Salem will have a height advantage over Jefferson but the Vikings have their work cut out for them in keeping Ron Fundingsland under control.

Jeff joined Corvallis and Marshfield who won last night's openers, in advancing to the second round. The Jefferson-Dallas game was all Ron Fundingsland, the Portland scoring record holder.

The first quarter was close and ended with Jeff in front 11-8, but the Portlanders then began to pull away. The score at the half was 22-15 and the margin in the third quarter—38-23—was even more pronounced.

The game was in contrast to last night's thrillers, each decided by only two points with the winners' margin coming on free throws.

Bus Report

2. A downtown office of the carrier should be made conveniently available to the public for information concerning schedules, routes, charges, etc.

3. Evening and Sunday bus schedule needs should be thoroughly studied and necessary action taken to supply the public needs now being inadequately served.

4. Consideration ought to be given to reduced transportation rates during the middle of the days as a shoppers' service to create patronage. Such action should tend to relieve rush hour congestion and prove profitable to any carrier.

5. Consideration should be given to adopting early morning schedules that will more adequately meet the needs of transportation users employed downtown.

6. Retouting the various schedules throughout the city and the outlying area should emphasize the need of more circuitous runs.

7. No bus runs or schedules should be changeable without approval of municipal authority, either the council or an authorized standing committee.

8. Any public bus system under a franchise from the city council ought to be required to develop improvement between its personnel and the public.

9. If no requirement be made within the terms of a franchise that the carrier adequately serve the populated area adjacent to the city limits, then consideration should be given to prohibiting such system from invading such outlying districts at all, so that some other type of facilities can be created.

The committee believes that any or all of the recommendations would benefit a bus system, so much so that it should not be necessary to make the recommendation, but that the company should initiate them on its own accord.

"However," it concludes, "this committee believes that the many inadequacies of the present carrier... cannot be completely solved under absentee management such as now exists."

providing for continued regulation. Madison Street Discussed — Attached to the report is a detailed statement relative to the Madison street route. It says: "This route at one time made a loop through Lansing avenue, Sunnyside avenue and Fisher road. This was eliminated in the last route change, and a part of Fisher road is served by the present Swegle school operations.

The present Madison street route splits at 24th and Market, making one trip south on 24th to D street; D street to Park avenue; Park avenue to Sunnyside; and then return to the city center. The alternate route proceeds to Market street, to Evergreen; to Sunnyside; to Park street; thence back to Market and then return to city center. It is believed that such route should be extended to Lansing and Sunnyside, and the entire area should have a half hour bus service.

An effective way of developing a 'loop' route and keeping as many right-hand turns as possible, would follow a route to Market, Evergreen, Sunnyside, Jelden avenue, Brenna, Lansing, back to Sunnyside, Childs or Park avenue; thence to Park and on to Market street and then south on Park to D street, west on D street to 24th, north on 24th street to Market and return to town along the regular Madison street route. This schedule would serve about 700 homes within a three block walk of the entire 'loop'."

12th Street Liked — Similar criticism is made of the evening schedule. "Any answer," says the report, "that a better schedule would be unprofitable is ineffective. No public transportation system should be permitted to serve only the profitable areas on profitable schedules and entirely omit such presently marginal areas as are not quite so remunerative.... Improved schedules at such outlying points would undoubtedly tend to prove an increase in the profits of the carrier in due time if properly carried out."

6. Retouting the various schedules throughout the city and the outlying area should emphasize the need of more circuitous runs. "The present 12th street route is relatively good and might be cited as an example. It is suggested, however, that a 15 or 20 minute schedule on that route is believed justified by the patronage.

"Examples of the various routes where better service to the public is demanded," the report says, "are the Capitola bus route, the Mill street schedule, the Madison street route, and all schedules in the suburban areas." It is suggested "that the use of parallel streets on return trips... would bring the carrier to the doorsteps of more of its prospective customers."

7. No bus runs or schedules should be changeable without approval of municipal authority, either the council or an authorized standing committee.

8. Any public bus system under a franchise from the city council ought to be required to develop improvement between its personnel and the public.

9. If no requirement be made within the terms of a franchise that the carrier adequately serve the populated area adjacent to the city limits, then consideration should be given to prohibiting such system from invading such outlying districts at all, so that some other type of facilities can be created.

Aid Promised

In a major foreign policy speech prepared for San Francisco's Commonwealth club, Acheson also: 1. Declared the United States stands ready to trade with China on a fair basis but not to sell the Chinese "goods which may be used to harm us."

Russia Accused 2. Accused Russia of shipping food from China to the Soviet union at a time when 40,000,000 Chinese face possible starvation; also accused Russia of having robbed Manchuria of industrial equipment with $2,000,000,000 worth of productive capacity in 1945.

3. Described the new Soviet $300,000,000 five year program of aid to China as falling far short of "China's real needs and desires."

4. Said the major threat to freedom and progress throughout Asia today is "the attempted penetration of Asia by Soviet-communist imperialism and by the colonialism which it contains."

5. Declared the American people are the real leaders of a "revolution by the common people" and that communism as a "tool of Soviet imperialism" perverts the real democratic revolution.

Explains Plan In discussing American assistance to countries opposing communism, Acheson summed it up this way: "In some situations it will be military assistance. In others, it may be grants or loans, such as the recent one hundred million dollar credit to the republic of the United States of Indonesia. In still other cases, the need may be for technical assistance.

"These are not new principals nor is the application of them to the Far East a new departure. In Japan, Korea, the Philippines, Indonesia, and Thailand, for example, we have been demonstrating our desire to help where such help can strengthen the cause of freedom.

"It has been a great disappointment that the help which we rendered on a massive scale to China did not result in bringing peace and economic recovery to the Chinese people as we had hoped. That does not mean that the attempt to help was wrong, nor does it mean that we should not help others who seek to maintain their freedom and independence. It merely underlines that our help can only reinforce the efforts which others are prepared to make on their own behalf."

Star Route Bids — The post office department is calling for bids for the operation of a number of star mail routes.
