

Viking Cagers Score 70-27 Big Six Win Over Bulldogs

It wasn't much of a game for the fans, but the Vikings' 70 to 27 win over Albany's toothless Bulldogs Friday night gave every Salem player a workout along with a pair of breathless whistle tooters.

The lop-sided score goes into the record books as the eighth win for the Salem high aggregation in Big Six league competition. The Viks still have two hurdles to pass in the league in return matches with Springfield and Bend.

Wednesday night the Vikings travel to Corvallis to meet the Rooks in a prelude to the OSC-Vandal game.

Friday night's rout opened with a momentary see-saw point battle initiated by Daleno Dalesky, Albany guard, who put the Bulldogs in front for the only time in the game.

Doug Rogers knotted the count at 4-all, and Layton Gilson put the Vikings in front. After that, it was Salem all the way.

Gilson chalked up six points in the first quarter and three more in the first minute of second quarter play before he missed hitting the bucket.

The score by quarters for the game was 15-10; 35-12; 52-19, and the final, 70-27.

As the score mounted, interest of the thinly spaced fans was held by the hope that the Vik subs would break the 60-point mark. Don McKenzie turned the trick with a shot that put Salem in the lead, 61-22 at that stage of the meeting.

Lawrence Baggett provided the final climax when his counter pushed the tally to 70 for the Salem high team.

Adds to Rout Dick Kleinfelder, Salem guard, is shown as he adds two points to the mounting score for the Vikings in the Albany game Tuesday night. Other Salem players in the photo are Gene Garver, Larry Paulus, Lawrence Baggett and Don McKenzie.

OCE Wolves Pull Loop Game from Fire with 69-67

Monmouth, Feb. 15 (AP)—Oregon College of Education snatched a victory in the last ten seconds last night against Eastern Oregon College of Education, winning 69 to 67 in the Oregon collegiate conference game.

A jump shot by Harrel Smith and a free throw by Jack Bushnell turned the trick.

Earlier, OCE had built up a sizable lead and had posted a 38-30 halftime margin. But the Eastern Oregonians battled back and went ahead on Bob Green's goal for a 66-65 edge. It was too slim and after a free throw each, Smith fired his toss and Bushnell capped it.

Gillmen Rout Vandals With 48-44 Decision

Corvallis, Ore., Feb. 15 (AP)—Oregon State college kept alive its hopes of defending the Pacific coast conference northern division basketball crown last night with a narrow 48-44 win over the Idaho Vandals.

The Beavers jumped out in front on Glenn Kinney's goal and trailed only once, at 6-5. The halftime count favored OSC 23-18 and with two minutes remaining in the game they led 47-37.

Three successive field goals by the Vandals narrowed the final count.

OSC's Jack Orr and the Vandals' Bob Wheeler each counted 10 points.

The victory left Oregon State in third place a half a game behind the University of Washington and a game and a half behind leading Washington State.

Idaho dropped back into a knot with Oregon for the cellar.

The two teams meet again tonight.

Oregon AAU Cage Tourney Pairings Are Announced

McMinnville, Feb. 15 (AP)—Oregon AAU basketball pairings were reported here today with district 8—Linn, Benton and Lincoln counties—getting an extra berth.

The added starter for the three counties in the Feb. 28-29 tourney here was decided on because of the large number of teams in that district. The spot was available since no entries were received from district 11.

The winning team will be sent to the national AAU tourney at Denver.

The draw for opening games February 25:
No. 11 (Linn, Benton, Lincoln No. 2) vs. No. 15 (Portland No. 2).
No. 2 (Southwest Washington) vs. No. 4 (Tillamook, Columbia, Clatsop).
No. 7 (Lane) vs. No. 14 (Morrow, Umatilla, Grant, Union, Baker, Wallowa, Malheur).
No. 5 (Yamhill, Polk) vs. No. 9 (Douglas, Coos).
No. 1 (Portland No. 1) vs. No. 10 (Curry, Josephine, Jackson).
No. 8 (Linn, Benton, Lincoln No. 1) vs. No. 6 (Marion).
No. 16 (Walnut City five, McMinnville—the first team to qualify) vs. No. 12 (Deschutes, Jefferson, Crook, Wheeler).
No. 13 (Hood River, Sherman, Gilliam, Wasco) vs. No. 3 (Clackamas, Washington) No.

Preps Continue To Pace WV Loop In 45-37 Victory

Mt. Angel—The Mt. Angel Preps maintained their leadership of the Willamette Valley casaba league pennant chase Tuesday by turning back the Silverton Foxes, 45 to 37. They can now finish no worse than a tie when league competition is concluded.

The Foxes gave the Preps a battle all the way although Mt. Angel held the edge 24 to 18 at the half.

The Silverton Bees grabbed the preliminary, 37 to 25.

The Preps move over to Estacada Friday night for the last scheduled contest.

Portland U Speeders Mow Down 'Cat Cagers, 81-57

A speedy, clever gang of Portland university Pilots staged a modern St. Valentine's day massacre Tuesday night as they mowed down helpless Willamette 81-57 on the Bearcats' court.

The Pilots' torrid fast breaks and their tricky passing and shooting antics were more than the 'Cats could cope with. Willamette did a good job of keeping up with the pell-mell Pilot pace up and down the floor, but there was one thing in the Bearcats' disfavor—Portland usually had the ball.

Willamette, while utterly confused by the Portland trickery, had a bad night on its own, too. The Bearcats' passes often went awry, and Willamette was also under par in the backboard and shooting departments.

Top trigger-man in the massacre was Jackson Winters, who drilled 25 points into the hoops. Winters' devastating hook shots were unstoppable, and when the big Portland Negro wasn't dunking in tallies himself, he was leading the floor play which set up field goals for his teammates.

Willamette made a go of it for only four minutes. Early baskets by Doug Logue and Lou Scrivens and a free throw by Ted Loder gave the home club a 5-0 lead.

The Pilots then made a six-point landing on two field goals by Winters and another by Leo Grosjaques, the ex-Mt. Angel ace. That shoved the visitors to the fore, 6-5.

Loder canned a 25-footer from near a sideline to give Willamette a momentary 7-6 lead, but Winters followed with a two-pointer just seconds later to renew the Pilots' advantage.

A gifter by Loder tied the count at 8-8. Ray Foleen's ensuing charity toss looked innocent enough at the time, but it later proved to be the starting point in a surging, slashing Portland attack that all but ran Willamette right through the boards.

At the 10-minute mark it was 22-13 and at halftime 42-26. Portland increased its lead, slowly but surely, throughout the second half.

Loder paced the losers' scoring column with 17 points. Chuck Robinson, substitute center, was next with 14.

Kip Is Gloomy On Beaver Grid Outlook for '50

Pendleton, Feb. 15 (AP)—"I don't know how good we're going to be next fall, but I promise we'll do our best," said Oregon State football coach Kip Taylor at an alumni banquet here Monday night.

Taylor moaned the loss of 16 seniors and the return of only four regulars.

"My leadership is gone, we have no replacements. Last years' Rooks were the poorest in 20 years. Oregon Frosh beat us twice. Even Longview Junior college wacked us 28-7."

"But I have the best coaching staff in the nation," said Taylor, brightening up a little, "though it's pretty hard keeping other coaches from taking them away from me."

He promised to repeat the promise he made when he took over the coaching reins last spring—to give the gridlers morale, spirit and physical condition.

Stojack-Dusette Draw, Gang Licks Fur Coated Gus

Frank Stojack and George Dusette wound up Tuesday night's wrestling program at the armory in battling it out to a draw with each contender gaining a fall. Time ran out before they could finish their chores.

The battle royal between "Gus," the bear and an assortment of men produced the top event in the evening's entertainment. The two-legged specimens of contenders managed to gang up on "Gus" and to lay him low but they scrambled for safety after the bear had been counted out.

Rene LaBelle, Leo Wallick were the first to be eliminated in the battle royal after "Gus" had been taken from the scene.

Hopsters Drub Viking Soph '5' By 58-38 Score

Independence—The Independence Hopsters played one of their better games of the season Tuesday night as they downed the Salem Sophs 58 to 38. The game had no league bearing.
