians since 1942.

A fine team, but it would take a working agreement with Fort Knox to meet its payroll.

Missionaries Take First in Individual Scoring Race

Charles Anderson of the Whittman Missionaries took over first place in the individual scoring race of the Northwest conference season as he came through with a 33 point scoring barrage to bring his total for eight games up to 128 points.

Ed Rooney of Pacific nailed down second place with a total of 127 points while Ted Loder of Willamette skidded to third with 124. However, in the case of Rooney, it should be pointed out his compilation comes as the result of nine contests.

Willamette, now a game and a half in the lead, with Pacific trailing will attempt to defend its margin Friday night at McMinnville in a clash with Linfield. Meantime Lewis & Clark will inaugurate a three game swing across the Cascades.

The Pioneers play Friday and Saturday at College of Idaho and Whitman Monday. The Badgers will meet Whitman at Walla Walla Friday and Saturday and

Snead Favored in Texas Open

San Antonio, Tex., Feb. 9 (AP)—Swollen by the largest brigade of touring professionals in golf history, the Texas Open's 313-man field moved out today in the first 18-hole round of the oldest tournament along the winter trail.

Balding Sam Snead, riding the hottest winning streak in golf at this time, is a heavy choice to drag down first place money of $2,000.

The picture swinger from West Virginia has pocketed $9,558 in five tournaments this year and could finish out of the money here and still be the leader in earnings. But Brother Snead hasn't failed to win something in a tournament in quite a stretch.

Starting at 8 a. m., the seekers of $10,000 in prize money will be due to wind up the opening round about nightfall, playing on two courses.

College of Idaho Monday.
