Labor and Farm Groups Plan Joint Action in Politics

A move has been launched at Salem Labor temple which has the purpose of leading, in the political campaigns of this year, to the endorsement of candidates by organized labor and farm groups.

It started with a preliminary conference Wednesday between labor representatives and two representatives of the Farmers representatives of the Farmers Union. The latter were A. W.
Sheets, organization chairman for the Salem Farmers Union. and Evelyn Saintsbury, state junior leader. The meeting was called by Herbert E. Barker, executive secretary of the Salem Trades and Labor council, and vited representatives from the unions— and all farm groups, including the Farmers Union, the Grange, and the Farm Bureau do not expire in 1950. "The intention," said Van Sweringen Thursday, "is that by election time we will be so organized that we can go down the line together, and a little later we expect to endorse candidates from top to bottom."

He said he believed enough again. Both Lanke and Rogers we expect to endorse candidates from top to bottom."

He said he believed enough economic and political problems are of mutual concern to the farmers and the labor groups to warrant organization. Mark Stevens and June Haver, stars of Twentieth Century-Fox's gay musical in Technicolor now at the Elsinore theatre are shown above doing one of their swift dance routines to the tune of "Come, Josephine in My Flying Machine." A dozen of Fred Fisher's famous songs are featured in the picture which tells the story of his fabulous career on Tin-Pan Alley.

Colorful Protectors—An airy crocheted basket of colorful flowers in shades of blue, yellow rose pink and pastels makes this pretty chair set. Easy to make and fun too, the flowers atay "spring fresh" all year round.
