Campus Clippings

By CHARLOTTE ALEXANDER

This week the campus is quite busy again. Sunday started religious evaluation week. Speakers have been leading discussions in the various living groups. Polls were taken several weeks ago to determine those topics of most interest to the students.

Monday evening Sign Kenton appeared with his latest concert styles.

The houses have been very busy constructing booths for the annual WAA carnival, which will be held Friday evening.

A new development concerning 1950's fall rush week is announced. Instead of having a special week set aside for rushing at the beginning of the term, rush week and freshman week will be combined.

Last week-end was a big one. Men had their only chance to inspect Carson hall. The Music school addition, and Villard with the new theater were also open for inspection. Those who didn't care about getting their shoes a little muddy, had the opportunity to look in on the unfinished Memorial Union.

Of course Oregon beating Oregon State can't be overlooked. Clara Lee, Marian Croisan, Shirley Newbery and Jack Slater all came Oregon way to root for the black and orange.

Governor Douglas McKay took a very active part in the dedication ceremonies Saturday. He presented giant-sized gold keys to the director of dormitories, president of Carson hall, dean of the music school, and head of the speech department. Northwest Drama conference drew 400 delegates for their annual conference. Villard hall was full of activity. There were many interesting forums on the types of theaters in the United States. Barret H. Clark, noted theatrical scholar and educator, closed the conference by making an appeal for the continuance of the healthy, vigorous, non-professional theater.

Oregon State Broadcasters also had a full time schedule to meet. Many interesting forums were held with students concerning radio advertising, radio trends and job possibilities. Aside from the conferences the Betas and the Chi Psi gave their house dances. The Betas centered theirs around a circus theme. The Chi Psi chose "Rogues Gallery." Both houses had clever decorations and very original costumes. The Phi Psi entertained their dates at a fireside Saturday evening.

WILLAMINA—Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Lash celebrated their 43rd wedding anniversary, Sunday at their home. The anniversary was the next day. Attending were Mr. and Mrs. Merle Lash and family of Portland, Charley Kirkpatrick, who is visiting here, and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Lash and family. Calling during the day were Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Lash and son, Mr. and Mrs. Chet Lash, and Earl Cash and his two children.

Decorations Feature Ball

Elaborate decorations will be a feature of the annual formal military ball of the Reserve Officers association, Saturday evening at the armory. Wide panels in soft red will hang from the balcony to the floor and on them will be sketches of scenes from different wars—Spanish American War, World War I and World War II. Flags and bunting in patriotic colors and the insignias from the various branches of the service also will decorate the place. There will be a bugler to sound the notes for the bringing in of the colors and their retreat.

All officers of the army, navy, air force, coast guard and the marines are invited to attend, in uniform, and may obtain their tickets at the door.

The ball begins at 9 o'clock, the grand march to be at 10 o'clock, Glenn Woody's orchestra is to play for the dancing.

Among the groups entertaining in conjunction with the ball will be the Salem Women's Army and Navy league, members planning a party at the Marion hotel preceding the dance and during the intermission. The party is for all members of the league and their husbands, and will start at 8 o'clock.

Interior Decorating

.. can be FUN!

By AGNES MEYER

MADE FOR EACH OTHER

Small dining rooms and Maple Drop Leaf tables! If you enjoy the old-fashioned charm of a Provincial dining room, you can achieve it authentically and efficiently with Maple furnishings.

Gone are the prim, stiff dining rooms of yesterday that were just a place to eat . . . with a massive buffet and a huge table that practically filled the room. Our casual living now demands rooms for day-long living, and the furnishings and decoration must be planned accordingly.

Color, first in importance, should be prompted by the prevailing color in the adjoining rooms to give an effect of continuity. Bring this color in by painting a dado half way up the wall as shown above. Wallpaper the upper section in a gay bold pattern, preferably a warm contrasting shade.

For small windows use inside shutters painted, or stained Maple color.

In this setting arrange a Maple Drop Leaf table to save space and leave traffic lanes clear, and Maple Ladder-back or Captain's chairs. Deck a new, smaller version of grandma's Maple Hutch with your precious old silver and hand-painted china, and you have a room to be happy in . . . for sewing, study and gracious dining.

Whatever your room plan is, we have furnishings to fit it. Come in and see us.
