

New Crime Series Cleared, Three More Youths Arrested

By DOUGLAS THOMAS

A new series of crimes was cleared and three more youths arrested Tuesday as detectives continued questioning a pair of 18-year-old youths who were arrested for burglary Monday.

The new names added to the list were Melvin K. Maas, 3835 South 21st. Maas was held for auto theft while Carr was held for burglary. The third was a juvenile.

Hershey Comes Two Days Early

For the past two years Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, director of selective service, has paid Oregon's selective service office a visit on March 17.

This week the general is paying the state his annual visit but will miss by two days the March 17 date.

Hershey, currently in San Francisco at a Sixth Army selective service conference is to arrive in the state by train Wednesday morning, stopping in Portland overnight.

Coming by train Gen. Hershey will be accompanied by Maj. Gen. Thomas E. Rilea, Oregon's adjutant general and director of selective service for Oregon. Rilea has been in San Francisco at the selective service conference and also conferring with Sixth Army officials there regarding summer training for Oregon's national guardsmen.

Wednesday night Gen. Hershey is to be honored by Gen. Rilea at a dinner at the Multnomah hotel and a conference, at which will be discussed current selective service policies and problems, is to be held. In attendance will be the military staff of the Oregon selective service office. Deputy director of the Oregon selective service is Col. Francis Mason.

During his stay in Portland Hershey is also to inspect the selective service office there.

Jaycees Hear Dick Schmidt

An explanation of the Hoover commission recommendations for improved veterans administration services was given Tuesday to members of the Salem Junior Chamber of Commerce by Dick Schmidt.

Schmidt pointed out that veterans groups, which had fought for benefits ever since World War I were reluctant to see any change in the VA in the belief that any change might be for the worse.

He explained, however, that proposal of the Hoover commission for reform in the VA did not curtail services. He said the recommendations would generally lead to improved services to veterans and their beneficiaries in hospital and insurance programs.

The Hoover commission recommendations were aimed at

Expert Testimony Fails to Free Alleged Drunk Driver

Expert testimony by a Salem psychiatrist to the effect that a person afflicted with "anxiety reactions" could be mistaken for a drunk was set aside in district court Tuesday when Carl L. Sundland was found guilty of drunk driving.

Dr. Paul Wolfe, neurologist and psychiatrist, was called to the stand to testify in behalf of Sundland, a disabled veteran whose service record was introduced to show he had flown 26 missions over Germany.

The physician testified that Sundland suffered from extreme anxiety as a result of war service, and that he also showed signs of slight mental deterioration as a result of injuries in crashes. Testimony was given to show he had been involved in three crashes.

Dr. Wolfe described various tests given to Sundland to determine his condition and then went on to explain that it would be possible for him to exhibit symptoms usually associated with drunkenness while in a nervous state.

The psychiatrist testified, however, that he had no knowledge of Sundland's condition at the time of his arrest.

Sentence on the case was postponed for 30 days. In presentence questioning, District Judge Joseph B. Felton learned Sund-

Red Cross Fund Campaign Exactly at Half-Way Point

The Red Cross fund campaign has reached exactly the half-way point here, it was announced at the meeting of the Marion county chapter board meeting Monday night. The goal for the drive here is $42,000.

Third report session for campaign workers will be Friday noon at the Senator hotel.

Miss Blanche M. Currie, new chapter manager, was welcomed at the meeting of the board. She has arrived to spend the last two weeks working in the chapter with Miss Susan M. Faherty, manager who resigned, effective March 31. Miss Faherty becomes assistant administrator of the southern Arizona blood center of the Red Cross April 1 at Tucson, and Miss Currie takes over her duties here officially that date.

Much of the Monday board meeting was given over to reports. Wesley E. Stewart, Jr., vice president, presided. James Wiles reported 40 certificates in standard and advances first aid had been issued since January 1.

Navy Post Here Goes to Morey

Orders issued by the chief of naval personnel in Washington, D. C., have designated Lt. Comdr. David N. Morey, Jr., as the inspector-instructor for the Salem Naval Reserve Armory and in charge of naval reserve facilities in this area.

Morey, who has been stationed in Salem since July, 1948, has been assistant inspector-instructor, with Lt. Comdr. John Lindbeck of the Eugene training center, the inspector-instructor for both the Eugene and Salem units.

The orders, issued March 7, following a new navy policy eliminating assistant inspector-instructors and placing an inspector-instructor in charge of designated areas.

Comdr. Morey's area will include all of that area from which reserves are drawn for Salem units, extending east from Salem and west to the coast. He is to have charge of all types of naval reserve activities, including both the volunteers and the organized groups in both the Salem and coastal areas.

2 Offenders to Hear Sentences

Dallas, Ore., March 14—Sentence will be passed upon Willie Earl Walker, 21, of Florida, alias Robert Fox, and John L. Shaver, 19, of Ohio by Circuit Judge Arlie G. Walker Thursday following their plea of guilty to larceny upon information filed by R. S. Kreson district attorney, when they appeared Thursday morning.

The two transient youths were charged with the theft of an automobile belonging to Arnold Dalke last week and were caught by police near Goshen after their speeding automobile had crashed into an embankment and had been fired upon by the pursuing officers.

Both young men admitted to Dallas authorities that they had prowled the Rainbow market here and are also suspected of being involved in several other auto thefts and a Corvallis robbery. They previously had waived indictment by the grand jury.

Salem Cops Slow Quizzing Man in Language of Deaf

Salem detectives were convinced Tuesday they would get writer's cramp before they cleared investigation of a suspect wanted in Willows, Cal., for burglary.

They booked the man as Curtis Randolph Fulmer and held him for court action on the California warrant.

With not a man on the force able to converse in sign language, Fulmer, a deaf mute, could be questioned only by written questions and answers.

He surprised detectives by wagging his finger at the word burglary to indicate he had not committed such a crime, but he readily admitted, in similar fashion, that he might be wanted for a bad check.

Rummage Sale Returns Good

Salem General Hospital auxiliary met Tuesday morning at the home of the president, Mrs. Carl E. Nelson, and reported one of its most successful rummage sales last week-end.

Returns from the sale will go to buying equipment for the hospital. Mrs. Edgar T. Pierce and Mrs. L. V. Benson were co-chairmen for the sale.

Miss Lillian McDonald, superintendent of the hospital, was a guest at the meeting and talked on the hospital and its work.

Mrs. E. M. Page, general chairman for the annual membership drive opening April 1, announced Mrs. Allan Carson, Mrs. Harry N. Crain and Mrs. Linn C. Smith as the co-chairmen for the campaign.

Mrs. Robert Needham is chairman for a permanent card file for the auxiliary.

"...just landed that order, dear—and my bags are packed"

Red-letter days seem brighter—and ordinary days more cheerful—when you chat with the folks over Long Distance. For your voice means so much to loved ones, expresses your personality so well, helps you say so clearly exactly what you mean.

Since rates are so low, you can use Long Distance service often. And you'll be able to say as much in your first three minutes of conversation as in a full letter—if you remember to plan your call in advance.

It's also wise to keep a list of out-of-town numbers. For if you give the operator the number—not just the name and address—your call will speed through three times as fast...often within thirty seconds.

You can call anywhere in the country for $250 or less PLUS TAX (Day station rate for first three minutes)
