

Buys His Ticket to Cannery Scandals—Cannery Scandals for 1950, promoted by the cannery workers union to raise money for their milk fund benefit to supply needy children in Salem schools, finds a supporter in Mayor R. L. Elfstrom who buys the first ticket from Margaret Sheaffer, publicity chairman.

Draft Plans for Safety Council

More than a score of representatives from Salem civic groups were invited Tuesday to join with city officials at a meeting Friday noon to inaugurate plans for a traffic safety council.

The group of representatives will be urged to suggest names for membership on a traffic safety council. Authorization for such city advisory agency was given at the Salem city council meeting last week which also approved a traffic safety commission plan.

Members of the safety council will be appointed by Mayor R. L. Elfstrom, while the commission will consist of the police chief, city engineer and city manager.

Police Chief Clyde A. Warren issued invitations to representatives from the planning commission, Kiwanis, the four Lions clubs of the Salem area, Rotary, Chamber of Commerce, Junior Chamber of Commerce, public and parochial schools, Exchange club, 20-30 club, the Senior Women's club, the two American Legion posts of Salem and the VFW.

Housing Loans OK'd by Truman

Washington, March 7 (AP)—President Truman today approved loans to housing authorities in 13 northern and western states.

The loans, totaling $1,795,400 will enable these authorities to plan for construction of 6,009 low-rent units.

The facilities are to be built, owned and operated by the local housing authorities for families whose incomes are so low they cannot afford adequate privately-owned housing.

The planning loans authorized today are intended to pay for preliminary surveys, studies in connection with site selection, appraisals, architectural and engineering plans and the compiling of cost estimates.

A partial list of approvals follows, including the communities, the number of units planned and the amount of each loan:

Oregon—Astoria, 115 and $44,500.

Washington—Renton, 100 and $40,000.

Tsaldaris to Lose in Greece

Athens, March 7 (AP)—Returns in Greece's parliamentary elections spurred predictions today that Constantin Tsaldaris' dominant populist (royalist) party would be left out of the Greek government to emerge finally from the balloting.

Late returns from the nation's 146,000 soldiers in Sunday's election gave the conservative populists a narrow lead over the left-of-center national progressive union of Gen. Nicholas Plastiras.

Political experts say King Paul will give the mandate to form a government to the party which gains most parliamentary seats. However, Tsaldaris was viewed as not able to form a lasting government because his strength in parliament could not survive even a tolerant vote of confidence.

Tsaldaris' best chances lay in a coalition with the right wing parties, but these, under Greece's complicated proportional representation system, would add only a score or so seats which would not be enough to cushion the government against opposition attack.

Under such conditions Tsaldaris could either return the mandate or go before the new parliament with a rightist cabinet March 30 and be rejected there by the combined opposition. Then the king would be obliged to give the mandate to the second largest group—Plastiras' party. A new patchwork coalition, 12th since the war's end, would be formed.

Snake River Dams Opposed

Washington, March 7 (AP)—Salmon—whether coming, going or standing still—are endangered by dams, Oregon and Washington fish and wildlife experts told a senate committee yesterday.

Their testimony was before a committee considering a budget recommendation that $250,000 be allowed for planning Ice Harbor dam, but the witnesses made it clear their views held for three other Snake river dams also under consideration.

Donald R. Johnson, of the Oregon fish commission, said approximately 15 per cent of Salmon headed downstream are lost in the pressure of turbine wheels in each big dam.

Fish headed upstream, he said, are delayed two or three days in negotiating Bonneville dam fish ladders. And if this period is multiplied by construction of other barriers, salmon lose interest and won't spawn.

Still a third objection to the new construction, Johnson said, is that pools formed by dams wipe out large areas of spawning grounds.

Fish need running water and gravel beds—not muddy water in pools.

Johnson was joined in his testimony by J. H. Cellars, secretary of the Columbia river salmon and tuna packers, and John M. Hurley, of the Washington department of fisheries.

All contended there is no need at the present time for the navigation waterway which the four dams are intended to provide.

Egg Prices Drop 2 Cents in Markets

Egg prices were cut two cents here Tuesday on all grades, following similar declines in Portland and other markets.

The new prices for eggs as listed here Tuesday included: Buying quotations—35 cents on large AA; 32-35 cents on large A; 33 cents on medium AA; 31 cents on medium A. Wholesale—generally 39 cents on large eggs and 35 cents on mediums.

Other produce remained unchanged here Tuesday, although colored hens and fryers have come up a cent. In the buying list, colored hens are listed at 22-24 cents; the fryers, three pounds weight, 32-34 cents.

Coates to Start Building This Month

Robert T. Coates of Portland, who will build a 36-unit apartment house at 1135 Chemeketa street, says he expects to start construction before the end of this month, probably about March 25.

Coates informed the Capital Journal that he had sold the small residence on the lot, but will have to wait until the family has moved out before tearing down the building can be started.

The Coates project was transferred from North Summer street, and has FHA approval. Its cost will be about $300,000.

Burglar Suspects Held to Grand Jury

Jack Troxell and Albert W. Sturtevant, nabbed on larceny charges in the theft of government bonds from a Kelzer district home, waived preliminary examination Tuesday in district court.

Bail for the two men was set at $2,000 each, and they were ordered held for grand jury action. The pair was implicated in the burglary of the James Collins residence at 940 Evans avenue last month. They claimed to have discarded the bonds near Bend and approximately $1,000 in bonds was recovered there, but Collins claimed his loss was from $1,990 to $2,300.

(Jack Troxell, an employee of the Oregon Pulp and Paper company, asked the Capital Journal to explain that the spelling of his name was different from that of the man under arrest in the larceny case. The individual under arrest is identified as Jack Troxall, not a paper mill employe.)

German Girl Thanks Mayor

Traute Seitz, young German woman who wrote to Mayor Robert L. Elfstrom a few weeks ago asking his aid in possibly locating an American husband, has written him again thanking the mayor for the publicity given her letter and picture.

She writes: "Many letters I got after you published my picture in your newspaper, and I thank you very much.

"One of the men sent me the newspaper, and I felt a little ashamed to see myself in this way. But the many letters I got with nice words, written in friendship and with the serious will to help me, showed me that I had been not misunderstood. And I want to say you my thanks for it.

"I cannot answer all, but I read all letters, and do not feel any more lonely when I see many hearts turned to me. It is not easy to find out the right partner for life, and I will hope I do it.

"I want to say all good American men who will help me, my thanks, but it were too expensive to answer all. So I must say you above all that I thank you. My best regards I send to you."

Her address is Coburg Muehladam 14, Germany, Bavaria, US Zone.

Lew Lehr, 54, Comic, Passes

Brooklyn, Mass., March 7 (AP)—Lew Lehr, 54, who attained fame as a newswreel comedian with his remark that "monkeys is the ewaziest people," died yesterday.

A native of Philadelphia, Lehr made his home in New Canaan, Conn., with his wife, the former Anna Leonhardt.

He was a musical comedy and vaudeville actor for 21 years before entering the movies where he was a commentator for Fox Movietone newsreels.

Lehr made movies of sports events hilarious with his funny comments. Among his funniest satires were "Lew Lehr's Unnatural History," "Magic Carpet," and "Lew Lehr's Dribble Puss parade."

His comedy work was carried on while he held down several executive jobs with Fox Movietone until his retirement several years ago.

Launch Big Battle On Spruce Budworm

The state forestry department prepared today to launch its big battle against the spruce budworm, which threatens to ravage Oregon's forests.

It gave a $232,500 contract to Pennsylvania Salt Manufacturing Co. of Portland to supply 500,000 gallons of DDT spray. The spray will be spread by 27 airplanes late in May and in June.

About 500,000 acres of Oregon forest lands will be sprayed this year.

The pest can be sprayed only when it emerges from winter hibernation.

Flynn Children Subject of Suit

Santa Monica, Calif., March 7 (AP)—A court fight loomed today over custody of the children of Errol Flynn and his ex-wife, Nora Eddington Haymes.

Mrs. Haymes filed suit yesterday for full custody of their two children, Rory, 3, and Deldre, 5. Flynn immediately said he would fight the suit.

Mrs. Haymes, now married to singer Dick Haymes, also asked for an increase in the allowance for the children from $150 to $885 a month.

She was given legal custody of both children in their Nevada divorce a year ago, but Flynn was granted physical custody of Rory. She has had both girls with her since Flynn went to Europe last summer and yesterday stated it would be harmful to separate the girls now.

Flynn, charging he had not been permitted to see the children since his return, said he would demand that Rory be restored to him.

Mrs. Haymes' counsel denied Flynn's charge that he had not seen the children.

Violent Quake in Philippine Islands

Manila, P.I., March 7 (AP)—An earthquake frightened people out of their homes in central Philippines today.

The main shock was felt at 10:07 a.m. (9:07 p.m. Monday night EST). It was described as of intensity four—which gives a sensation something like a heavy truck hitting a building.

No damage was reported and none of consequence was expected by weather bureau seismologists.

But the shock was reported from at least nine larger islands in the Philippines. Northern Mindanao, big southern island, was shaken intermittently for 43 minutes.

Siamese Twins Born With Heads Joined

Sydney, Australia, March 7 (AP)—Dr. John Starr reported today that Siamese twin girls joined at the top of their heads were born to Mrs. Erskine Smith near Burnie, Tasmania, Saturday night.

He said the babies and their mother are doing well but the babies must lie head to head in an extended cot.

Except for the joining of heads, the twins are naturally formed, the doctor said.

$276 Million Needed For Socialized Health

London, March 7 (AP)—The socialized health service needs £ 9 8,73 0,0 0 0 ($276,444,000) more to tide it over until March 31, when the fiscal year ends.

The plea for supplementary funds was made today in a government white paper. This indicated the health service has spent nearly all the £728,000,000 it had when the year began. If it gets the supplement, the year's total cost will be equivalent to over a billion dollars—$1,004,444,000.

The government faces the task of trying to get the supplemental appropriation through a house of commons bristling with opposition.

Bulgaria Completes Trial of Shipkov

London, March 7 (AP)—Bulgaria completed today the trial of Michael Shipkov, former employee of the U. S. legation in Sofia, and four other Bulgarians accused of spying for the United States.

The Sofia radio said tonight the verdict would be handed down tomorrow. Since all were said to have confessed, a verdict of guilty seemed certain.

Shipkov had forewarned that he would be forced to confirm a "confession" he said had been extorted from him by police who ruthlessly broke his will.

RFC Funds for Auto Parking

Locally interest is shown in a study of the automobile parking problem in Seattle, which has revealed that Reconstruction Finance corporation federal money is available for the purpose if conditions are suitable.

William Schulze, writing in the Seattle Post-Intelligencer, says, in part:

"Financing is not holding back construction of adequate off-street automobile parking for downtown Seattle.

"Federal loans from the Reconstruction Finance corporation are available for either municipal or private parking projects, says Charles R. Johnson, manager of Seattle's RFC agency.

"Provision of parking is an 'eligible purpose.'

"We would be glad to consider an application of that sort," says Johnson.

"Project sponsors, public or private, must be able to show reasonable prospects for adequate earnings and repayment of the loans. They must show that the money is not available elsewhere.

"In this connection it is pointed out that as a general rule banks are not interested in long-term loans. Insurance companies sometimes are.

"Some of the other means of financing are municipal revenue bonds which would not add to the tax burden; formation of local improvement districts, or use of parking meter revenues."

William E. Kimsey

Kimsey Files For Re-election

William E. Kimsey, labor commissioner, Tuesday filed for re-election.

Kimsey, republican, is serving his second term as commissioner. Prior to his election to the office he was engaged in commercial printing in Portland.

For many years Kimsey was active in labor circles in the state. He served as president of the State Federation of Labor; was secretary of the Central Labor council in Portland for many years and was also president of the typographical union for a number of terms.

He is married and has three grown children.

Kimsey is the third man to hold the post of labor commissioner since the job was created. O. P. Hoff was appointed by the board of control on June 1, 1903, later being elected and held the office until January 6, 1919.

Hoff was succeeded by C. H. Gram who held the office until January 3, 1943 when Kimsey took over after winning election in November 1942.

Swinnerton Improves

Los Angeles, March 7 (AP)—James Swinnerton, comic strip artist and famed painter of desert landscapes, is reported "doing nicely" after an emergency operation. Attendants at Alvarado hospital did not disclose the nature of the operation yesterday other than that it was a major one.

David M. Kyle, Sr., Dies at Florence

Florence, March 7 (AP)—David M. Kyle, Sr., 64, member of the state fish commission, died at his home here Sunday.

He was named to the commission last April, succeeding Earl Hill who resigned in order to retain his seat in the state senate.

Kyle, who had retired from active business, attended the meeting of the commission here last month.

For many years Kyle had been associated with his father, William Kyle, in the fish packing business on the Siuslaw river.

Survivors include the widow, Lillian; and two sons, Maj. David M. Kyle, Jr., stationed in Germany, and Robert E. Kyle, Florence.
