Stunt Pianist Pleases K & F

He probably horrified and scandalized lovers of the pure classics, but Henry L. Scott, designated as the "world's most versatile concert pianist," provided a field night for admirers of rumbas, tangos, swing and boogie-woogie in the Leslie junior high school auditorium Tuesday night.

Brought here by the Salem Knife and Fork club, Scott thumped the piano with virtually every part of his anatomy but his feet, to the amusement of a capacity audience. On the serious side his rendition of the Second Hungarian Rhapsody by Liszt, Pastoral by Scarlatti and C Sharp Minor Waltz by Chopin, was proof positive that the New Yorker has a repertoire that is not entirely acrobatic.

Among Scott's unusual performances was "Chopin in the Citrus Belt" during which he introduced an orange and a large grapefruit and "Mittens on the Keys." He played a somewhat technical selection while wearing a pair of two fingered mittens.

On the nostalgic side, for many of the oldest at least, was Scott's imitation of an old time mechanical piano player that is somewhat out of order. The audience was augmented by several hundred guests of the Knife and Forkers.

"America needs friends now more than ever before," the pastor said, explaining that 70 percent of the people in the world "go to bed hungry."

He pointed out that "this world of ours has come to a time when men can come together as brothers to figure things out."

Blood Donors Needed Tuesday

Donors are needed to give blood when the mobile unit from the regional blood center comes here next Tuesday, states the Red Cross office.

The unit will be in operation between 1 and 5 p.m. at the First Methodist church. The visit is sponsored by the Willamette university groups this time but the general public is not excluded from being donors. All persons interested in giving blood are asked to call the Red Cross office for appointments.

Only 28 pints were obtained when the unit visited St. Paul, Tuesday, although the figure was rated satisfactory because it was difficult for those in farming areas to leave their work and appear at the unit.

More blood is needed to carry on the program in Marion county, however, and the Red Cross is hopeful at least 100 pints may be obtained at the Tuesday visit in Salem.

Defense

Of atomic power, he said: "Our stockpile of atomic bombs, and our ability to deliver them, affords us an immediate but inconclusive blow of retaliation. Our research and development program, not only in bombs and missiles, but in other weapons and techniques, if properly maintained and supported, should continue to improve the position of the United States and its friends."

Urges Sub Program—Bradley urged that the navy's submarine and anti-submarine program go along "as fast as our research and development facilities will permit," and added:

"I am glad to be able to tell you, from my personal observation, that we are progressing rapidly in this field."

Over a long period of peacetime, he said, the United States "should not expect to match the Soviet Union plane for plane, ship for ship, division for division without lowering its standard of living."

"If it is the desire of the American people to assemble forces that will statistically give the United States a preponderance of military power next year then we shall have to become an armed camp," he declared. Such a source eventually "will be a drain, not only on the economy, but on democracy and its many freedoms," he added.

Bulldozer Accident Fatal to Spokane Man

Vincent I. Tomshaw, 35, of Spokane, a railroad worker for the Spokane, Portland & Seattle company, was crushed to death south of Talbot Tuesday afternoon.

Tomshaw had been working in the Talbot district the last three weeks and was alone at the time of the accident, according to investigation by Lester D. Howell, Marion county coroner. Death was caused by a crushed chest.

At the time of the accident he was operating a bulldozer and crashed into a bridge piling on the Santiam river just south of Talbot. He apparently was filling in dirt on the right of way below the bridge. Leonard Schuk, another railroad worker found him shortly after 1 o'clock and called state police.

Survivors include his widow, Mrs. Clara M. Tomshaw and five children, all in Spokane. The body is at the Howell-Edwards chapel.

Croze to Take Murphy's Job

Alvin J. Crose, 62, chief of the loan division of the state department of veteran affairs, will succeed Claude H. Murphy as real estate commissioner. His appointment was made by Governor Douglas McKay.

Croze came to Salem from Medford in 1928 and served as property manager for the old world war veterans state aid commission. In 1945 he was appointed his present position in the veterans' affairs division.

He is president of the Salem chapter of the international society of residential appraisers and a member of both the Salem and Portland realty boards.

Croze served in the first world war. He is a member of the Masonic fraternity.

Governor McKay said appointment of Crose was in line with his policy of rewarding faithful state service. Crose will assume his new duties in about 10 days.

Tallest Man

Thompson, who traveled with circuses for 13 years, billed as "the tallest man in the world," will practice law in Portland. His office, at 2425 N. Killingsworth street, is also his home, and the furniture and fixings are built to king size so that he has no added problem of furnishing a downtown office.

He practiced law in Iola, Wis., about four years before coming to Portland last August. He got his law degree at Marquette University in Milwaukee, Wis.

Thompson, who wears size 22 shoes and has his suits tailored-made when he can find a tailor who has the perceptiveness, was with the Al G. Barnes and Cole Bros. circuses.

Traveling around, he has had quite a problem in the matter of hotel accommodations. Hotels just don't have nine-foot beds.

"At home I have a special made bed," Thompson said. "When I have to stay in a hotel, I order a room with two beds side by side. I sleep mostly in one bed and stretch out my feet in the other."

How about the matter of feed for a frame that size?
For breakfast Thompson will have a big bowl of oat meal, four eggs, four pieces of toast, three doughnuts and a pot of coffee.

He'll eat a substantial lunch, varying with his desire.

Then for dinner, he'll have a two-pound steak—preferably T-bone or tenderloin. With this will go two baked potatoes, a vegetable of one sort or another, six slices of bread, two pieces of pie and a quart of milk.

After being admitted to practice law in Oregon, Thompson went over to the capitol building, to the office of Secretary of State Earl T. Newbery, and took the necessary steps to become also a notary public.

Then he and Kraemer went out to Court street and got into Thompson's special built car. It's a standard club coupe (Chrysler) but Thompson has had the front seats removed and uses the back seat for the front seat. The seats are cut down and slanted back. A foot or so has been added to the steering wheel. The added room enables Thompson to reach the clutch and brake without difficulty.

And as Kraemer observed as they started the drive back to Portland, "when you're riding in the front seat of this car, you feel like you're riding in the back seat."

Hart Returns To Islands

After half a century in the Philippines, Irving Hart is on his way back to devote, as he says, "the rest of my life" in the interest of deformed children in the islands.

He has been in Salem and Silverton the last few days visiting his only living cousin, Mrs. John Merrifield of Silverton, whom he had not seen since his last visit to the mainland 42 years ago.

Hart went to the islands with the Third U. S. cavalry from New York and during the second world war was a Japanese prisoner, organizing the Philippine "Band of Mercy." He spent the last six months in this country in the interest of this work.

He became interested in the rehabilitation of children many years ago and recently was named commissioner at large for Philippine Boy Scouts. He recently received word that the Philippine Rotary clubs had awarded him a medal of heroism for his work with Boy Scouts and Camp Fire Girls in the leper colony.

Additional awards held by Hart are a medal for his work by the Philippine Women's clubs, a certificate of award by the national Boy Scout office for "meritorious action" and the two highest Camp Fire Girls' awards.

Bares Red Spy

Presenting his first case to the subcommittee today, McCarthy said:

"Let us take the case of Dorothy Kenyon. This lady, according to the latest issue of the official registry of the U.S. government, is on the commission on the status of women, U.S. member on the commissions of the economic and social council, U.S. mission to the United Nations, department of state. Her salary is $12,000 a year.

"This lady has been affiliated with at least 28 communist-front organizations, all of which have been declared subversive by an official government agency. Nine of the 28 have been cited as subversive by the attorney general of the United States."

The hearing before the democratic controlled committee was billed as a showdown on McCarthy's charges.

McCarthy named the Congress of American Women as one of the communist front organizations with which he said Miss Kenyon is affiliated. Then he added:

"As an indication of the far-reaching power and influence of this communist-front organization, the committee might be concerned to know that Mrs. Dean Acheson, the wife of the secretary of state, is listed on page 1023 of appendix 9 of the records of the house committee on un-American activities as a sponsor of its Washington branch.

Purveyors of Treason
"There is no length to which these purveyors of treason will not go to bring into their fold the names of unsuspecting and misguided men and women who are influenced by a glib story of social or economic improvement and thus lend prestige to a sordid and absolute cause."

"Mrs. Acheson appears once on the roster of these subversive organizations and Miss Kenyon more than a score of times."

Tydings touched off a row at the outset by demanding that McCarthy name a high state department official whom McCarthy had accused of shielding disloyal persons.

McCarthy balked, saying he would do so when he gets to that particular case.

Boone Fired

Congressional ire was centered in a house armed services subcommittee which has been hearing repeated testimony that without consulting army, navy and air force medical authorities, Johnson ordered several military hospitals closed in an attempt to save from $25,000,000 to $50,000,000 in operating expenses. Boone was a witness yesterday.

Military headquarters at the Pentagon confirmed that eight days ago, Feb. 28, Boone was told he was being removed from his post as chief of the joint plans and action division of the defense department's office of medical services. The department supplied no reasons.

School 'Swing Club' Sings Folk Songs

"My Bonnie Lies Over the Ocean" rendered in swing fashion with whistle calls from the male members was one of the numbers presented during Wednesday's luncheon of the Salem Rotary club by Salem high's "swing choir." The effect was unusual, to say the least.

The organization of young men and women, part of the large vocal department developed at the senior high school, was directed by Howard Miller. Miller explained that the principal objective of a "swing choir" is the singing of certain folk songs not adapted to larger groups.

The girls sextette sang two numbers they will give during the forthcoming music tournament to be held at Lebanon Saturday.
