A Patriotic Holiday Dish

By any standards, the all-American dessert choice is ice cream. Desserts such as the one pictured, all partied up to celebrate Washington's Birthday with little red hatchet cookies and stemmed maraschino cherries around the base, are streamlined as America, too, thanks to the fact that prepackaged ice cream is now a staple item in most groceries and supermarkets. This means that while you're shopping for meat and vegetables, fruit and bakery items, you can pick up two or three pint packages of ice cream in your favorite flavors, tote them home and place them in your refrigerator, and have the fixings for desserts and in-between refreshments for days to come.

Aside from the convenient pint packages, enough to serve four or six depending on how you slice and serve it, is the fact that most dairies are now packing ice cream in easy to handle and easy to store gallon and half-gallon cartons, ideal if you boast a home freezer unit.

George Washington Dessert
2 pints of ice cream

Maraschino cherries with stems.

Hatchet cookies
Place two pints of ice cream together on serving platter to form loaf. Place cherries around loaf. Make 4 cuts in top of ice cream; press cookie hatchets upright in ice cream. Yield: 6 to 8 servings.

Hatchet Cookies
1/2 cup butter or margarine
1/2 cup sugar
1 egg, well beaten
3/4 teaspoon vanilla
2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
1/2 teaspoon baking powder
1/4 teaspoon salt
