

Beautiful Model Also Is Nurse And Finds That Better Career

By BART KINCH

New York, March 15 (AP)—Babies at Columbia Presbyterian Medical Center get a beautiful view of life when they gurgle for attention and lovely Jeanne Olson answers their call. Miss Olson is a nurse at the baby hospital and when not catering to the needs of tomorrow's citizens she is a top-notch fashion model.

Born in Ridgewood, N. J., 22 years ago, Miss Olson started nursing early in life. As a young girl she used to pretend that she was a doctor's wife.

"He was always away on a case and I would take care of his patients until he returned," she explained. "The patients were my dolls."

Jeanne clung to her early ambition and in September, 1948, was graduated from the Englewood Hospital school of nursing. After graduation she joined the staff of Columbia baby hospital.

Her off duty hours were taken up with further medical studies at Columbia University. After finishing her courses, she signed up for a Barbizon modeling course.

"I didn't intend to become a model," she said. "I just took the course to have something interesting to do. I guess I sort of drifted into the modeling field."

The school was so impressed with her beauty and photogenic qualities that they asked her to give up nursing and become a full-time fashion model.

"I told them 'No.' I'm a nurse and I intend to remain active in hospital work," she said. "I told them 'if you want me to do fashion modeling I will, just so long as it doesn't conflict with my duties at the hospital.'"

Jeanne still follows her rule, modeling only when she is off duty from the hospital.

Her life, however, was not always one of success and good fortune. At the age of six she was run down by a truck and suffered paralysis of the face. Doctors were considering the advisability of operating or a wait and watch policy.

The latter course was decided upon "temporarily." It proved successful. The blood clot which caused the paralysis cleared up and muscular co-ordination was restored.

Before becoming a nurse and model, Jeanne taught swimming and diving at the Graydon pool in Ridgewood for two years.

Today she remains an ardent swimming enthusiast, listing it on a par with her other hobbies of modeling and walking.

Jeanne is five feet 6½ inches tall, weighs 109, has dark hair, blue eyes and a captivating smile. Added to that is her innate charm, intelligence and vivacious personality.

Her ambition, incidentally, is to marry and have five children. "I don't particularly care whether they are all boys, all girls or mixed," she said, "just so long as there are at least five of them."

Jury Finds Guay Guilty of Murder

Quebec, March 15 (AP)—A jury found J. A. Guay guilty Tuesday of murdering his wife by planting a time bomb on a plane that killed her and 22 others. He was sentenced to be hanged.

The court set June 23 for Guay's march to the gallows.

The jury returned its verdict 17 minutes after Chief Judge Albert Sevigny delivered the fate of the 32-year-old Quebec jeweler into its hands.

Judge Sevigny had asked the jury to return a verdict of guilty or innocence. The judge was weeping as he concluded his three hours of instructions to the French-speaking jury.

He reviewed the evidence presented by the prosecution, which had said Guay was guilty of a "diabolical" crime in plotting to get rid of his wife to collect on a $10,000 life insurance policy and clear the path for a romance with a pretty young waitress.

Yvette Madsen Is Described As 'Psychopathic Personality'

Frankfurt, Germany, March 15 (AP)—New York City's Bellevue hospital reported after a three-weeks examination in 1943 that Mrs. Yvette Madsen was a "psychopathic personality," according to defense evidence introduced at her murder trial Monday.

Mrs. Madsen is charged with slaying her Air Force husband, Lt. Andrew Madsen of Oakland, Calif. When her trial opened a week ago she pleaded innocent by reason of temporary insanity.

The Bellevue report on Mrs. Madsen was introduced in photographs by Defense Attorney Elmo Gower after the three-man U. S. district court denied Gower's motion for a directed verdict of acquittal.

The report said Mrs. Madsen, 22-year-old Brooklyn beauty, was a patient for three weeks at the Bellevue psychiatric ward from August 24 to September 15, 1943. At that time Mrs. Madsen was 15 years old.

The report said doctors who examined her recommended that Mrs. Madsen be given "institutional care" but that nevertheless she was released. There was no explanation given of her release.

It also said that Mrs. Madsen who was listed in Bellevue records as Jane Teresa Noack, refused to undergo gynecological examinations because "she appeared to be afraid of what a gynecological examination would show."

The report gave no explanation of why she feared an examination and no explanation was offered by her attorney.

The report classified the 15-year-old girl's ailment as "hysterical amnesia." It said she had repeatedly run away from home, was a "skilled prevaricator," and was unable to "recognize authority."

"She is delicate looking, almost frail," the report said of the 15-year-old girl. "She was wearing cheap clothes and make-up and is seemingly dramatic . . . she is anxious, insecure and is unhappy. She appears to yearn for the security of her childhood . . . she is egocentric."

The Bellevue psychiatrists also reported that Mrs. Madsen, as a girl of 15, was hostile to her father, Brooklyn carpenter

Alfred Noack, who flew to Germany to help in her defense at the trial.

On two occasions when Mrs. Madsen was in court, her father was the one who carried her from the court to the three-room suite in the army hospital where she is held under a "suicide guard" of American army WACs.

Mrs. Madsen is accused of shooting her husband in the early morning hours last October 20 after a gay Air Force party at which she was thrown into a violent rage by remarks about her Brooklyn accent.
