

Strange Show Sen. McCarthy Is Staging in Attack on Loyalties

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, March 16 (AP)—This is a strange show here . . . the hearings on Senator McCarthy's attack on the loyalty of present and former employes of the state department.

No one is predicting how long the hearings will continue. The Wisconsin republican, McCarthy, hasn't finished reading his list of people upon whom he's casting suspicion.

'I Am Not'—Former Judge Dorothy Kenyon is shown as she told the senate foreign relations subcommittee in Washington that "I am not, and never have been" a communist, a fellow traveler, or a sympathizer with any organization she knew to be dominated by communists. Miss Kenyon appeared to answer charges brought by Sen. Joseph McCarthy, who did not attend the session. (Acme Telephoto)

The five members of the foreign relations committee's subcommittee, which is conducting the hearing, are now sort of sitting back, letting McCarthy roll off the names.

Movie lights make the room brilliant. Cameras are busy. Newsmen line both sides of two long tables. Policemen keep traffic moving through the door.

People are continually moving in, standing or finding seats, and leaving. The big room in the senate office building is packed with them. Every chair is taken.

The dark-haired and heavy-browed McCarthy, a former marine, bends his head over his lists and reads on, naming names. Newsmen hurry from their tables to send out bulletins on their wires.

Those news bulletins flash around the country. Other newsmen in other places see the McCarthy charges and if one of the charges lives nearby, he's quickly asked for a statement.

Back across the country flow the denials of the people McCarthy has just named. It's "boring," one says. "Fantastic," says another. "McCarthy is a cowardly liar," says another.

People listed as suspects by McCarthy will be given a chance to answer him in front of the same subcommittee and the lights and cameras.

One of them, Miss Dorothy Kenyon who testified Tuesday and flatly denied McCarthy's charges against her, spoke of the damage to her reputation and wondered whether denials could ever catch up with McCarthy's charges against her.

Senator Hickenlooper of Iowa, a republican colleague of McCarthy, questioned Miss Kenyon and then said he has no doubt about her loyalty.

Whether the other charges, if they come here to state their case, will make out well remains to be seen. But, of course, this isn't a one-way street for McCarthy.

When he undertook to throw suspicion on the loyalty of a number of Americans, he was sticking his neck away out. If he can back up his charges, he's done a public service in uncovering disloyalty.

But if it turns out that he can't back them up, the public memory is long, and, although McCarthy doesn't have to run for re-election until 1952, this situation probably will not be forgotten.

Senator Tydings of Maryland, chairman of the committee, for the first two days of the hearing which began last week, gave McCarthy a rough time, making him stop every minute to explain in detail the charges he was making.

But, beginning Monday, Tydings has remained fairly silent, letting McCarthy rattle off the names and charges.

Linn Passing Peak of Idle

Lebanon — The season of slack employment in the East Linn area is definitely past, Fred W. Worrall, office manager of the local state employment office, said this week. Increased hiring and back to work orders are expected in ever increasing numbers.

By the first of March a large number of logging operators, working at lower elevations, had swung into action as snow disappeared and load restrictions on roads were lifted. While the larger operators have yet to open their camps, it is significant that the number already back at work bodes well for employment in this industry.

With a rising lumber market and favorable weather conditions, employment should be maintained at a relatively high level during the year, Worrall said.

No new commercial or industrial construction permits were issued in Lebanon during the past 30 days and building construction was confined to small dwellings and remodeling jobs.

Retail and wholesale business firms generally experienced a lull but the outlook is for a sharp increase within the next 30 to 60 days.

The labor supply is more than adequate to fill all openings received at the employment office. No labor shortage is anticipated in the foreseeable future, stated Worrall.

Rosalind, 5, Got Her Wish: Baby Sister

New York, March 16 (AP)—Some time ago, five-year-old Rosalind Fisher decided that the new addition expected in her family should be a baby sister. Nothing else would do.

"Boys always like to fight," she explained to her father, William Fisher, a yarn shop proprietor. "Anyway, they always fight with me."

Fisher, who was silently rooting for a boy, told Rosalind that the newborn's sex would be determined by the hospital, which supplies babies.

Rosalind promptly hauled out her stationery, and with help from her father on spelling, wrote:

"Dear hospital: My mother is coming to your hospital to get a baby. Please give her a baby sister, and I will thank you very much. Rosalind Fisher."

Fisher thought that was the end of the matter, and that the letter would never be sent. But Rosalind had other ideas. She found a stamp, and gave the letter to the postman.

From Beth-El hospital in Brooklyn came this reply:

"Dear Rosalind, I spoke to the doctor about your letter. He says he hasn't decided yet whether it is going to be a beautiful baby sister or a wonderful baby brother. The doctor will tell your daddy when your mother comes to the hospital. (Signed) The Hospital."

Early yesterday, Mrs. Fisher gave birth to a seven-pound, 12-ounce girl.

"I knew it all the time," said Rosalind. "I already bought a toy. It's a clown you can stick on a high chair, and I'll give it to her as soon as she comes home and gets old enough to sit."

Ingrid to Fight For Daughter

Hollywood, March 16 (AP)—Ingrid Bergman will go to court to win custody of her 12-year-old daughter Pia and all the cash and property she says Dr. Peter Lindstrom owes her.

The Swedish actress, who left her child, husband, and estate to romance with Roberto Rossellini on the unromantic isle of Stromboli, filed suit late yesterday to get back everything but her husband.

She divorced Lindstrom in Mexico last February 9, a week after presenting her Italian lover with a son.

Miss Bergman asked a superior court to grant her custody of her child by Lindstrom and make him cough up $154,000 she says he's holding out on her.

She also requested division of their community property and an accounting of all cash, personal and real property she said Lindstrom is holding with the Bank of America and 10 other "John and Richard Does."

The suit is one of the few public acts the statuesque glamour girl has made since she renounced Hollywood for the charms of Roberto. The two lovers are now in Rome awaiting for Swedish authorities to okay her Mexican divorce.

Los Angeles, March 16 (AP)—Mexican mail order divorces, like the one Ingrid Bergman got from Dr. Peter Lindstrom, have been ruled void in California.

Federal Judge Jacob A. Weinberger handed down the decision yesterday in denying a suit by Mrs. Kathleen Hiddenga, Seal Beach, Calif., to collect a $5,000 government life insurance policy carried by Navy Officer Bouwe Hiddenga, whom she married after getting a Mexican divorce.

The judge held that the court at Chihuahua, Mex., lacked jurisdiction to dissolve the previous marriage because neither party was physically present in court. He added the divorces were "contrary to public policy."

N. Y. to Honor St. Patrick
New York, March 16 (AP)—Fifth avenue will be about as green as a meadow in June tomorrow when the colors of the Irish are strung out in the annual St. Patrick's Day parade.

A million New Yorkers are expected to turn out to watch the five-hour pageant, which begins at noon at 44th street and moves northward along Fifth avenue to 96th street.

John J. Sheahan, chairman of the committee on arrangements, predicted the "greatest parade ever." He said more than 100,000 persons will take part, compared to 95,000 last year.

There'll be 65 marching battalions, including numerous costumed Irish societies, and 200 bands.

Grand marshal of the affair is Police Commissioner William P. O'Brien. He will march behind a contingent of the 69th "Fighting Irish" national guard division.

Case Dismissed—A Luray, Va., police court justice has dismissed a murder charge against Mrs. Barbara Parks (center) in the pistol-slating of her ex-army officer husband, Robert Franklin Parks, a survivor of the Bataan death march. ## Pretty Redhead No Murderess Luray, Va., March 16 (AP)—A pretty young redhead was free today of charges that she murdered her partially crippled, ex-prisoner of war husband.

The state dropped charges against Mrs. Barbara Parks, 26, after hearing lengthy testimony that 39-year-old Robert Parks was shot accidentally.

"I think it was very fair," Mrs. Parks sobbed after the decision. "I thank them very much."

Parks, a former army captain who survived the Bataan death march and four years in Japanese prison camps, was found dead in the bedroom of his home in the Shenandoah valley on Feb. 17. He was naked, his body was covered by a sheet and a .32 caliber pistol slug was imbedded in his chest.

Trial Justice John H. Booton dismissed the charge with the statement: "I am satisfied that there isn't an unprejudiced person in this courtroom who doesn't believe the shooting happened accidentally."

Experts testified that Parks accidentally inflicted death upon himself when he threw the pistol to the floor. The gun hit the floor, the experts said, fired accidentally and killed him. He already had shot five times into the floor.

Delake Monster Faces Cremation

Delake, Ore., March 16 (AP)—Delake's unclassified "sea monster" will be disposed of later this week if a combination of oil, gasoline, and old tires can feed a fire hot enough to boil down the remains. Randolph Allum, operator of the "Tourist Cafe" here, said today.

"We tried to burn up a chunk of 'Jughead' the other day with a gallon of gasoline and five of six gallons of oil," Allum said, "but the flesh just curled up."

County Commissioner Jack Patterson said he had seen all kinds of sea life, including remnants of whales, but the Delake "monster" was something new to him. "I'd say it was a member of the jellyfish or squid group," he guessed.

Delakers debunked the results of a chemical analysis of "Jughead" made shortly after it was washed ashore. They said an incomplete test was performed by an Oregon state game commissioner when he said the "monster" was whale blubber.

Residents said seagulls refused to touch "Jughead," even when pieces were cut off and spread out on the sand. Delakers said the aroma of their castaway is not too strong yet, but they want to dispose of the prize before warm spring weather arrives.

Strange Project Spotted in Korea
Seoul, March 16 (AP)—Communist North Korean border guards are using some strange projector to send propaganda handbills into the South Korean republic, the United Nations Korean commission said today.

A commission party returned from a two-day visit to Kangnung at the eastern end of the 38th parallel which divides the republic south from the communist north.

Commission Chairman Kasim Gulek of Turkey told a news conference that a battalion commander described the use of a projector of unknown type to scatter handbills from the red side of the line.

Both sides use loudspeakers to bombard the other with propaganda.

The Kangnung trip was the fourth taken by the U.N. group to study conditions in South Korea. U.N. representatives have been refused admission to the north, first by the Russians and since by the North Korean regime.

The commission has asked U.N. headquarters at Lake Success to send eight trained observers to help keep it informed on any threat to peace in Korea.

Housework Easy Without Nagging Backache
As we get older, stress and strain, over-exercising, excessive smoking or exposure to cold sometimes slows down kidney function. This may lead many folks to complain of nagging backache, loss of pep and energy, headaches and dizziness.
